THE PRODUCERS

The function of a producer in any motion picture is to exercise control over the production. He begins with an idea or the acquisition of a promising property and is responsible for guiding the development of the property into a successful motion picture. The producer's job begins long before the start of the production and does not end until long after the film is "in the can."

As the responsibility of the producer is to guide the development of a successful motion picture, so has our development been the result of the guidance of our parents. Working behind the scenes, they have begun the task of developing us into successful adults, a job which will continue long after our release from high school. For their constant support and guidance throughout our high school careers, we wish to acknowledge the producers, OUR PARENTS, and thank them for making this production possible.

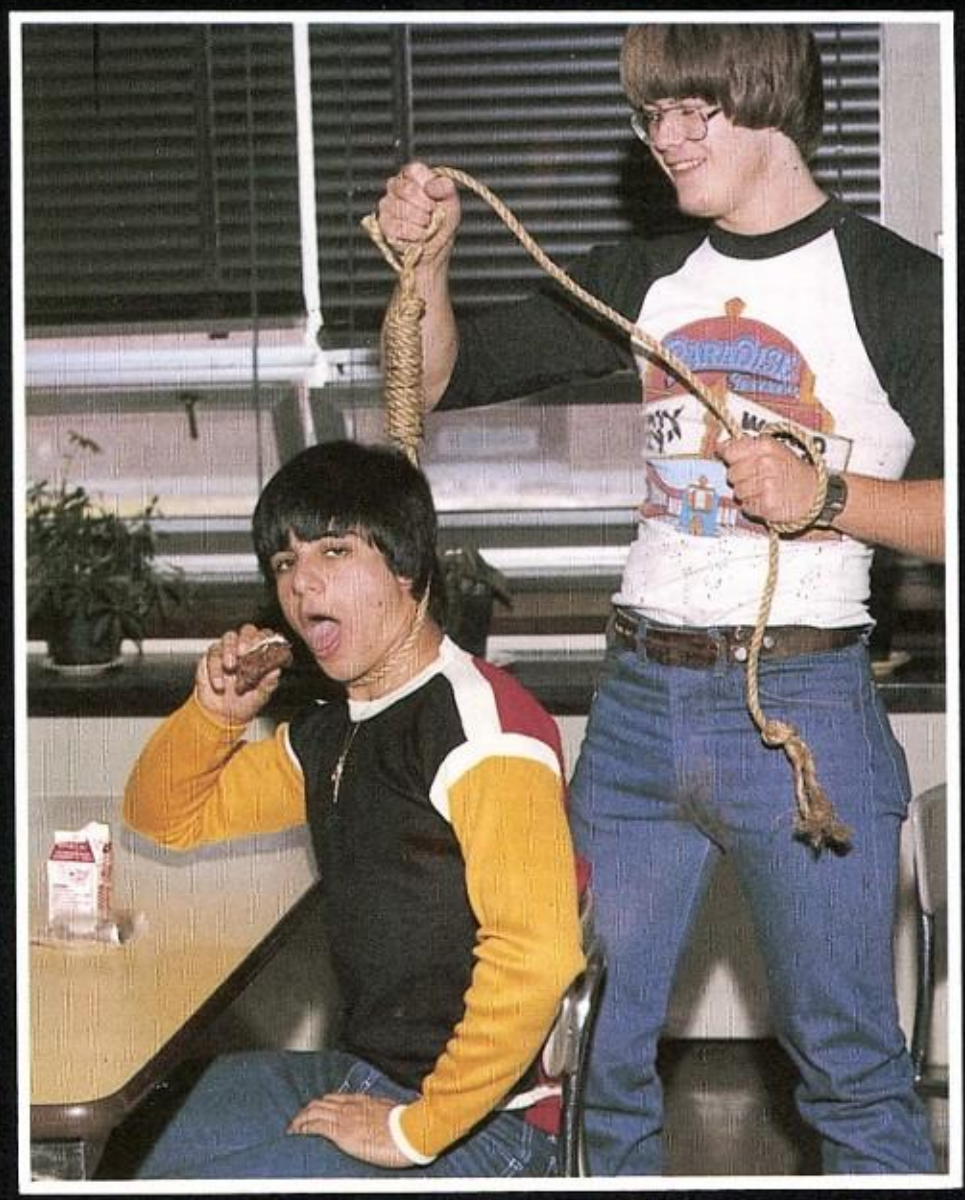
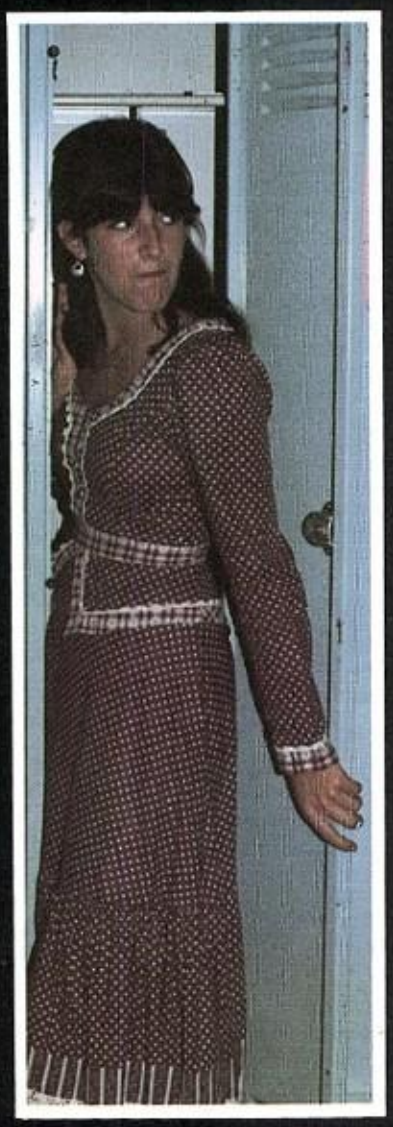
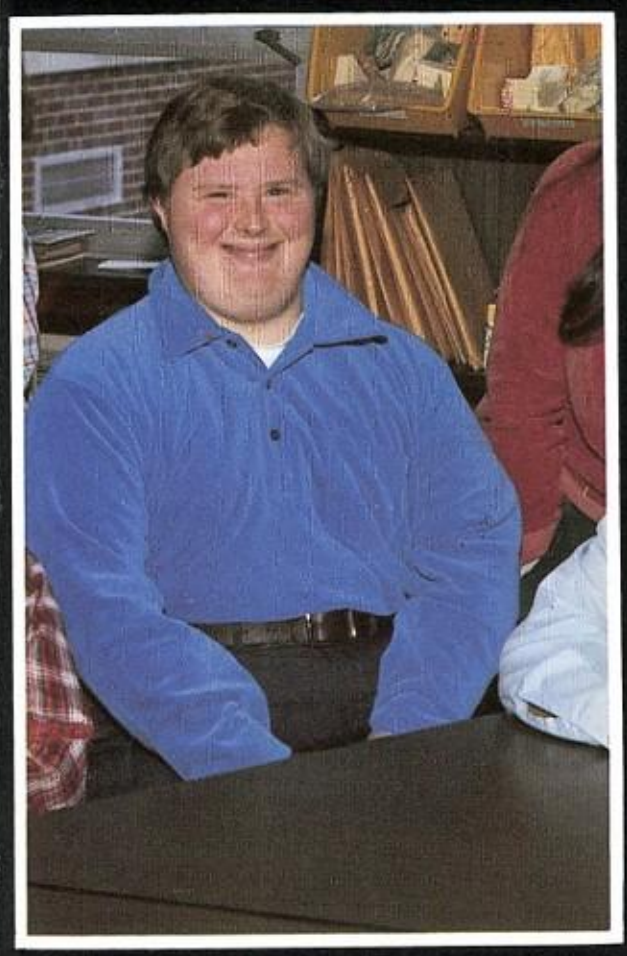
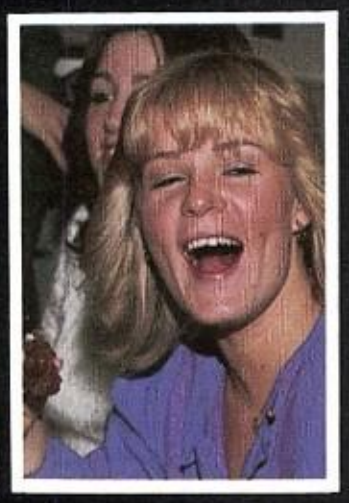
IN PICTURES

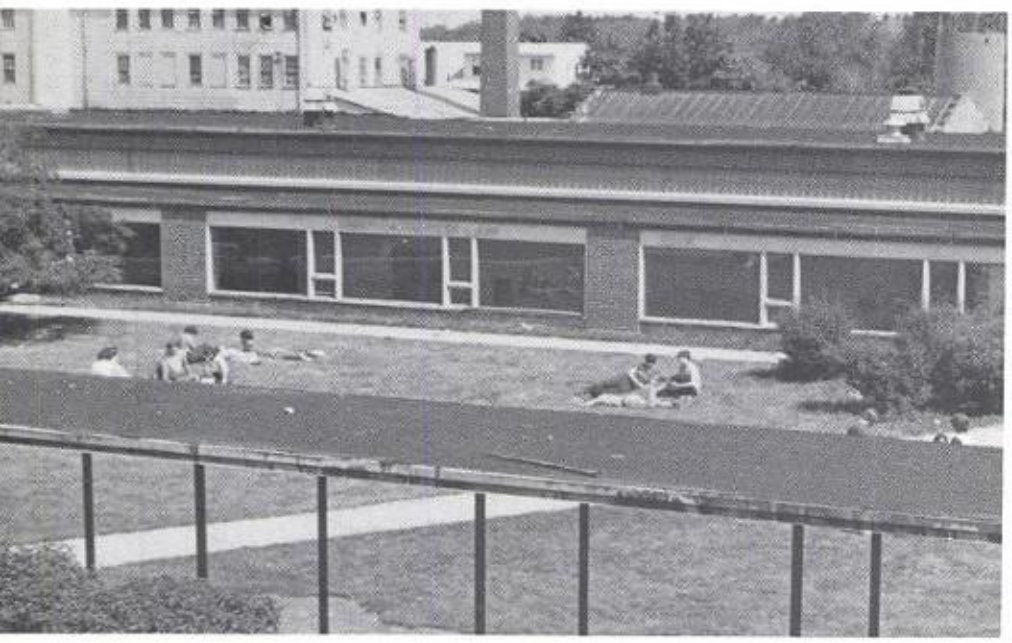


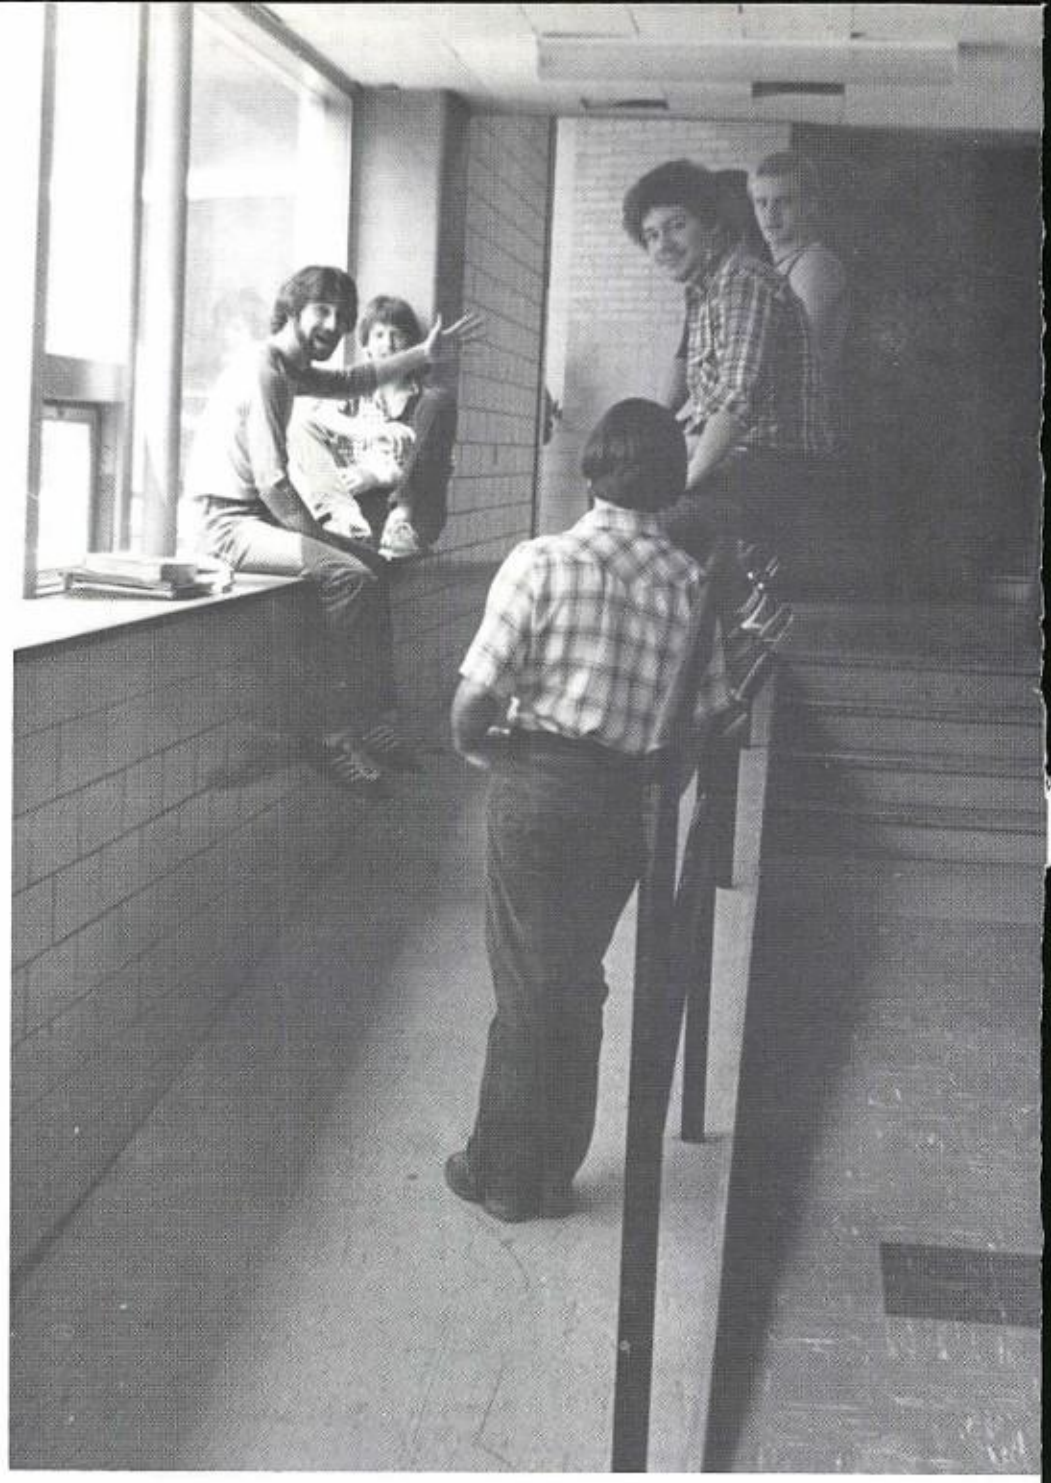


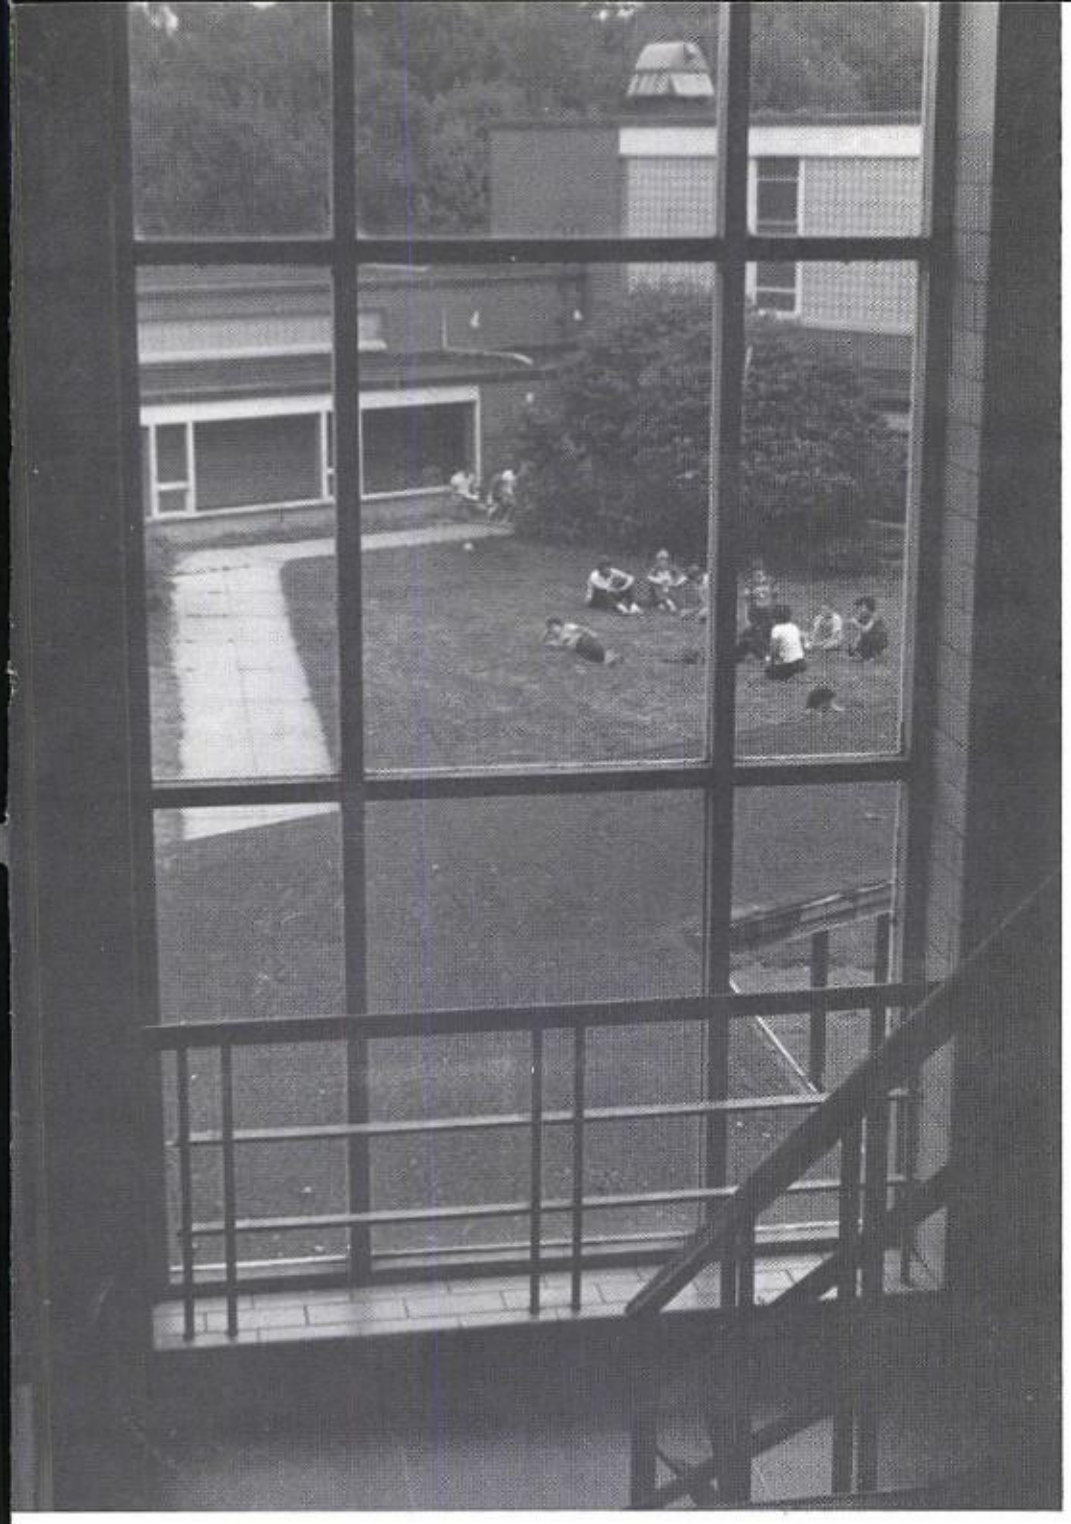


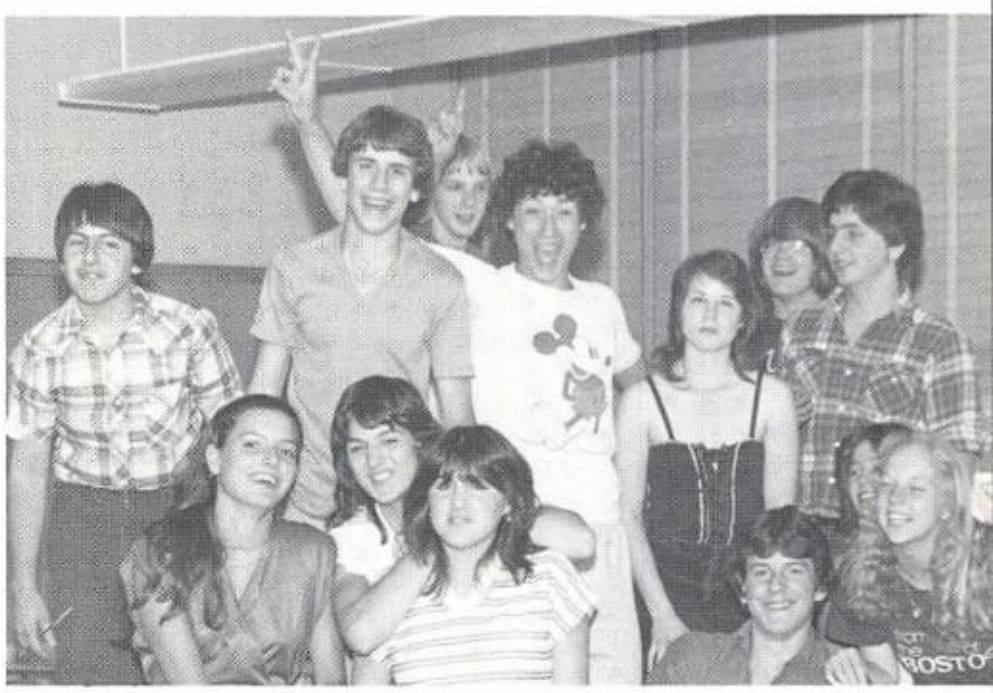


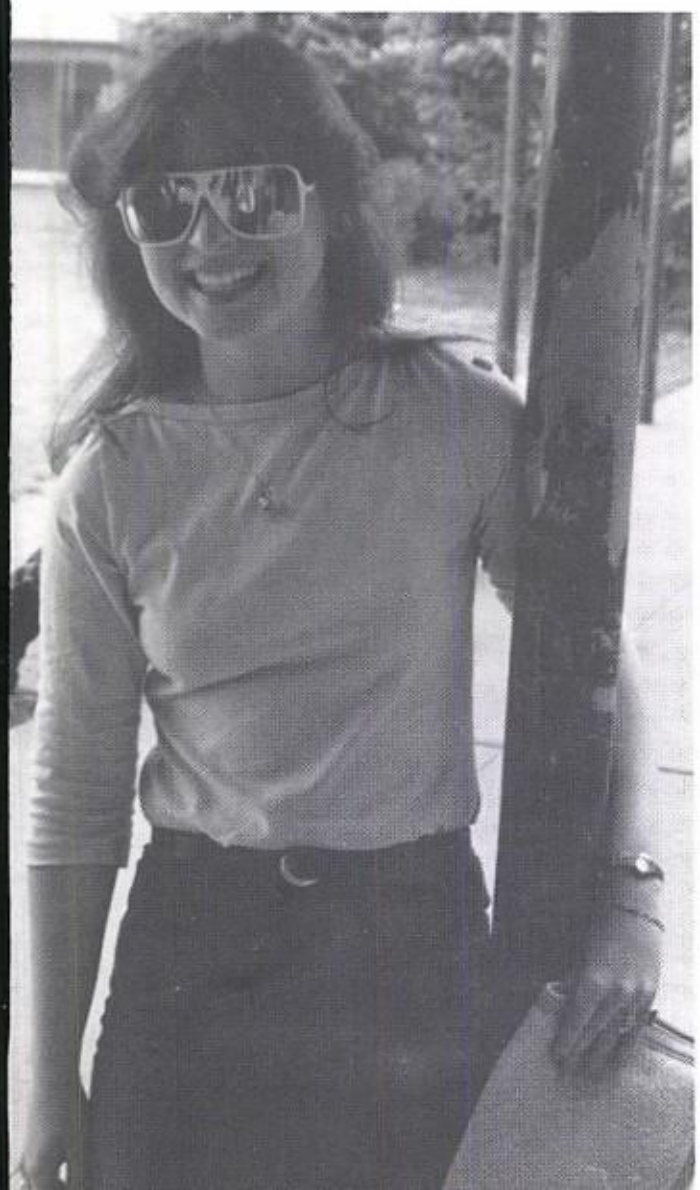
A CHANGE . . .











Upon returning to school in the fall for the final year of production, the seniors found that the setting they were accustomed to was completely altered. For two years, the seniors could imagine nothing more than the casual and nonchalant atmosphere of the old High School.

The old High School provided much to the seniors. There were the little walls and corners that yielded perfect meeting places for groups of friends. There was the cozy little library in which someone like Hope Misail could curl up with a good book and lose track of reality. And there was the modest courtyard where students could graze during studies or between classes.

Seniors would never again break bread in the minute cafeteria amongst friends, or complain that the cubicles that some referred to as "lockers" did not lock and were almost impossible to live with.

Maybe the fact that there were convenient exits into the outside world, hither and thither, was what some people liked best, not to mention the fact that almost every main business in Stoneham was within walking distance and only minutes away.

Yet, somehow in the final year these elements were nothing more than memories. The "countryclub" atmosphere of the old High School was gone forever, replaced by a "penitentiary" atmosphere of the new High School.

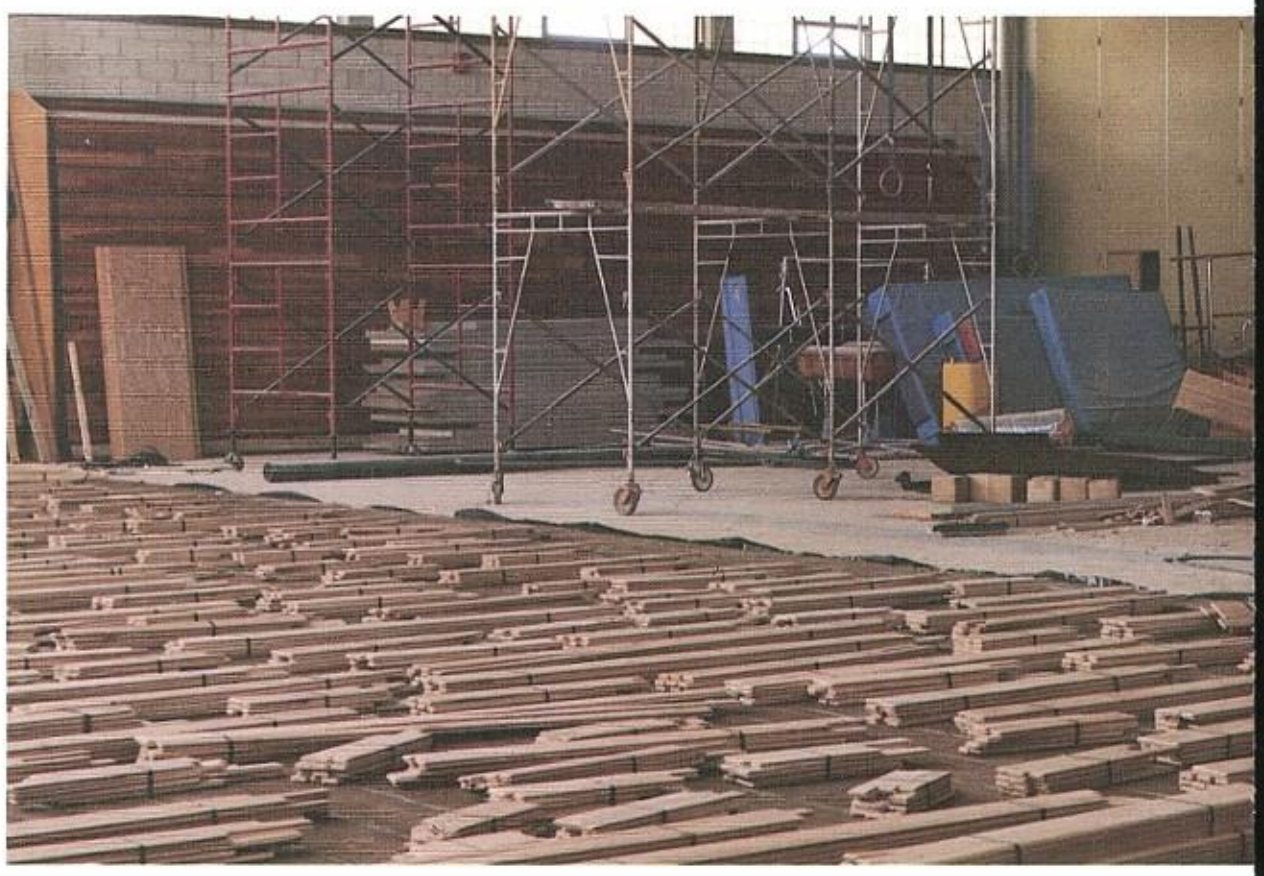
. . . OF SCENERY

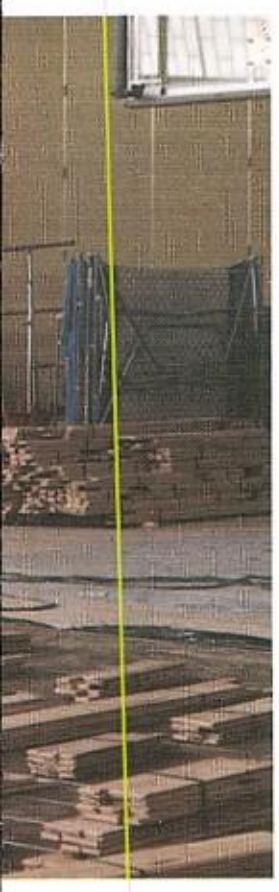
A concrete square with crowded hallways, the new high school was a place swarming with construction workers (busy at work on the "new wing") and pervaded by the odors of paint and turpentine. The classrooms were large and roomy, and the new library was so big, students had their choice between a quiet side and a noisy side!

Bushes were planted in a geometric pattern and turf was unrolled like green carpeting in the new courtyard, which is beautiful but less accessible than the one at the old school. And, to quench the students' thirst, vending machines that offered natural fruit drink (high in vitamin C and no artificial colors or carbon added) were installed in the cafeteria.

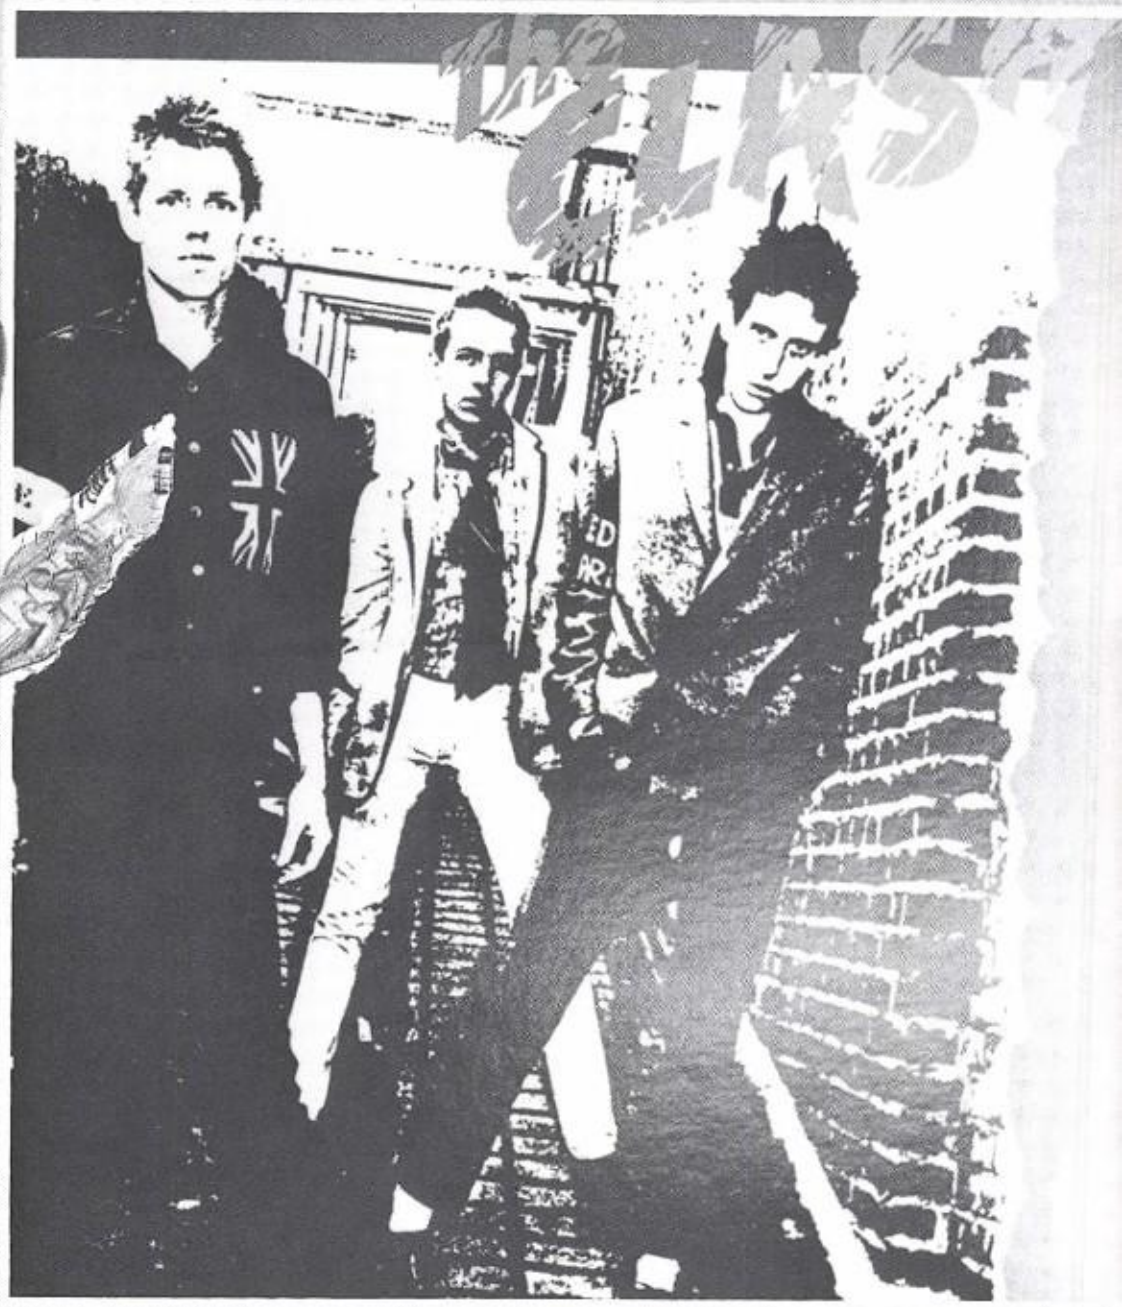
Discipline was tighter during our senior year; attendance was taken during all study periods, seventh period privileges were done away with, and therefore the administration was able to monitor the whereabouts of every student at every minute of the day.

Many members of the class appreciated the expansive faculities offered, but for a few, the symmetrical brick building at the end of the long driveway represented an unpleasantly drastic change in scenery.





SOUNDTRACK



A soundtrack of our high school years would be impossible to compile, for popular music of 1982 was a strange mixture of hard rock, mellow music, and new wave. Popular music was at a turning point during our senior year, a period unmarked by any single dominant artist but rather filled with the music of has-beens and hopefuls. Pat Benetar was about to replace Linda Ronstadt as the quintessential female rock singer, while artists such as Elvis Costello and Blondie were on the verge of eclipsing such rock and roll royalty as Bob Seger and the Eagles.

Therefore, the music blaring from our stereo speakers and tape decks was an electric blending of sound, and the artists we listened to were as varied as the artists shown on these pages.

THE FINE ART OF LEARNING

The arts are omnipresent at Stoneham High. Many students are involved in either the visual arts, such as painting and ceramics, or the musical curriculum, which offers a wide selection of vocal and instrumental courses. Shown here are Department Head Frank Abrahams (standing before an original work of art by alumni Ralph Difronzo), members of the Spartan Chorale warming up at an early-morning rehearsal, and flute virtuoso Elena Reis.

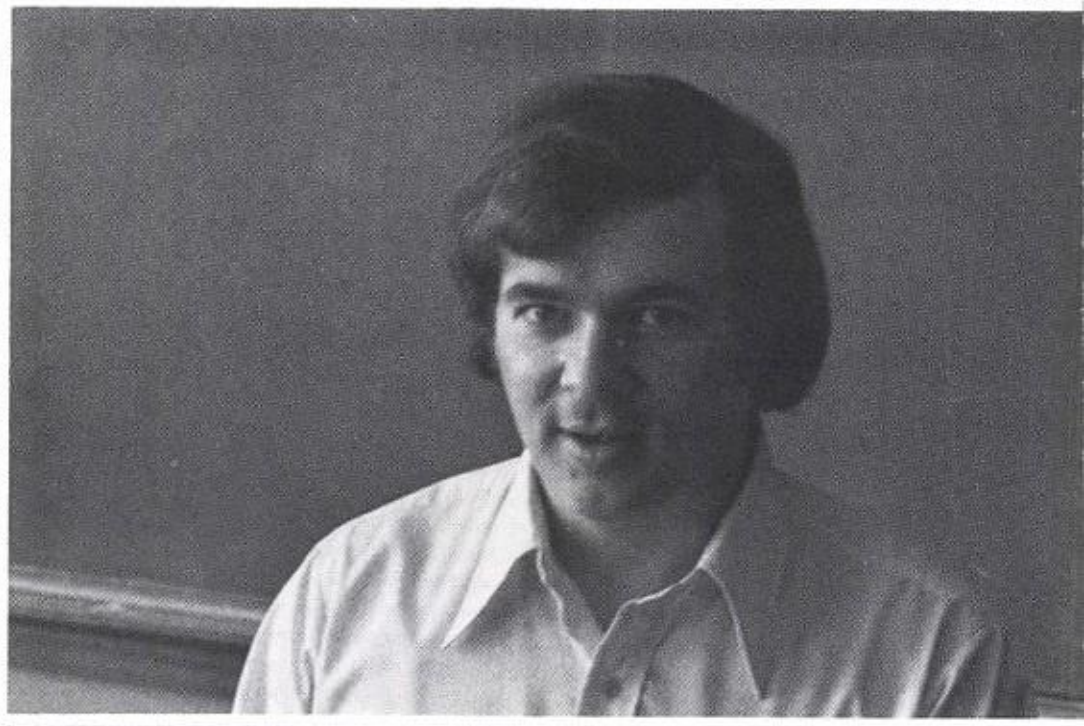
THE CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICS

Recently, members of the yearbook staff asked members of the English Department to reply to the following three questions:

1. What do you criticize most on English papers?
2. What complaints do you have concerning the Senior Class?
3. If you were to choose one quotation for the Senior Class to remember you by, what would it be?

Their replies appear below. Members of the yearbook staff have made no attempt to correct, censor, or otherwise edit these respnses.

MRS. K. BOWEN
1. Lack of specific and supporting details.
2. Lack of effort and seriousness of purpose.
3. "Your life is what you make it no more-no less."

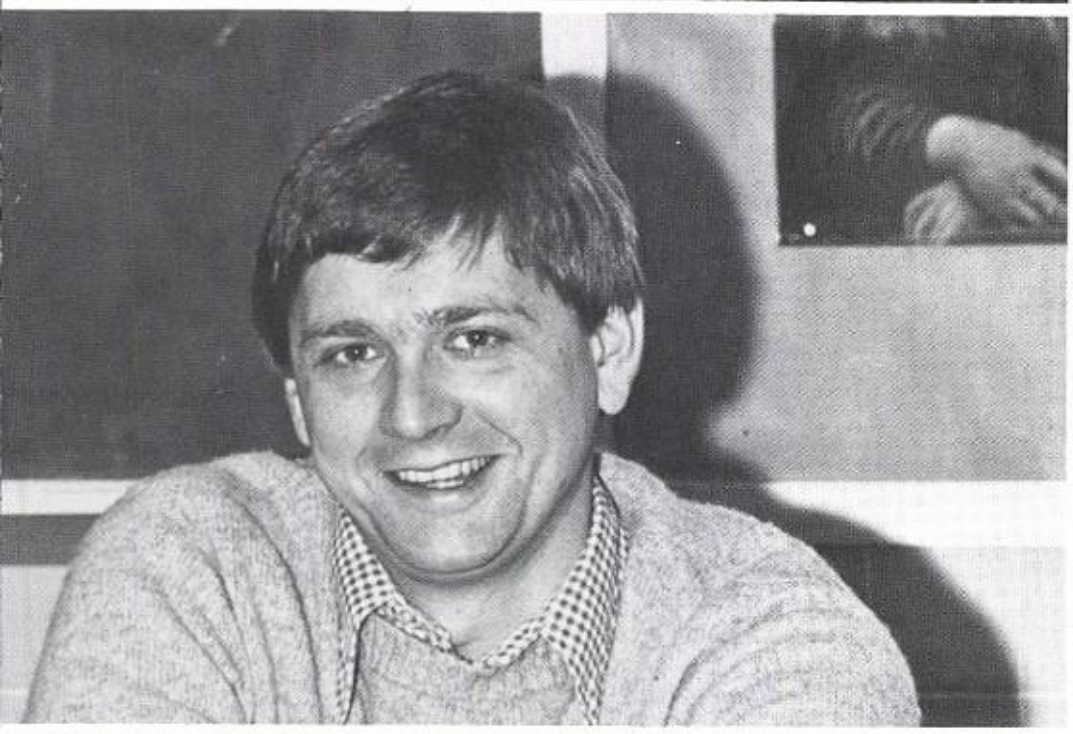


MR. K. CONROY
1. I criticize a lack of effort. The seniors should take more pride in what they turn in for compositions.
2. This senior class seems to have a great sense of humor. They even laugh at my jokes (a bad sign)! That's my complaint.
3. "The sun is but a morning star."
-Thoreau

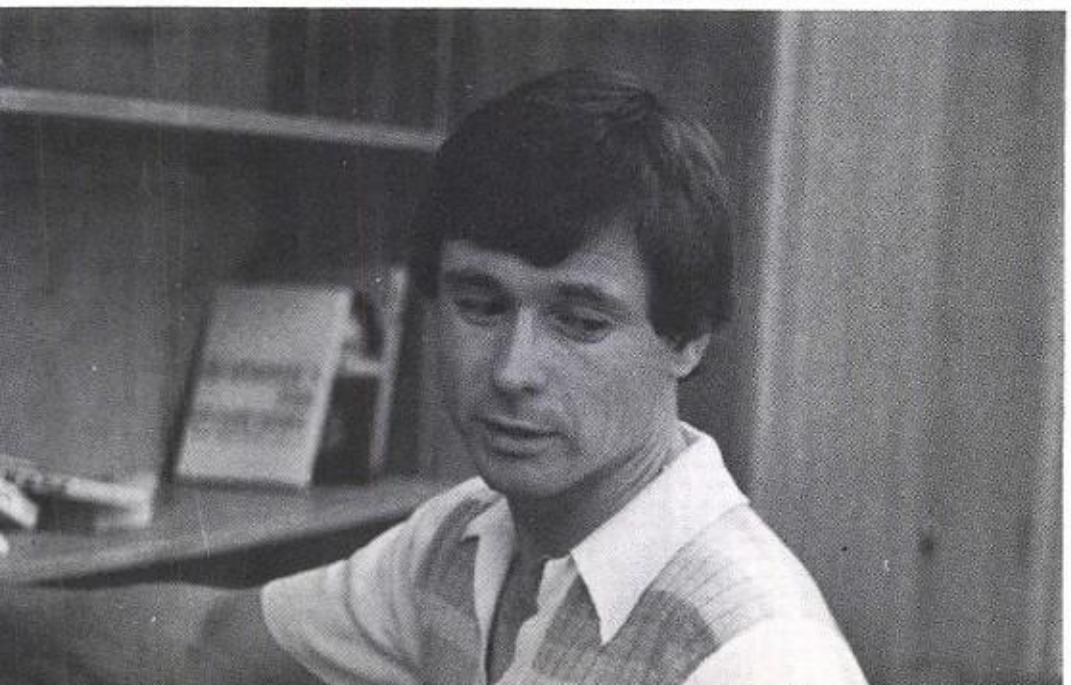
MR. J. ENANDER
1. I detest final copies written with light lead pencils and covered with coffee, butter, and egg stains.
2. It's too bad that seniors know that they have reached the apex of intelligence.
3. "Grow old along with me the best is yet to be."
Robert Browning

MS. P. MAMONE
1. Lack of supporting details is the fault with most English papers.
2. LAZY would be the fault of seniors I've been in contact with.
3. "Good, better, best- never let it rest, until the good is better and the better becomes best."

MRS. D. McCORMACK
"Don't do the crime if you can't pay the time."



MR. P. MUCICA
1. A general slipshod attitude reflected in careless mistakes and a dearth of logic.
2. Why is everyone so afraid to be an individual at Stoneham High? Doesn't anyone understand that what makes for progress is individual thinking? Groups tend to think as groups, individuals as individuals.
3. Two roads diverge in a wood, and I-
   I took the one less travelled by,
   And that has made all the difference.
   Robert Frost
   "The Road Not Taken"

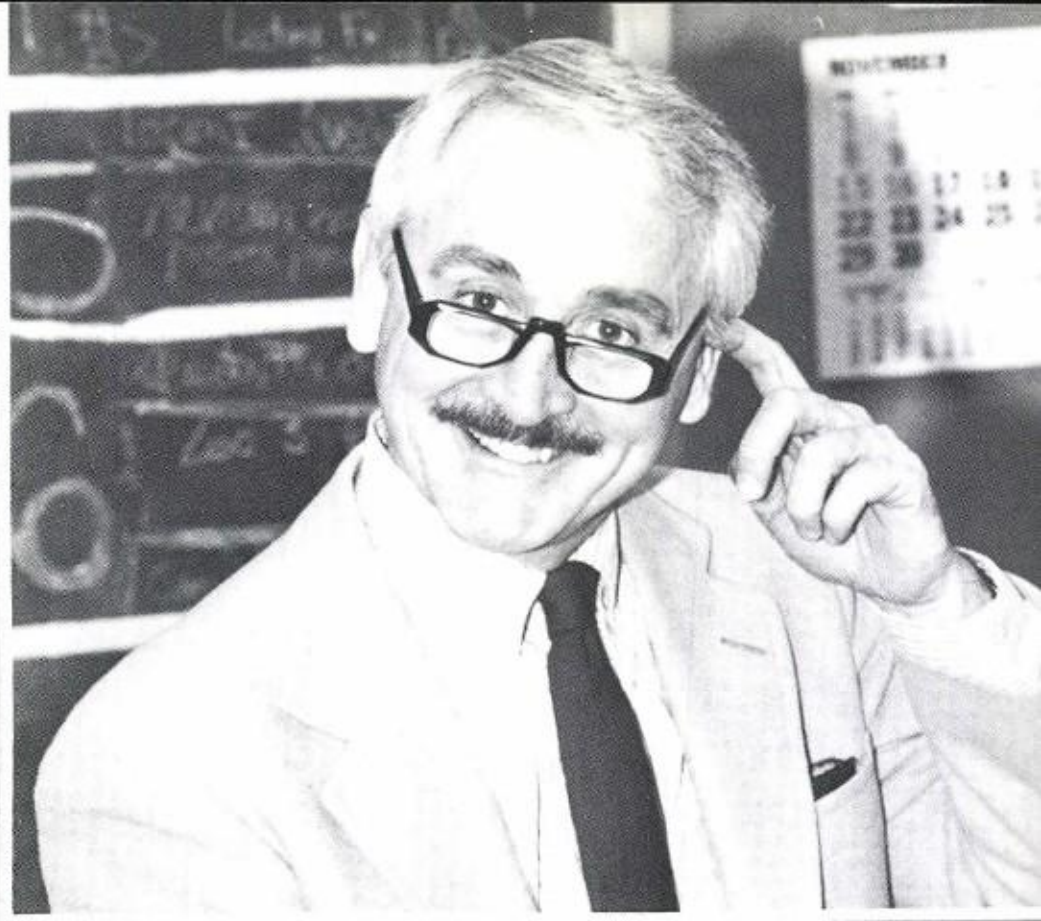


MR. D. MULVIHILL
1. Criticize both the good and the bad!
2. I can't complain about a whole group- only individuals.
3. Don't put off until tomorrow, that what you can do today.

MR. D. MUSICO

1. When correcting English compositions I can occasionally overlook the apathy that spawns vaporous content; I cannot, however, understand the corresponding apathy that produces errors in grammar, spelling, punctuation, and usage. Acceptable standard English can be learned by anyone who really cares in a relatively short time and with no arduous effort.
2. I know only individuals; I cannot know a class. To criticize what I do not know would be impertinent and foolish- and I am neither.
3. "Men are wise in proportion, not to their experience, but to their capacity for experience."

Shaw



MS P. NORELLI

1. The use of boring generalities to develop a topic deserves the most criticism. It reveals lack of profound thinking. Thinking is more important than mechanics.
2. None. I thought you were perfect; aren't you?
3. "Risk is the business of mankind." I'm paraphrasing Capt. Kirk, who said, "Risk is our business."

MRS. M. PUFFER

1. I look for imagination and coherence of thought.
3. Love is anterior to life
   Posterior to death
   Initial to creation, and the exponent of breath.

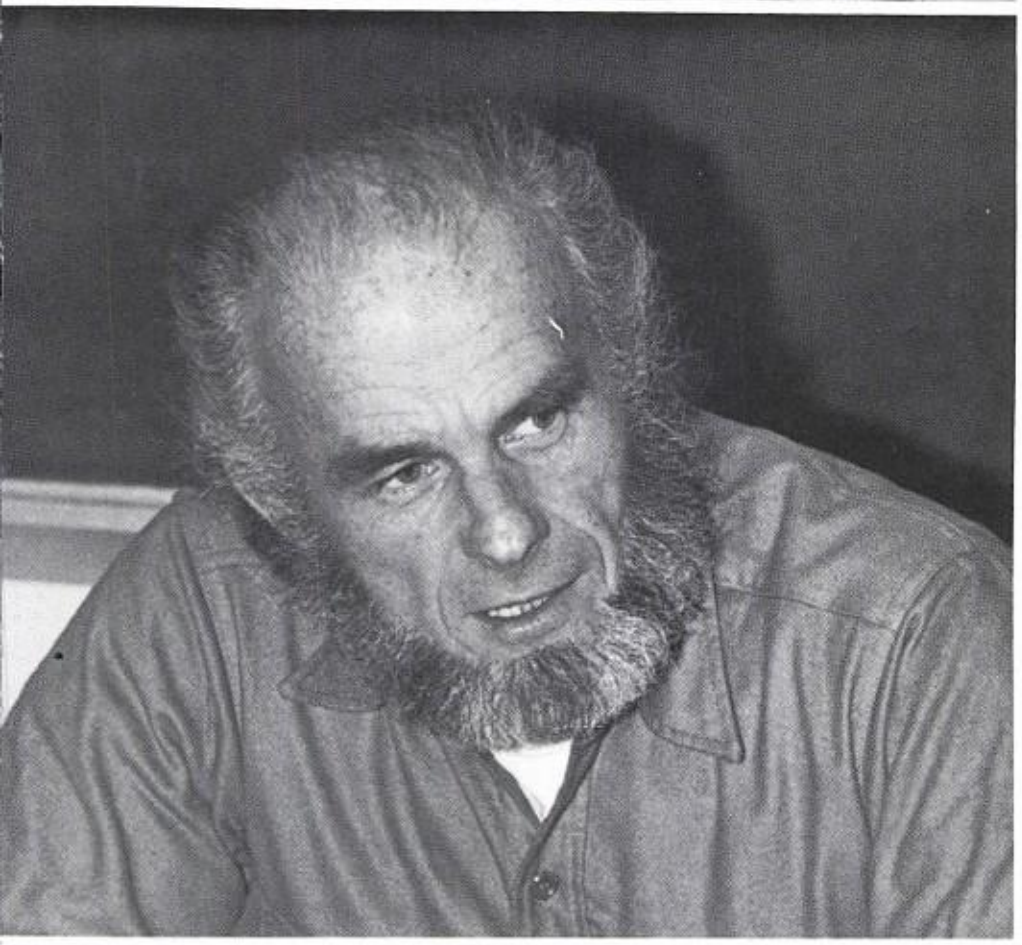
Emily Dickinson

MRS. C. RONAN

1. The errors which disturb me most about English compositions are crossed out words and sloppy writing. It seems to me a person should want each composition to be an extension of himself or herself. Fine ideas and a fresh style are often hidden by atrocious handwriting or careless errors.
2. Most members of my homeroom showed little interest in, or effort toward completing for their own yearbook's or transcript information. Perhaps "apathetic" would best characterize the majority of these people. I remember having most of the students as eighth graders. I thought that the class was a good one overall. It seems to be a class with a good mix of athletes, scholars, and comics.
3. I'm sure they'll come up with something. Offhand, I don't remember any particular expressions that I would be famous for!

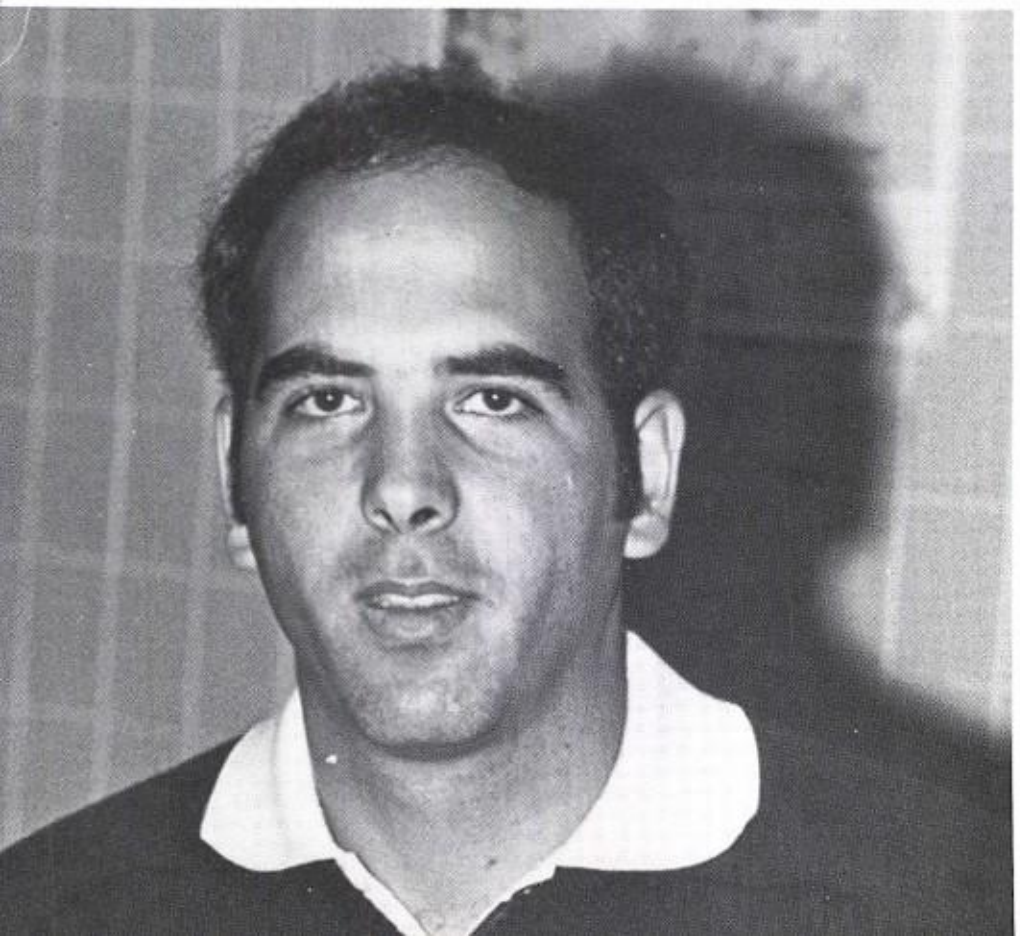


MR. R. REED

1. I love all the the papers that I get from my wonderful students. I do react negatively occasionally to the total absence of intelligence which is evident often both on paper and in the living of life from moment to moment.
2. I think the Senior Class is wonderful. I am especially fond of the yearbook editors, particularly those working on the faculty academic section who have produced this wonderful questionnaire. I am proud to be associated with an organization and publication that could, from its vast stores of wisdom and insight, produce such a superbly penetrating and intellectually stimulating collection of questions.
3. "I have a mind myself and recognize mind when I meet it in any guise.

No one can know how glad I am to find on any sheet the least display of mind."

Robert Frost



MR. E. RUSSO

1. It depends on the specific assignment, but I am always looking at punctuation.
2. As a class in general, I have no complaints.
3. "If you have dedication and pride in yourself, you will always be a success."

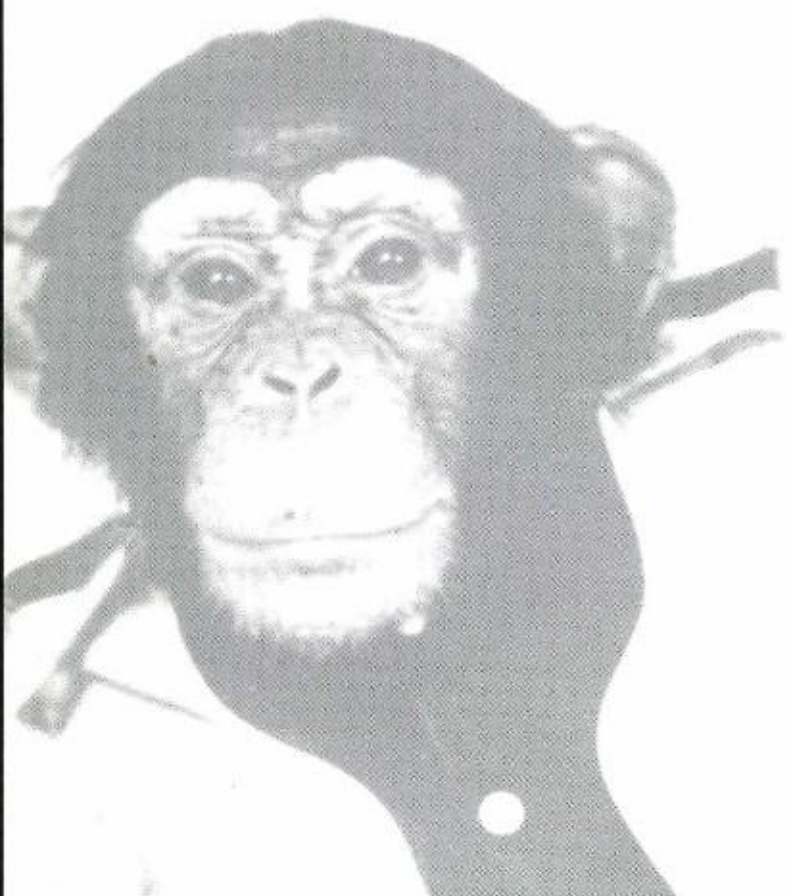
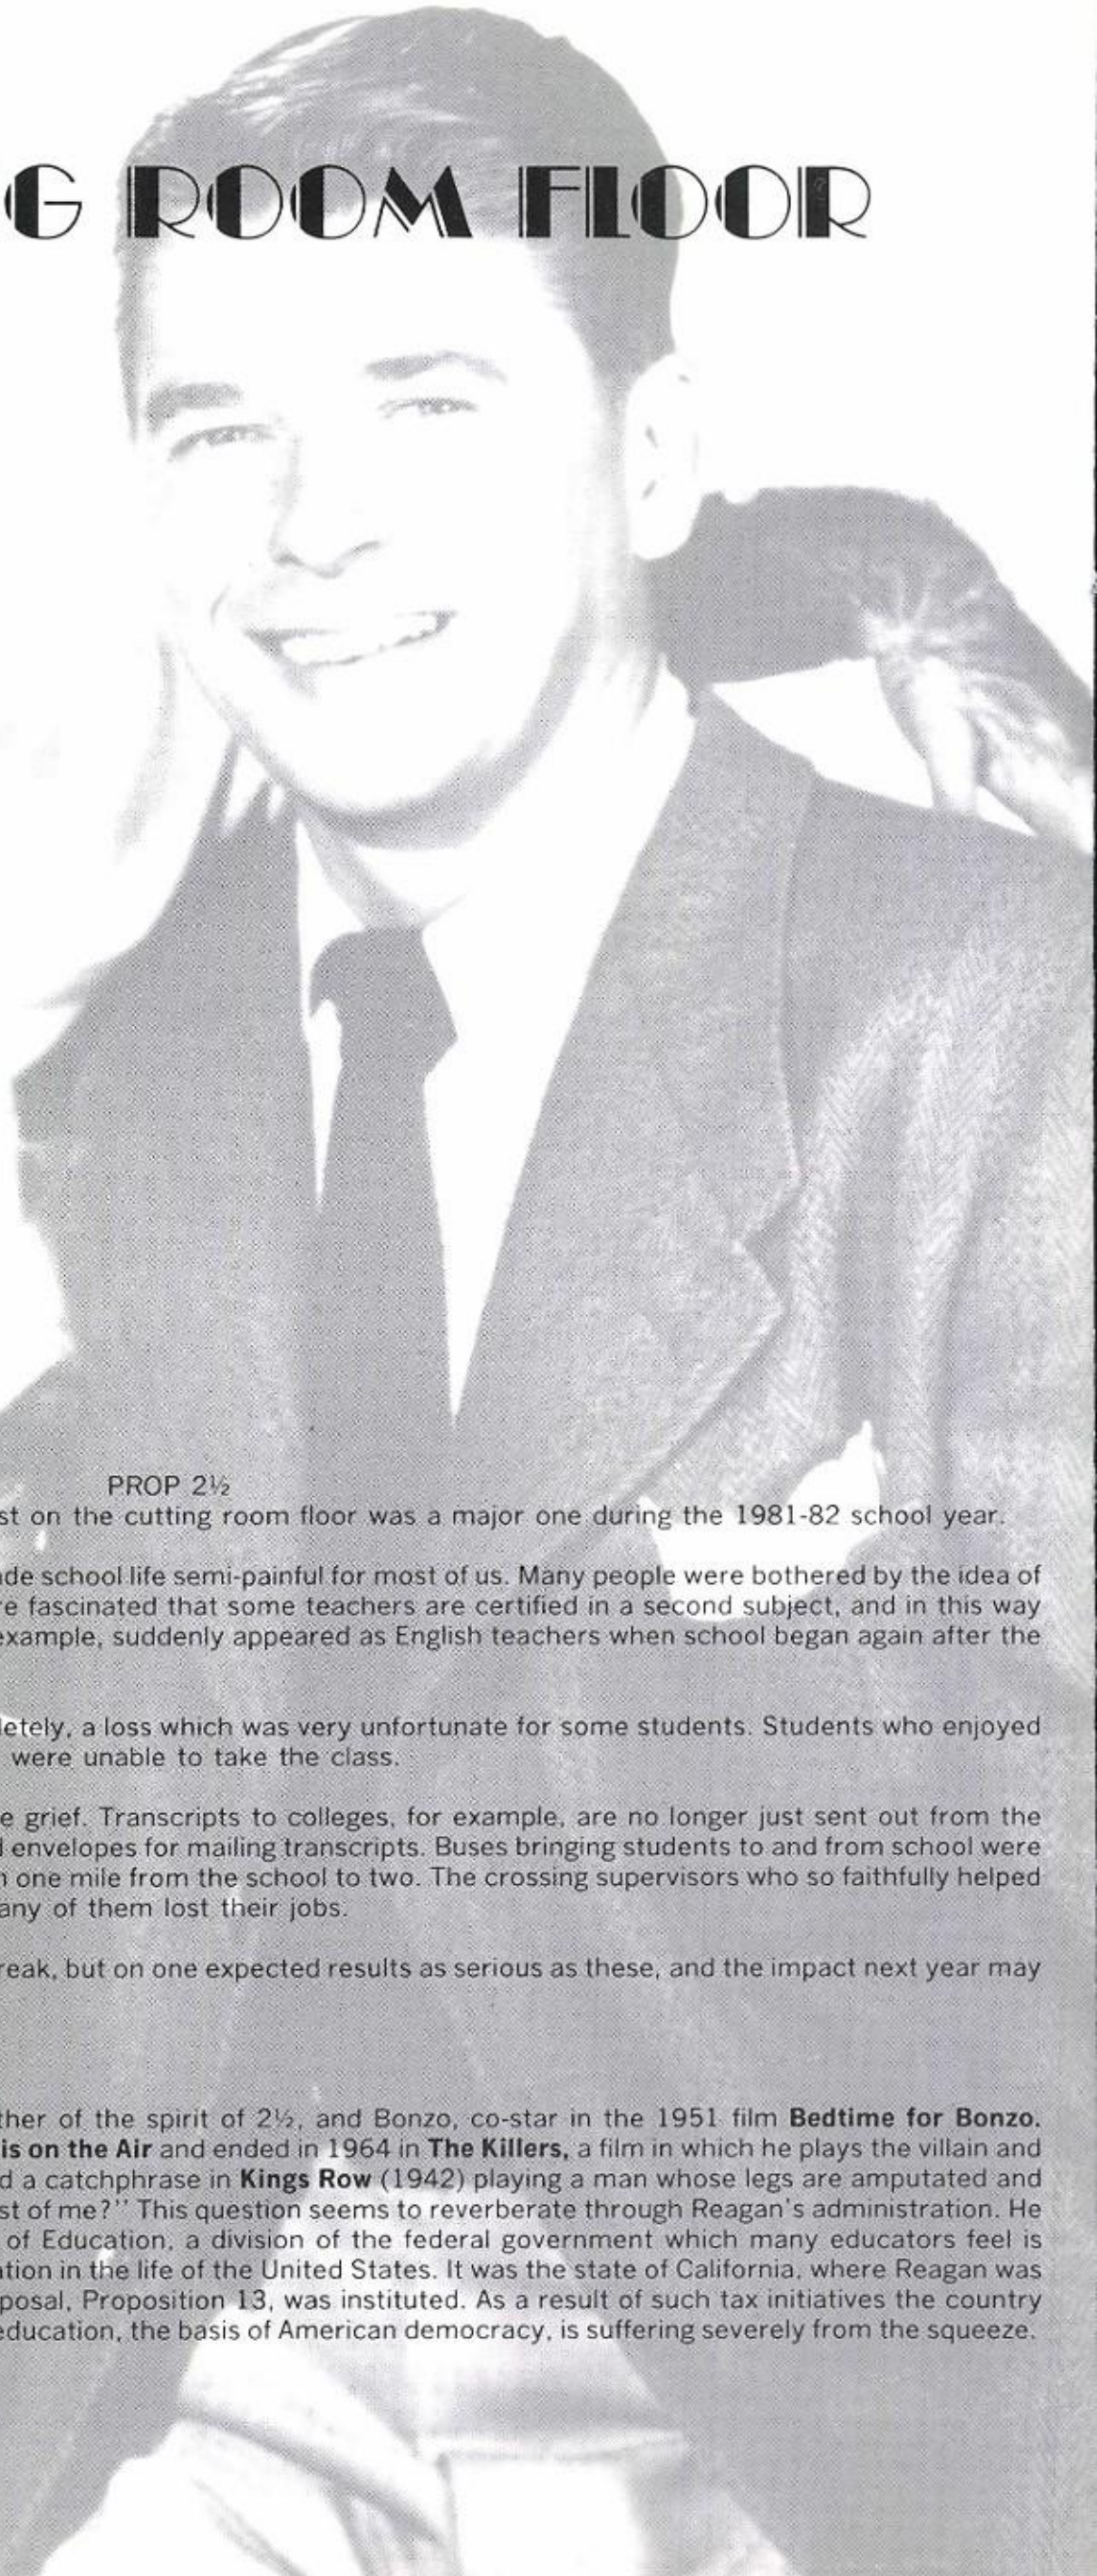
THE CUTTING ROOM FLOOR





PROP 2½

The complaint that some of our best teachers were lost on the cutting room floor was a major one during the 1981-82 school year.

This was the year that Prop 2½ began its reign, and it made school life semi-painful for most of us. Many people were bothered by the idea of several teachers losing their jobs, and many others were fascinated that some teachers are certified in a second subject, and in this way could avoid getting the ax. Social Studies teachers, for example, suddenly appeared as English teachers when school began again after the summer vacation.

Classes that were not very popular were dropped completely, a loss which was very unfortunate for some students. Students who enjoyed public speaking, or who elected Italian III, for example, were unable to take the class.

There are also other little problems which caused some grief. Transcripts to colleges, for example, are no longer just sent out from the school. Now students have to bring in their own stamped envelopes for mailing transcripts. Buses bringing students to and from school were cut down, and the limit for free busing was changed from one mile from the school to two. The crossing supervisors who so faithfully helped us through the traffic every day were also affected; many of them lost their jobs.

When Prop 2½ was voted on, everyone expected a tax break, but on one expected results as serious as these, and the impact next year may be even more severe.

Seen behind the copy

Ronald Reagan, President of the United States and father of the spirit of 2½, and Bonzo, co-star in the 1951 film Bedtime for Bonzo. Reagan's acting career began in 1937 with the film Love is on the Air and ended in 1964 in The Killers, a film in which he plays the villain and slaps Angie Dickinson in the face. He won some note and a catchphrase in Kings Row (1942) playing a man whose legs are amputated and comes round after the operation to ask, "Where's the rest of me?" This question seems to reverberate through Reagan's administration. He has, for example, decreed the end of the Department of Education, a division of the federal government which many educators feel is necessary to maintain the important role of public education in the life of the United States. It was the state of California, where Reagan was governor from 1966-1974, that the first tax cutting proposal, Proposition 13, was instituted. As a result of such tax initiatives the country now seems to be caught in a shrinking frame and public education, the basis of American democracy, is suffering severely from the squeeze.

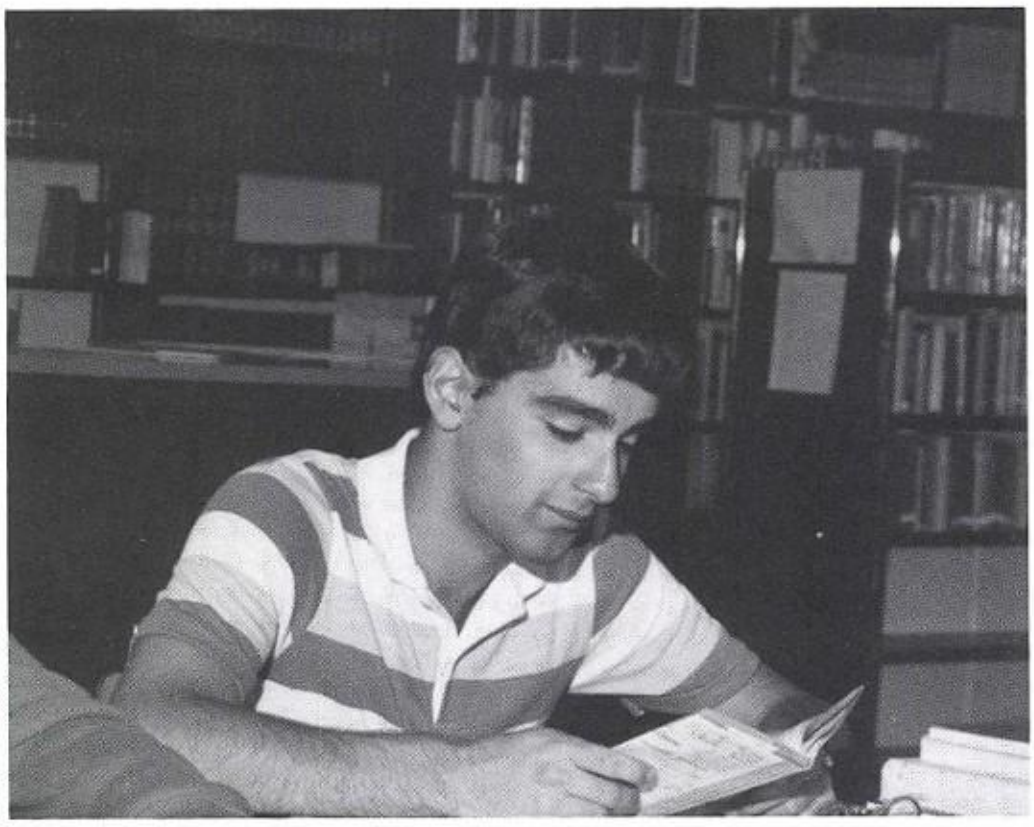
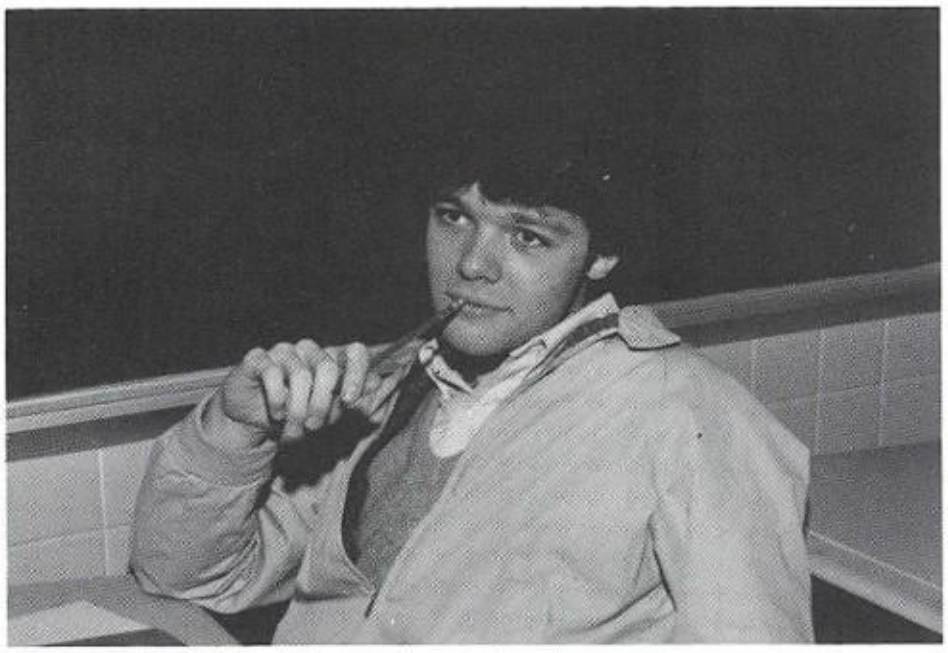
STARS OF '82

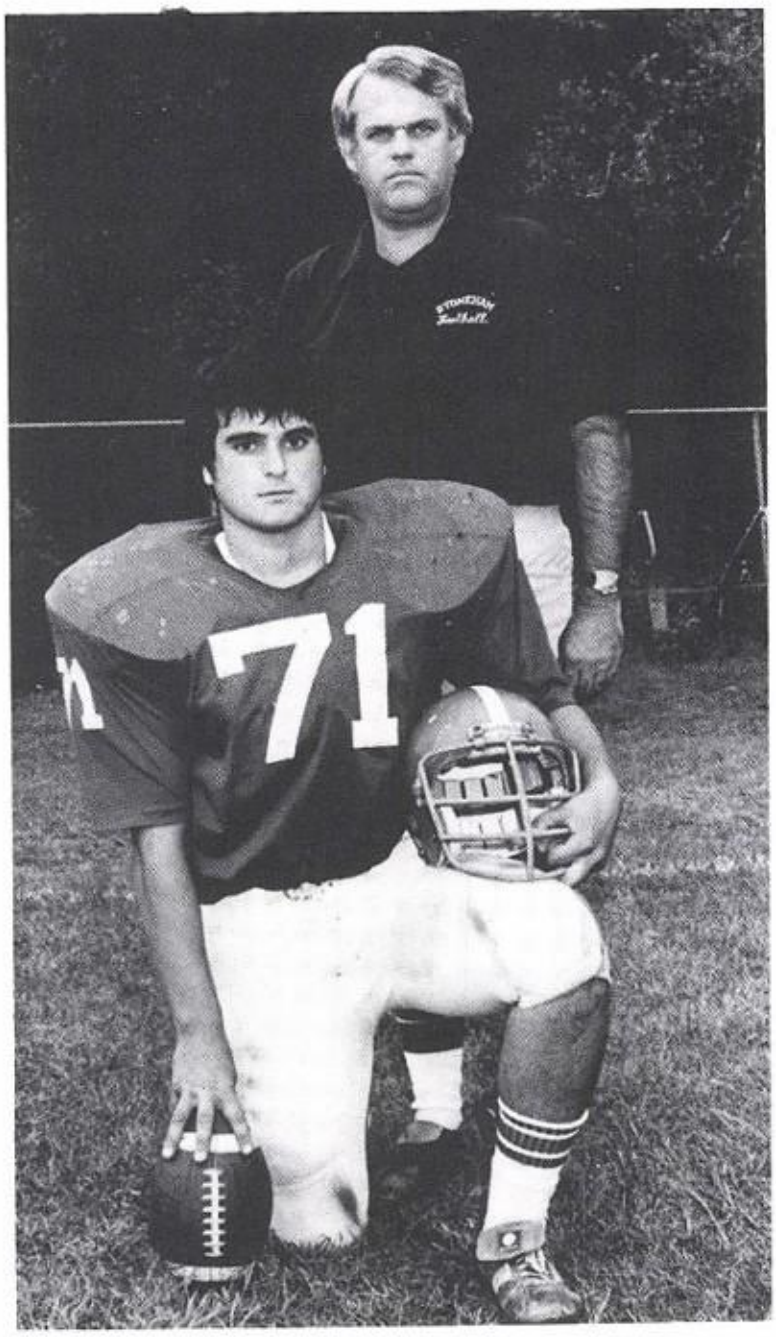
As well as being Captain of the football team, Tommy Ciulla won the Harvard Book Award (awarded to a well rounded individual as a junior), and attended Boys State for a week long learning experience. Last, but not least, he was chosen as our Carnival Ball King. He is certainly a "star" of '82.

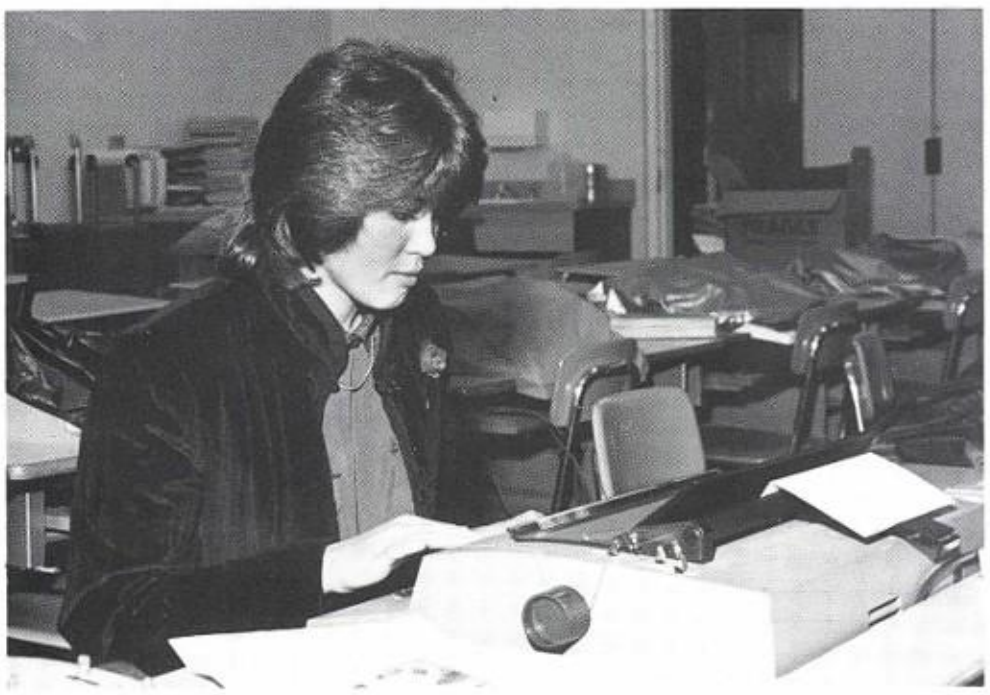


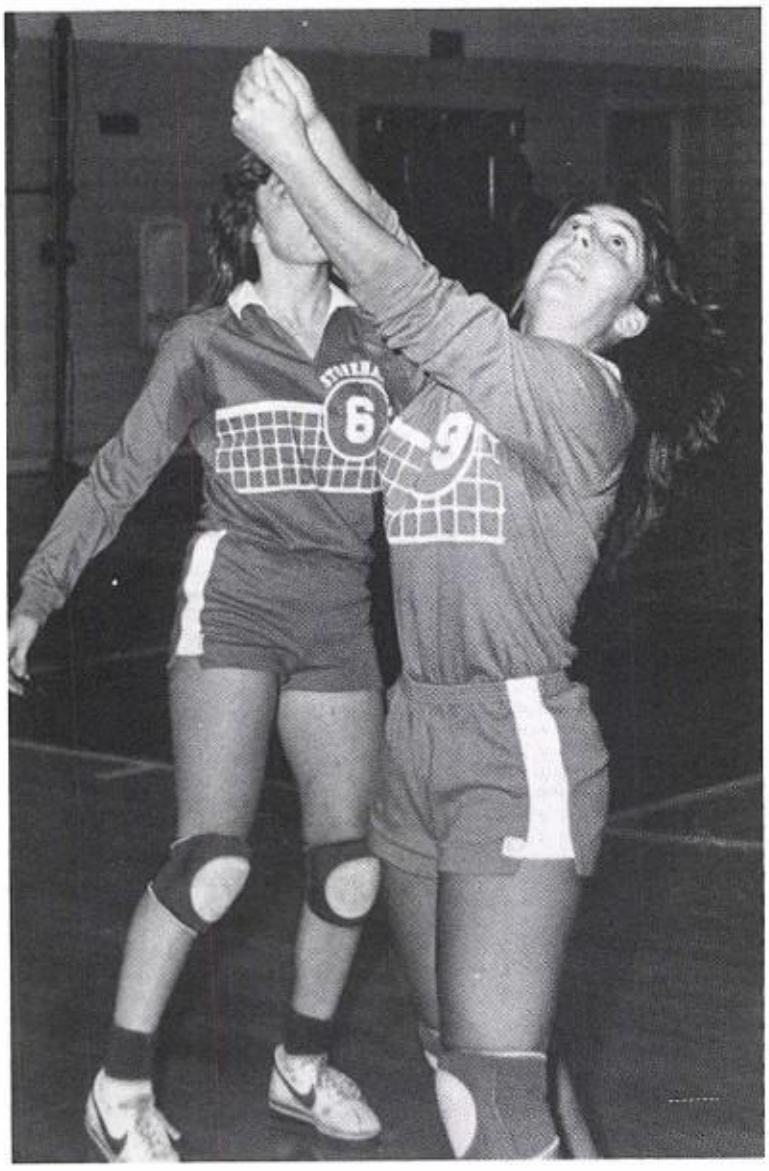
The editor-in-chief of the 1982 yearbook, Patrick Ward, is a very talented individual. He excels especially in English. Patrick won the Brown Book award for English and was commended by the National Council of Teachers of English for achievement in writing.

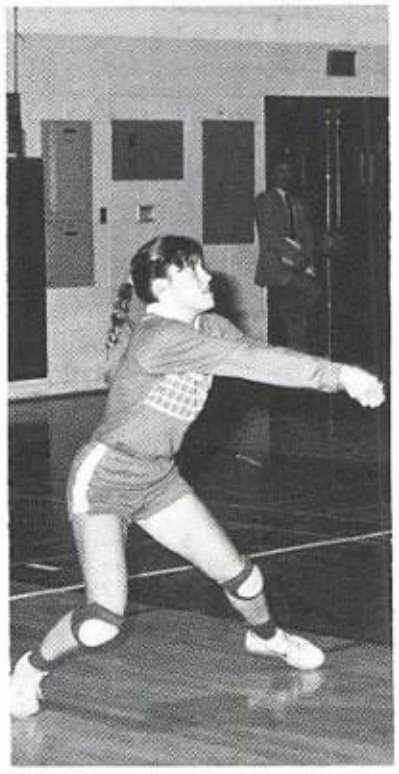
Peter Tatian was the recipient of the Rensaleer award for Math and Science. Recently he was accepted to MIT! - Congratulations Pete!











The 1981 volleyball team was the first volleyball team of Stoneham High to make it to the State Tournament. Three League allstars to come out of this team were: Captain Christin Capone, Robin Lusardi, and Diana Doucette. Christin Capone was not only recognized for her talent in athletics, but was also honored as being our Carnival Ball Queen.

The football team had some allstars as well. Mike Fiorillo and Scott Barbera were chosen as Middlesex League Allstars. Soccer allstars included Captains Steven Drew and Steven Long (League Allstars), as well as Captain Lonnie Davis who received honorable mentions.

Charles "Chip" Carroll was picked as an allstar for his success on the Cross Country team.

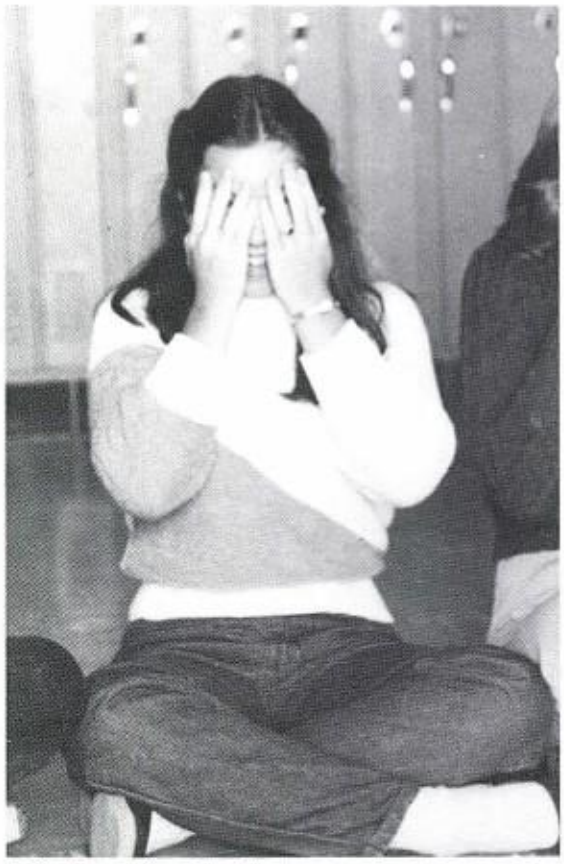
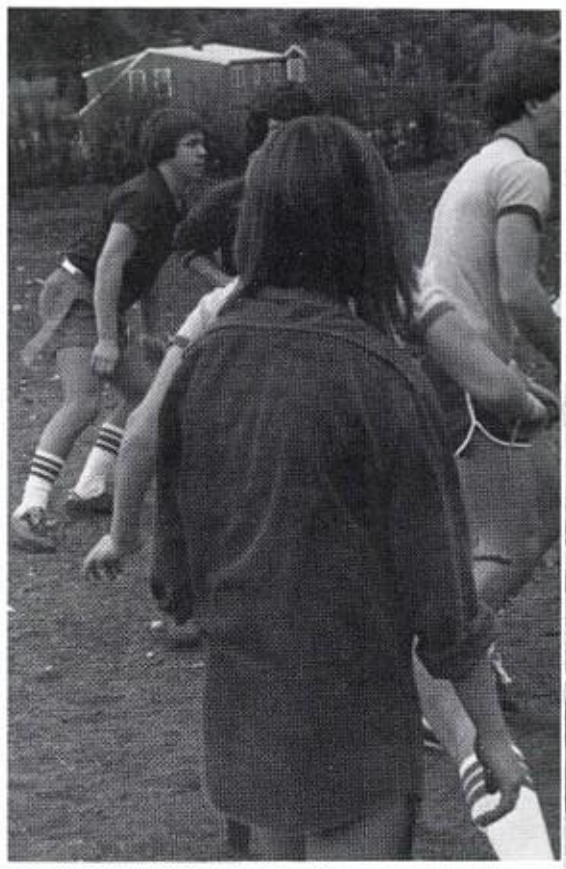
EXTRAS





In every motion picture, there is a small group of performers who are relatively unnoticed. These people, called extras, are hardly seen, but they are necessary to the true completeness of every film. Similarly our class has its own group of extras. These people are not frequently seen, but without them our class would not be complete. Therefore this page is dedicated to our extras.

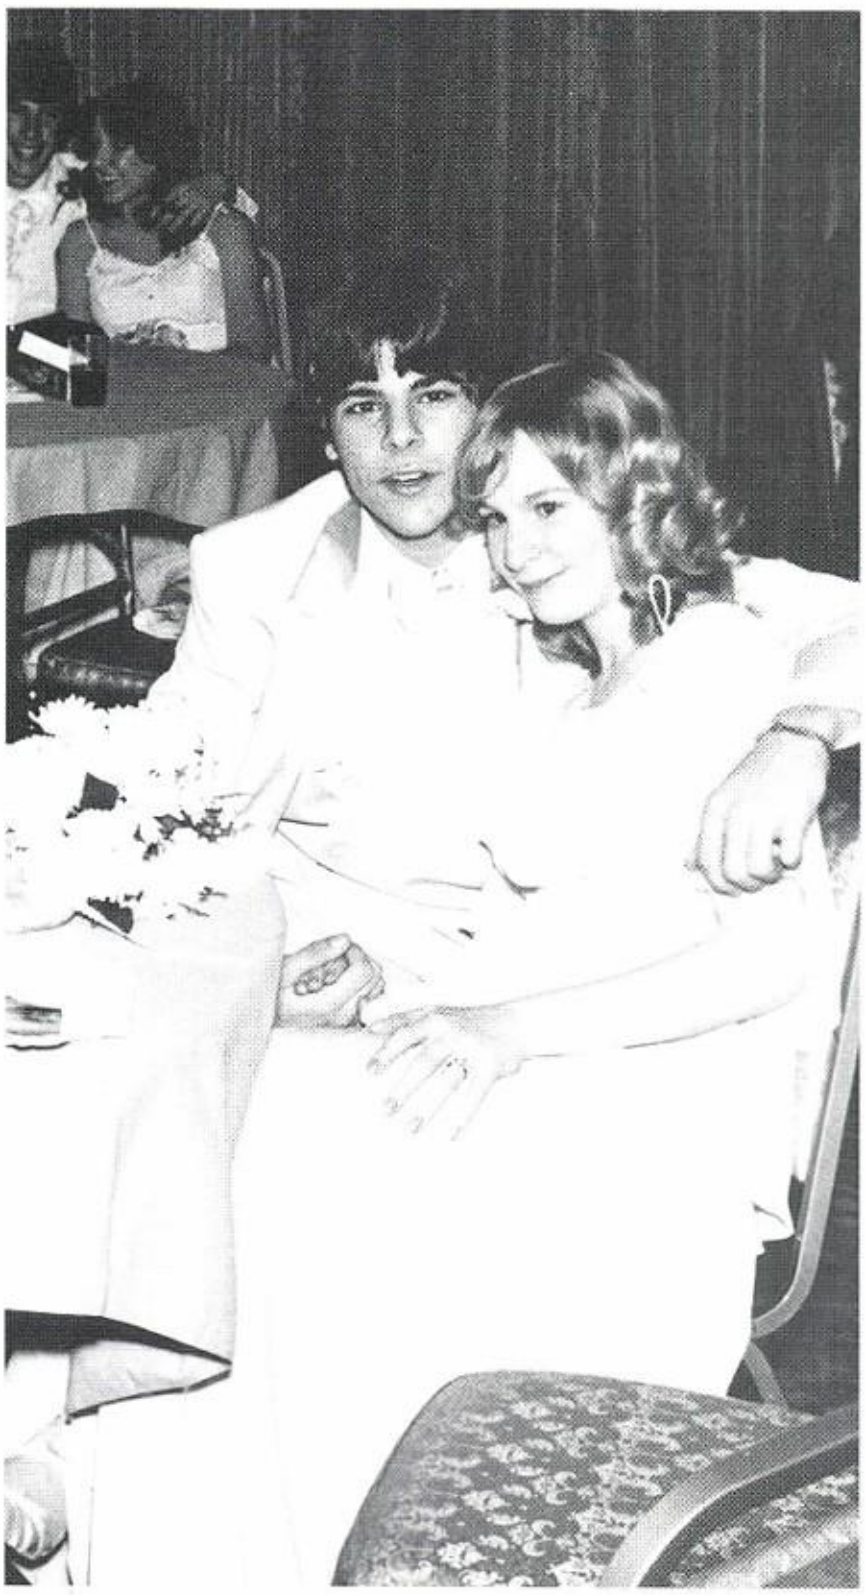
SHALL WE DANCE?

The Junior Prom: A Night To Remember

The Junior Prom, held on March 13, 1981 at Caruso's Diplomat in Saugus, had all the elegance and glamour of a Hollywood premiere. Our class shed the informality of corduroys and flannel shirts for an evening and donned elegant and formal attire. Junior girls became sophisticated ladies and tuxedos made even the shortest boy look tall and dignified. And although many of us were asking ourselves questions such as "What does one do in a receiving line?" and "Which fork do I use first?" the Junior Prom was a climactic and memorable conclusion to our junior year.



MEN

On the basis of scholarship, service, leadership and character those being initiated today have been chosen for this singular honor.

Scholarship

What can we say about scholarship, about the acquisition of knowledge, about the life of the mind? To how many of you could the word scholar be honestly applied? For how many of you is the expansion of the horizons of the mind a consuming passion? Honor asks these questions. It is the mark of Abel who brought the right offering-whose brother did not.

Service

What can we say of service-Am I my brother's keeper? We are told the new and younger generation is more conservative and consumed with the goals of a good job, money, success. In such an ethic where does service fit- service to whom, for whom? What about the disadvantaged, the disenchanted, the disenfranchized? Albert Schweitzer put aside a life of acclaim and prestige-for a life of service to the dying, the leper, the truly disadvantaged. His life was rich with fulfillment, a true scholar for whom scholarship was not enough. With his mind he could not touch the diseased and broken bodies-with his hands he could. He brought the right offering. He bore the mark of Abel.

Leadership

What can we say about leadership-Nixon still stalks the pages of American history- each footprint a muddy mark of dishonor. Sadat is dead and buried, but his spirit smolders and leads. And King Henry the Fifth who was honored by his troops lives in the pride of a proud people- in the words of Shakespeare.

And Lech Walesa, "We eat the same bread."

And Ronald Reagan?

Character

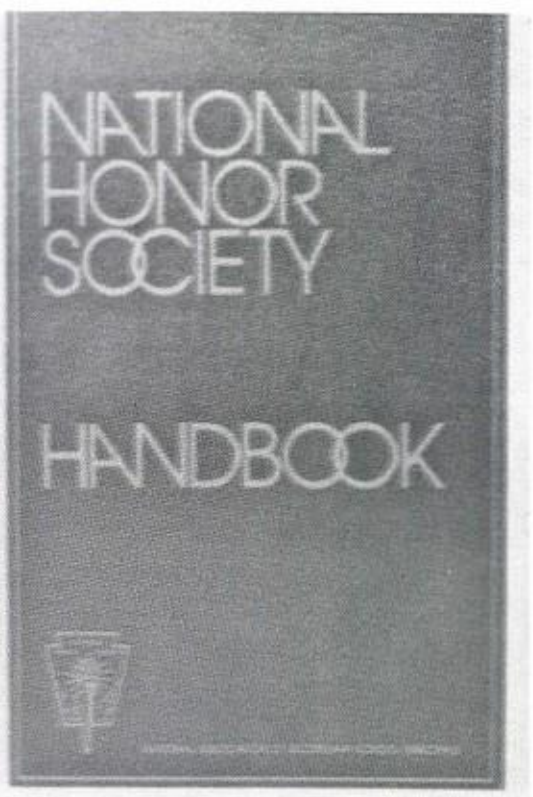
Character- What can we say about character- it is to be read in the list of people we admire?

In Bob Hope, Prince Charles, Jerry Fallwell?

It is character at last that leads to honor: Scholarship, Service, Leadership will all fade away.

But the human spirit- each one of us had a claim on immortality- And for each of you, the threshold of some kind of greatness of wholeness may be just ahead. This moment of honor marks you- sets you apart to what future- to what fulfillment- to what hope of greatness?

AN INTRODUCTION TO HONOR

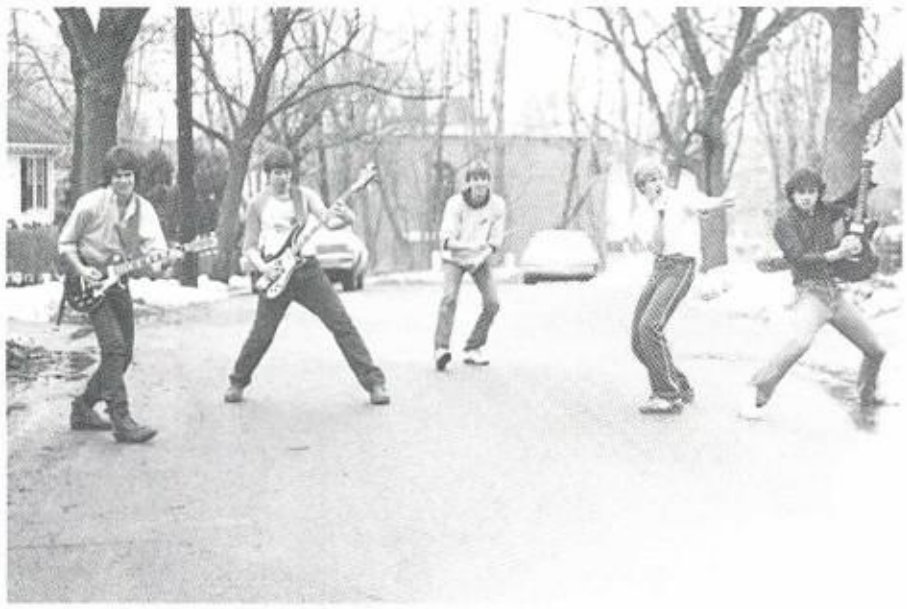


On February 11, 1982, forty members of the Senior class were inducted into the Stoneham Chapter of the National Honor Society. Participating in the ceremony were, counter-clockwise from far left: Advisor Vera Komanowski and President Peter Tatian; Father Albert J. Sallese of St. Patrick's Parish, who gave the invocation; State Representative Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr.; Martha Leport, Vice President; Mr. Richard Reed, who was selected by students to write and deliver the speech which is excerpted on the facing page; Mr. Hoyt, Principal.

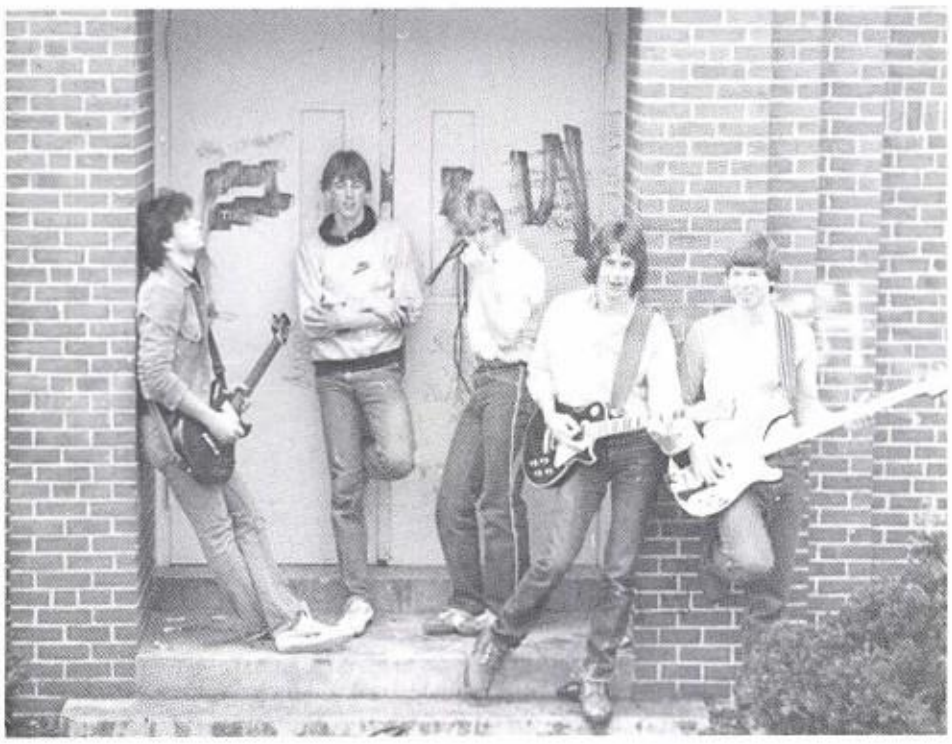
C'MON KIDS, LETS PUT ON A SHOW!

Unidentified rock band members force feed Rich their drumsticks.

Butane . . . they'll grow on you.



"Taking it to the streets."



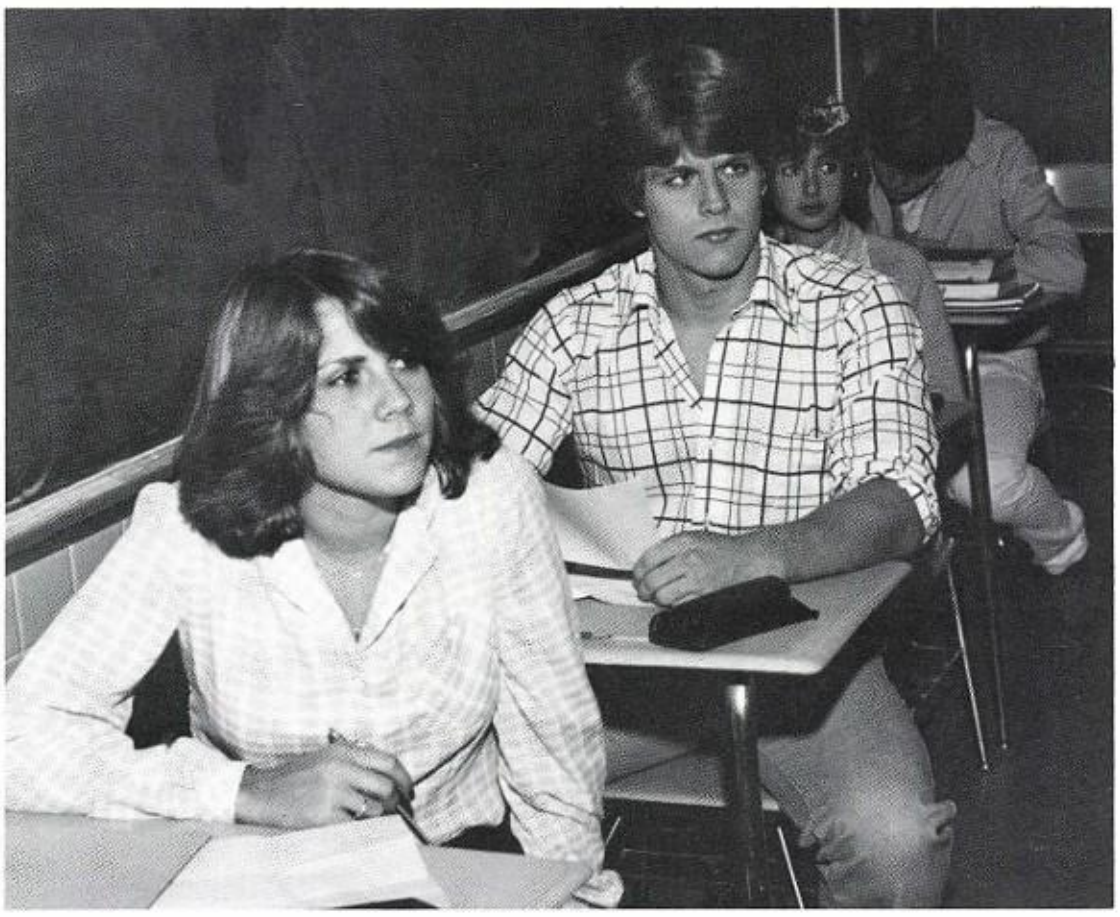
Staking out the turf at South school.

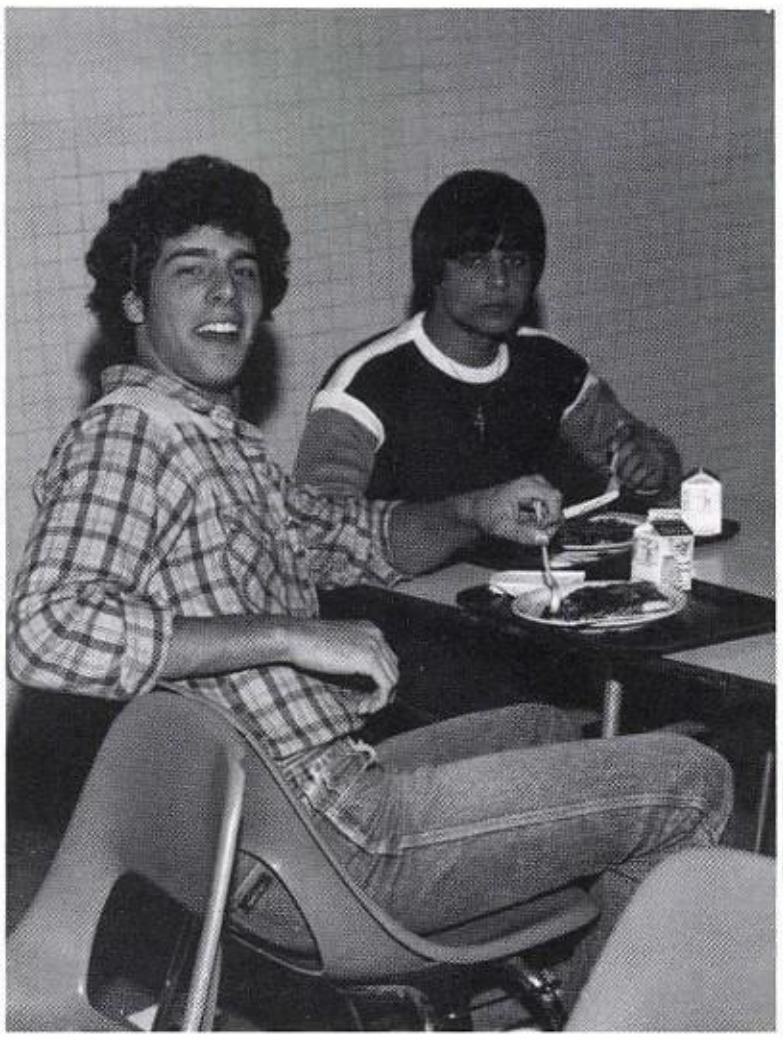
"Why don't you find another fool to love you?" Butane's #1 fan asks.

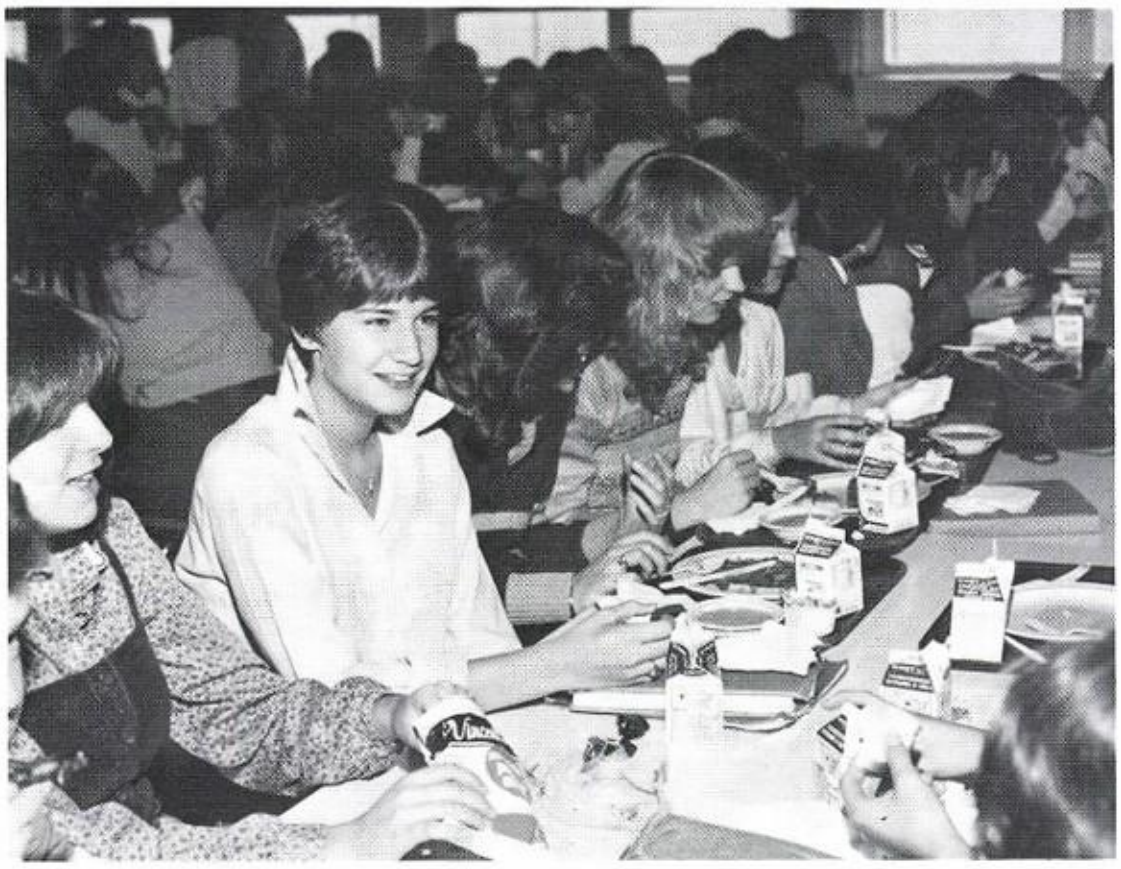
Butane's motto: "Shoot to thrill, play to kill."

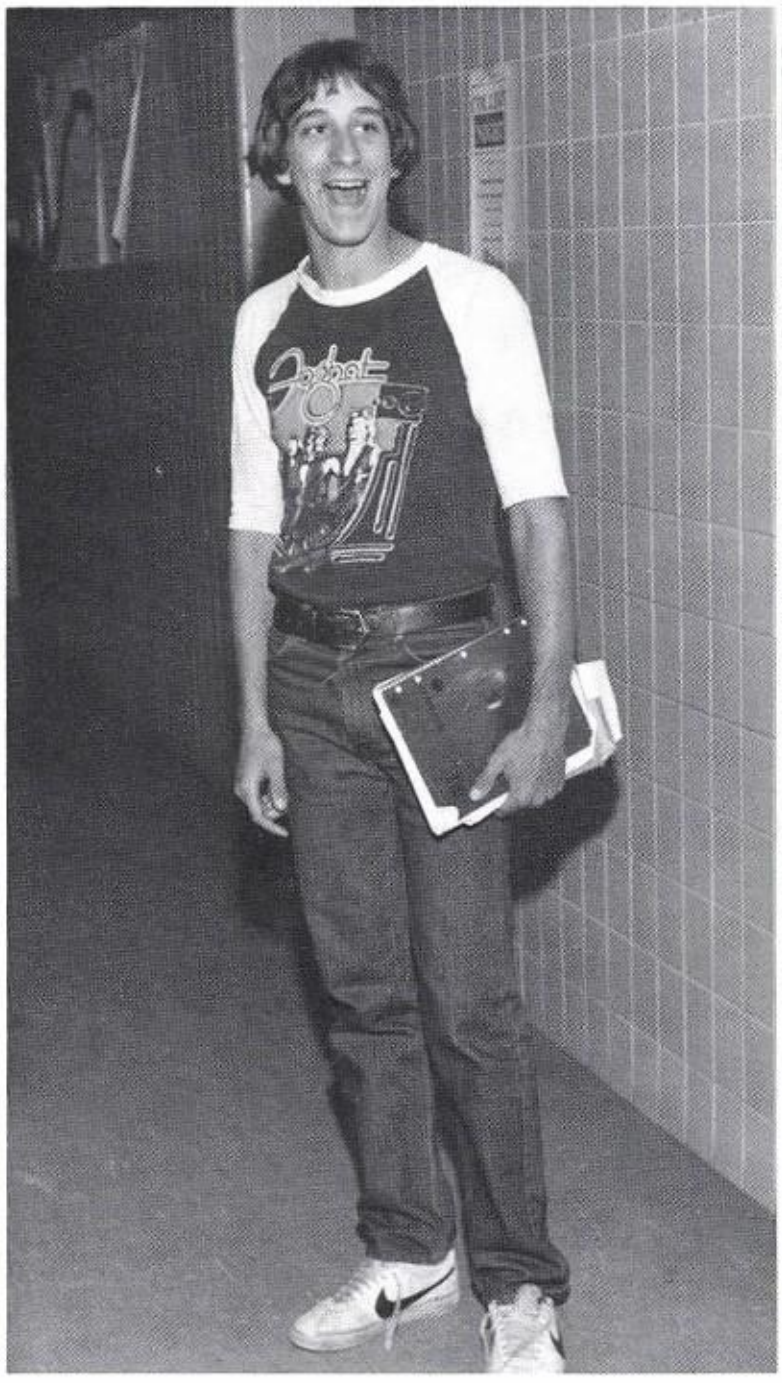
Up from the dumps . . . and into the spotlight.

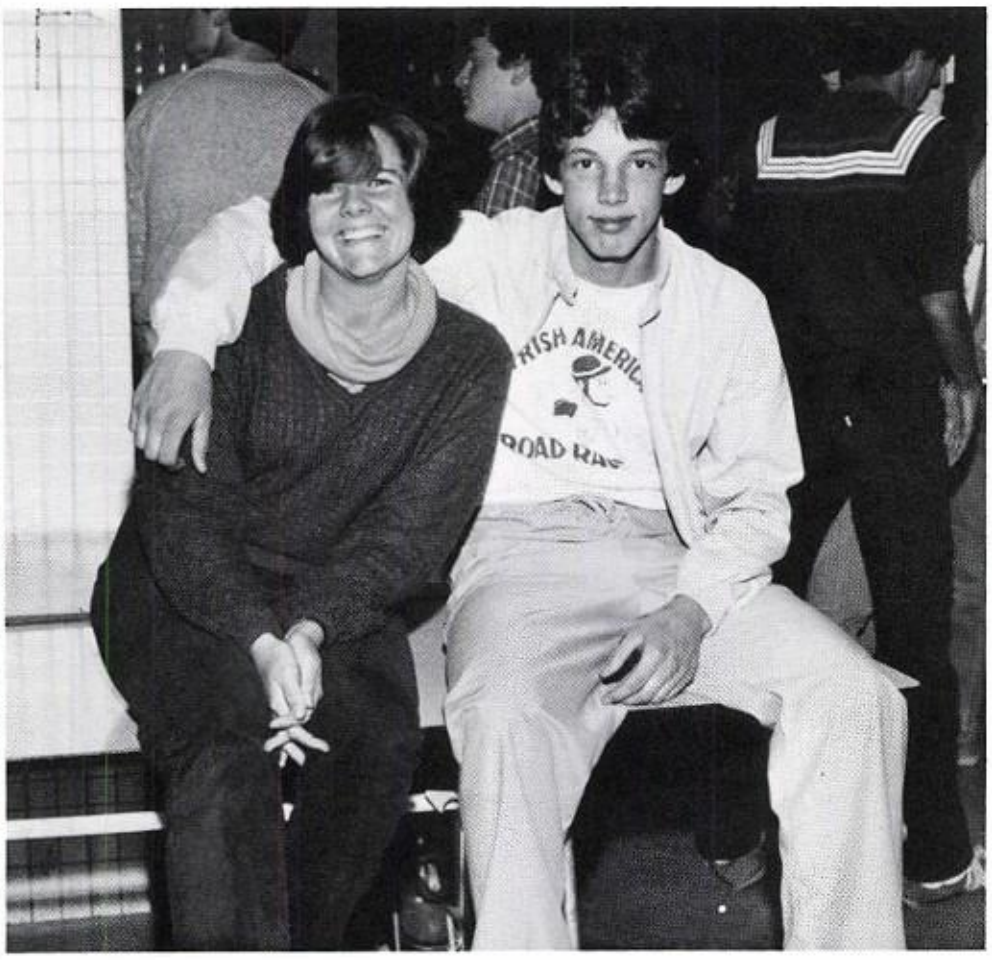
Stoneham High's latest claim to fame is the talented rock band, Butane. David Slocum, the lead guitarist, is the driving force in the band channeling his talent and enthusiasm into his music. Rhythm guitarist, Mike Toomey's dedication to Butane is obvious in his energetic performance. Rich Hegarty's flashy style and charisma make him a Professional lead singer. On the drums, Mark Tierney defies his humble image displaying his awesome versitality. The bass guitarist for Butane is Eugene Lauria. Imported from the foreign land of Saugus, Eugene is commonly classified as quiet but his intense musical knowledge and quality have helped him gain recognition. Together they set forth a dynamic and original style that draws a rowdy crowd to all their events. Good luck Butane, on your climb to the top!

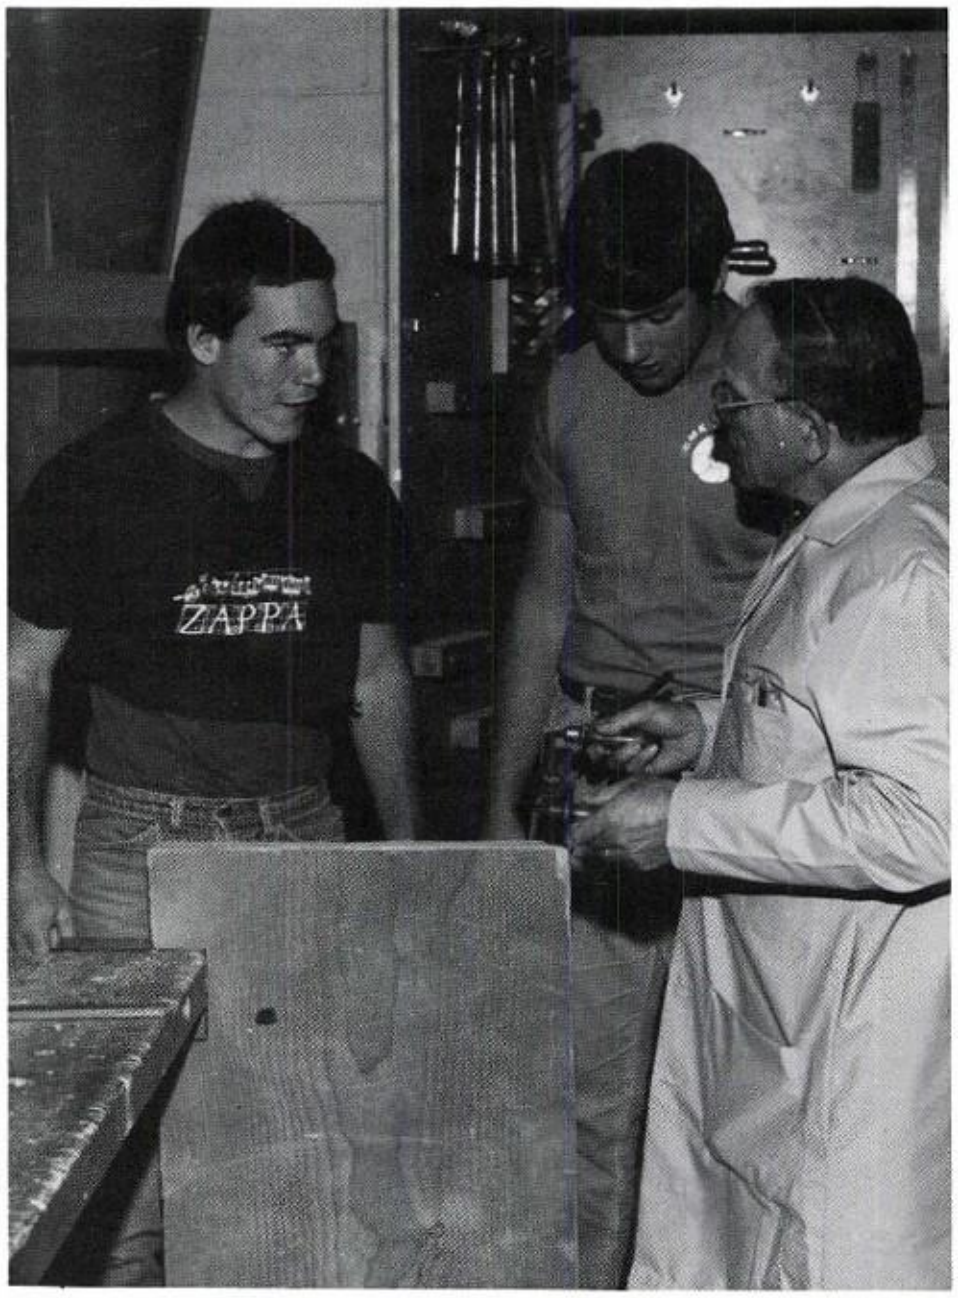












ZAPPA

Corie (Janine Coutu) and Paul (Patrick Ward) are setting up housekeeping in Manhattan after a torrid honeymoon (center). Clockwise from top left: Corie comforts Paul after he has had a hard day at the office; Mr. Velasco (John Ledwith) serves Corie, her mother Ethel (Robin Compton) and Paul his exotic eel hors d'oeuvres; Velasco gives Corie some helpful household hints, Ethel gasps after climbing six flights; Paul hunts for his mother-in-law's pink pills; Corie recieves a wedding present from the Lord and Taylor delivery man (Kevin Lawton).

BEHIND THE SCENES

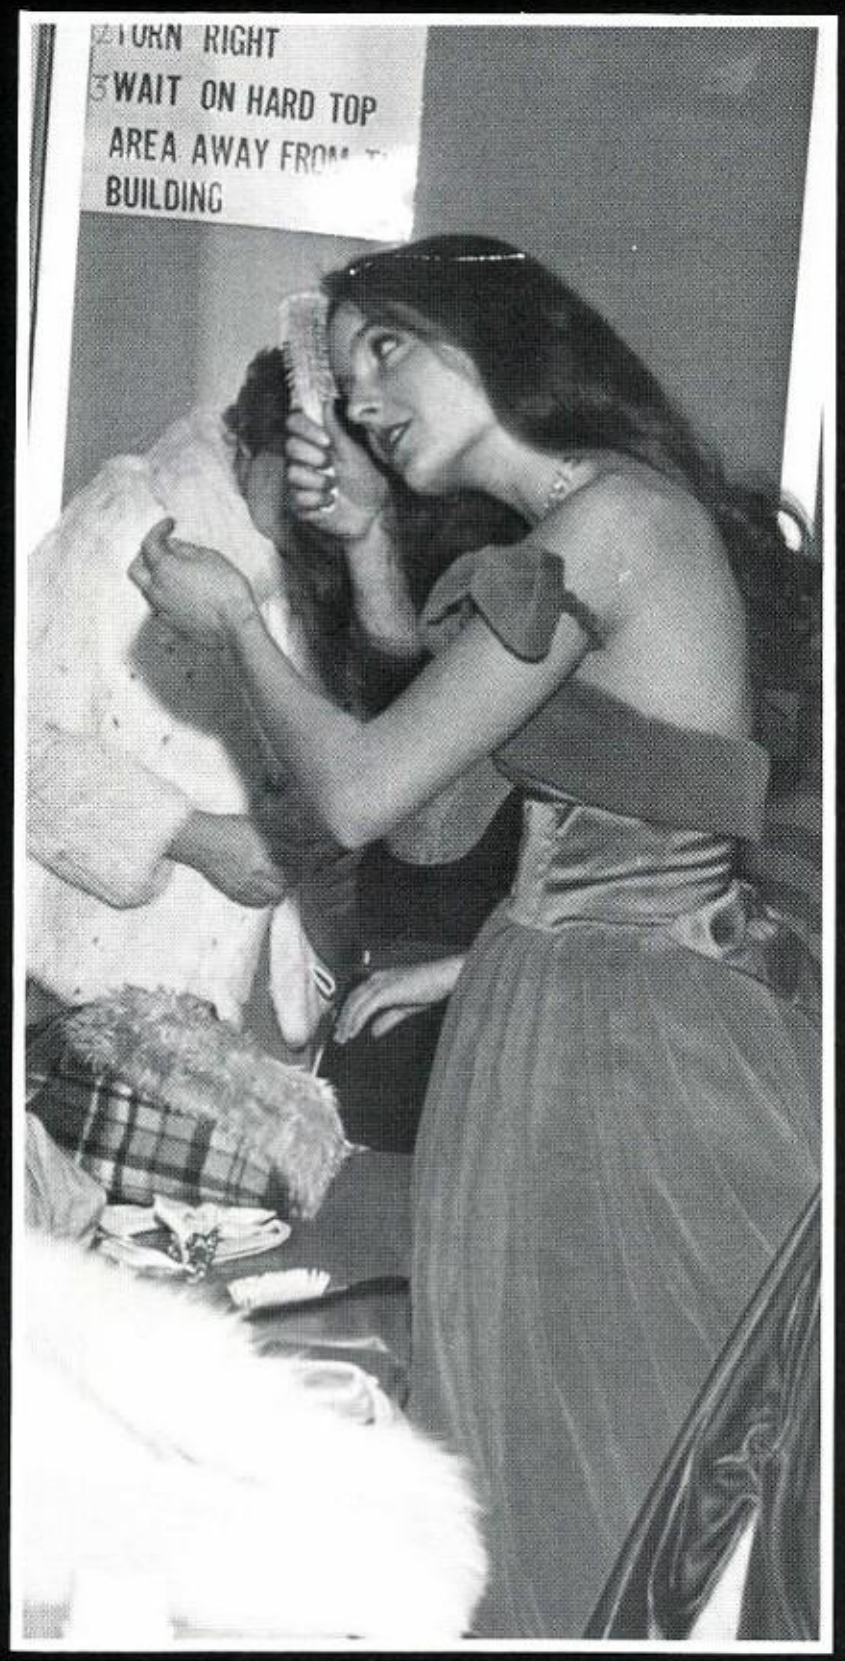
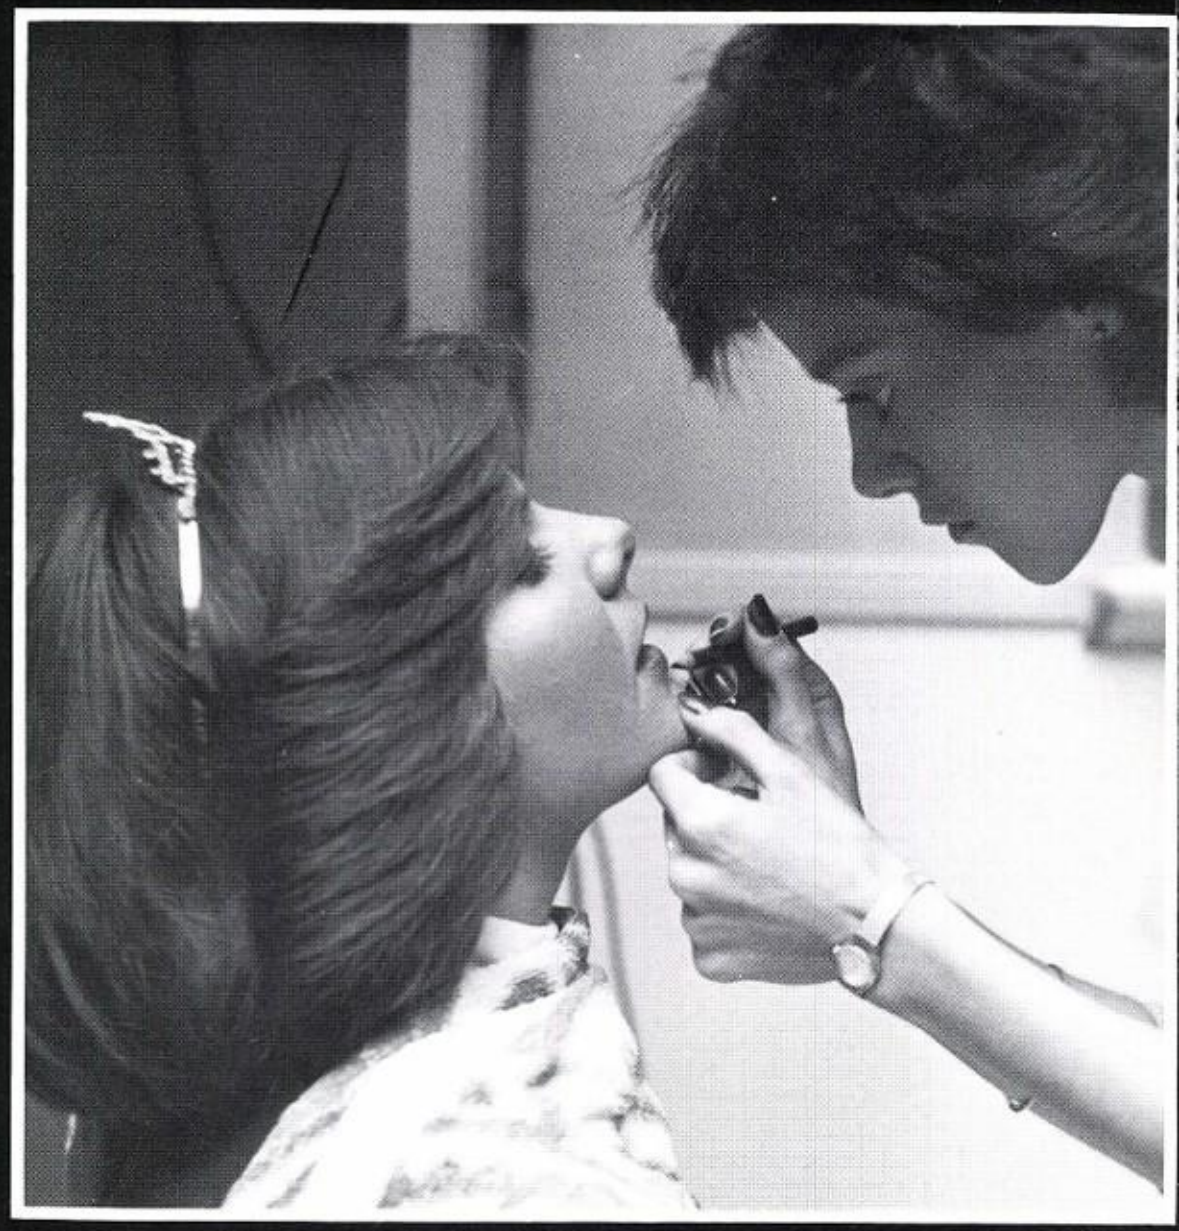
CARNIVAL BALL

The 1982 Winter Carnival Ball was a breathtaking array of elegance and amusement that captivated the audience for an evening of magical entertainment.

The attendents were splendid, with their flawless faces, and perfect figures draped in fairytale gowns. Queen Christin Capone, simple but beautiful, and King Tom Cuilla, with the pomp and dignity of true nobility-together a truly majestic couple-all made up a grand an hypnotizing court, and a coronation comparable to nothing less than the Prince Charles and Lady Diana wedding.

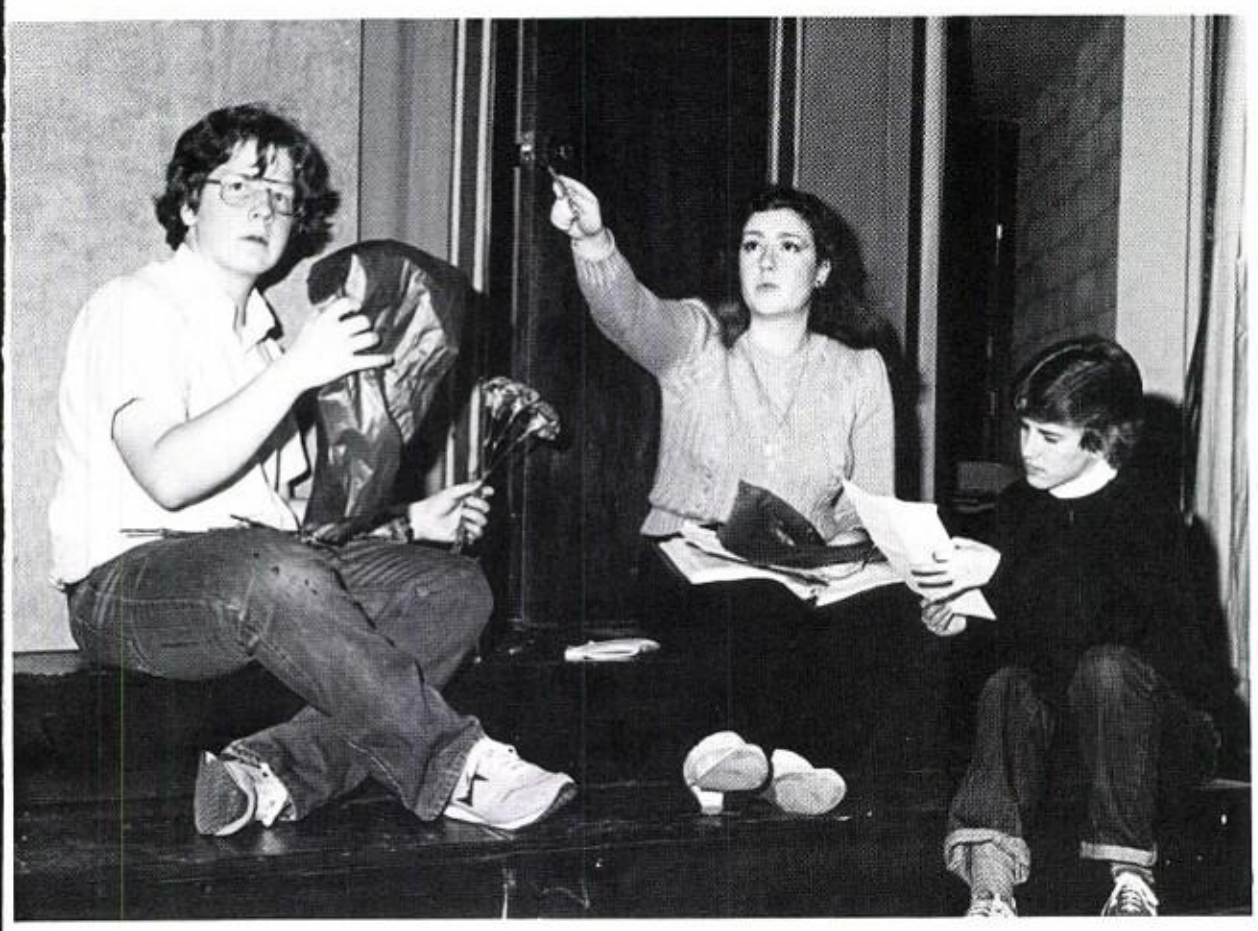
This illustrious court, as well as an entranced and enthusiastic audience, were entertained by a mesmerizing assortment of dance, music, and comdey.

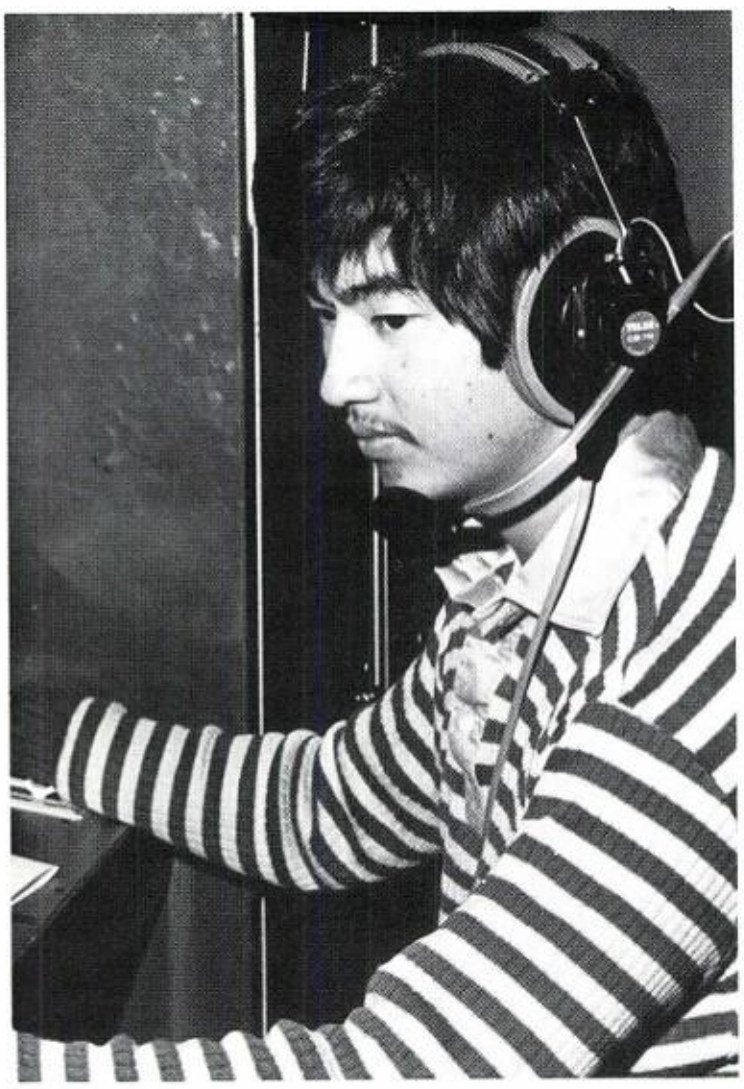




AT BAREFOOT

Few theatre-goers are able to appreciate the grueling work and long hours put in by technical and stage crews. "Actors are cattle!" said a famous Hollywood director once, and yet actors in most productions are the only people who take bows and hear applause. Costume design, makeup, set construction, and lighting require as much creativity as acting and are key to the success of any show. Clockwise, from left: Robin Compton applies base makeup; the crew and case of Barefoot in the Park together after the curtain fell/ seated on couch- Stage manager N. Nicholson, R. Compton, J. Ledwith/ second row-P. Ward, J. Coutu, T. Smith, C. Rizzo, T. Guilfoyle, R. Buckley, S. Wade, S. Kilroy, K. Sutherland, L. Rizzo/ third row- Technical director K. Fung, Director P. Mucica, E. Christie, K. Lawton, Assistant director D. Ledwith; Ken Fung at the dimmer board; Stage manager Noreen Nicholson directs her crew.





AT PARADISE THEATRE

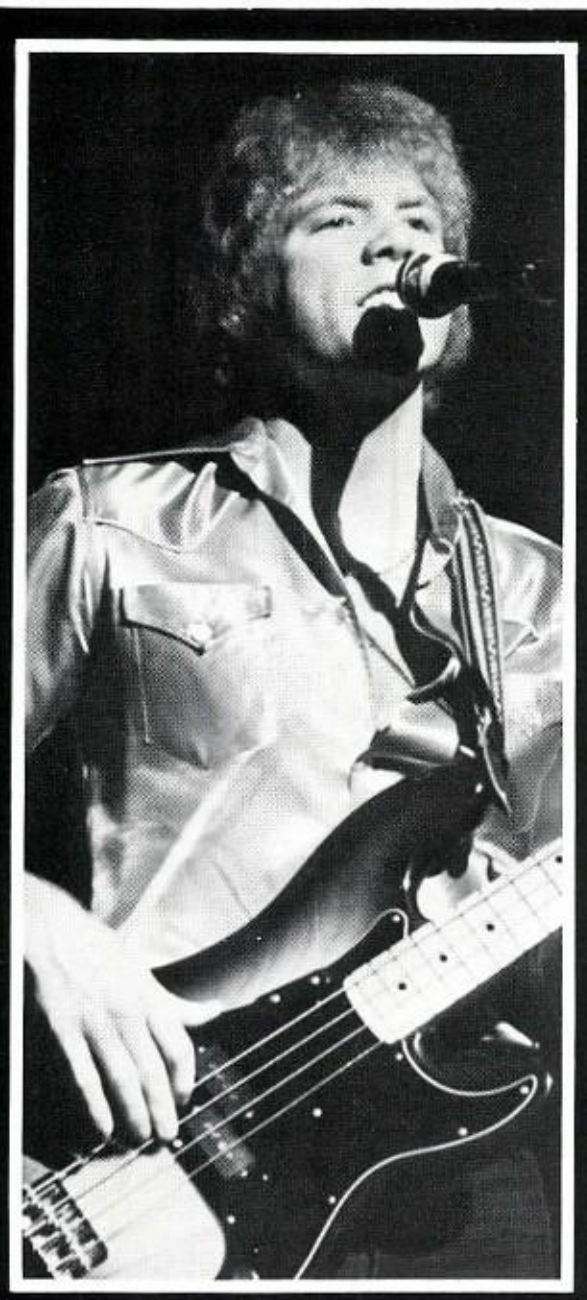
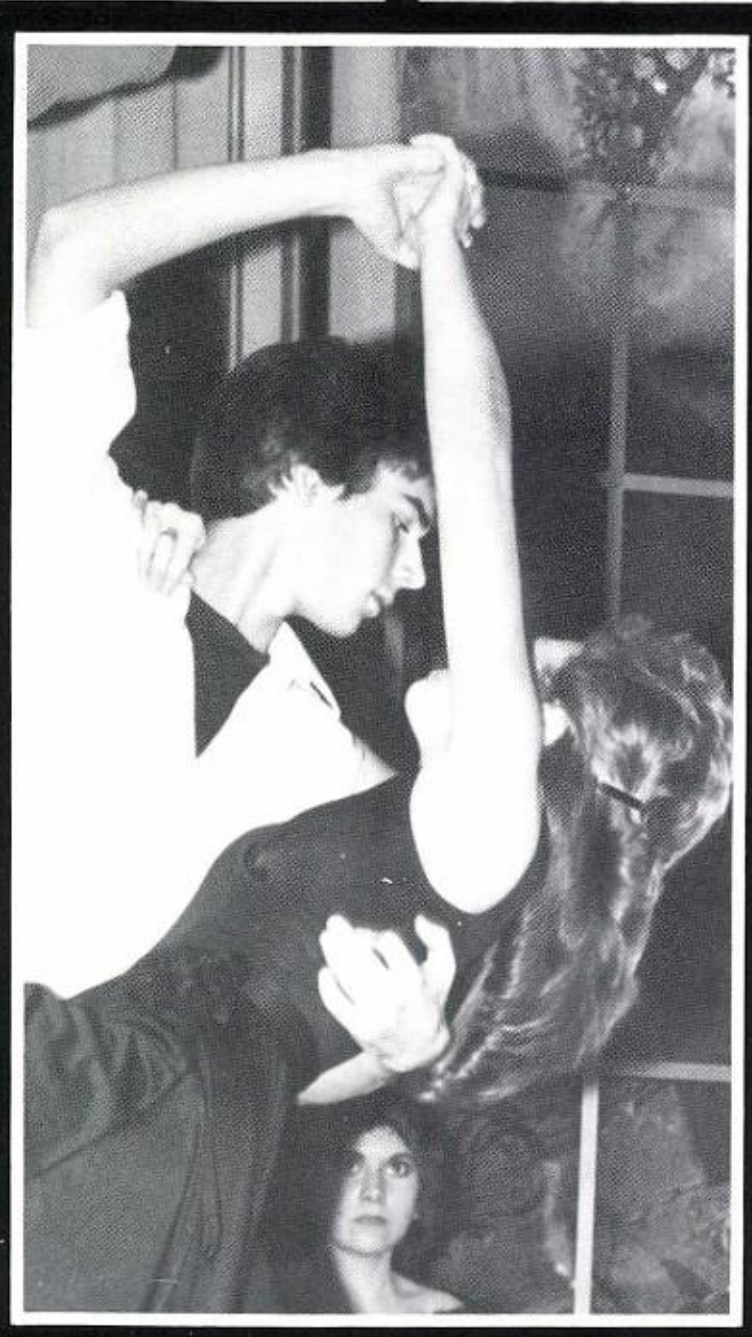
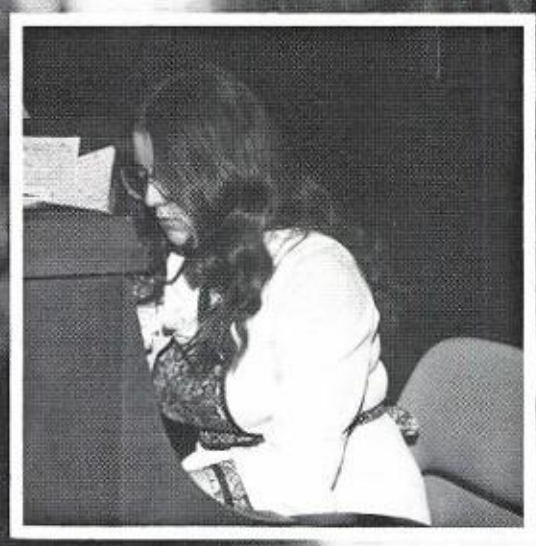
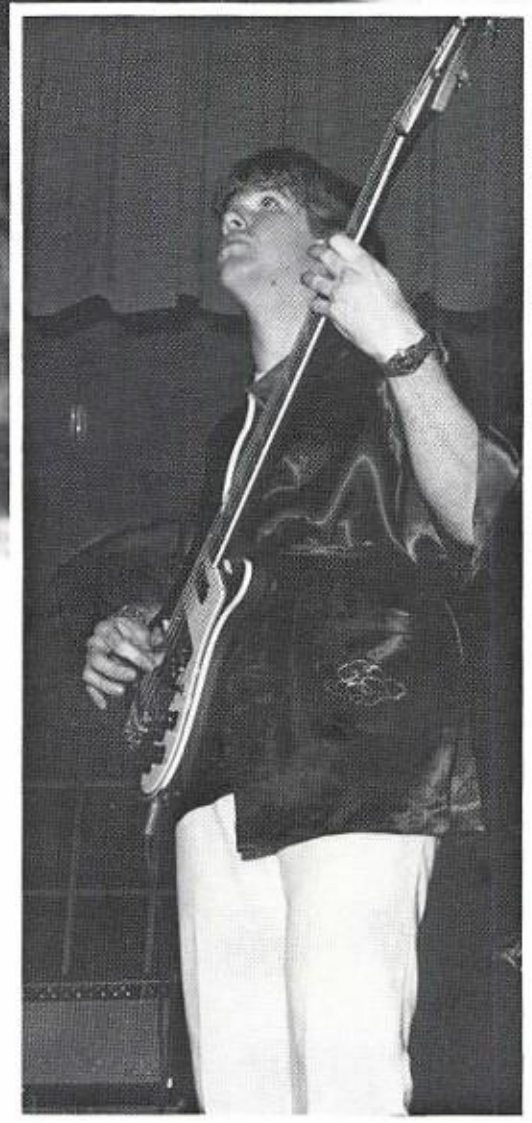
clockwise - The entertaining Mistresses of Ceremonies - Cathy Danico and Noreen Nicholson / Miss DiMattia receives a gift of gratitude for all her hard work / The Spartan Chorale swings to "42nd Street" / Mr. Frank Abrahams leading in the entertainment.

Clockwise; Kelly Young is back again, this time with the vamping "Funny Girl"; Lindsey Stillinger singing "Someone else's eyes"; John Ledwith and Carolyn Muller do an original dance to "American in Paris"; Mike Maceachern telling the audience "It ain't nothing but a party!": More of the Crusaders with "House Party"









Clockwise- The agile and talented Anna Marie Ciamarra [illegible] the ballet "Waltz of the flowers" [illegible] of Maiden [illegible] ders about his act; John [illegible] of Maiden [illegible] e keyboard; Dave Pease [illegible] other Doug [illegible] Tim Guilfoyle and Karen Ro[illegible] r piano duet "Bra[illegible]

Clockwise- Two of our most devoted members of the Jazz Ensemble Jennifer Granfield on the French Horn and Peter Tatian on the Trombone. Janine Coutu, a budding star sings "Out Here on my Own". Diane Mcgurin accompanied several acts with her talent on the piano. Elena Reis, Stoneham's renowned flutist' and Diana Doran, also noted for her talent did a flute duet "Bouree". Noreen Nicholson shares in our appreciation for Mr. Silva's hard work.

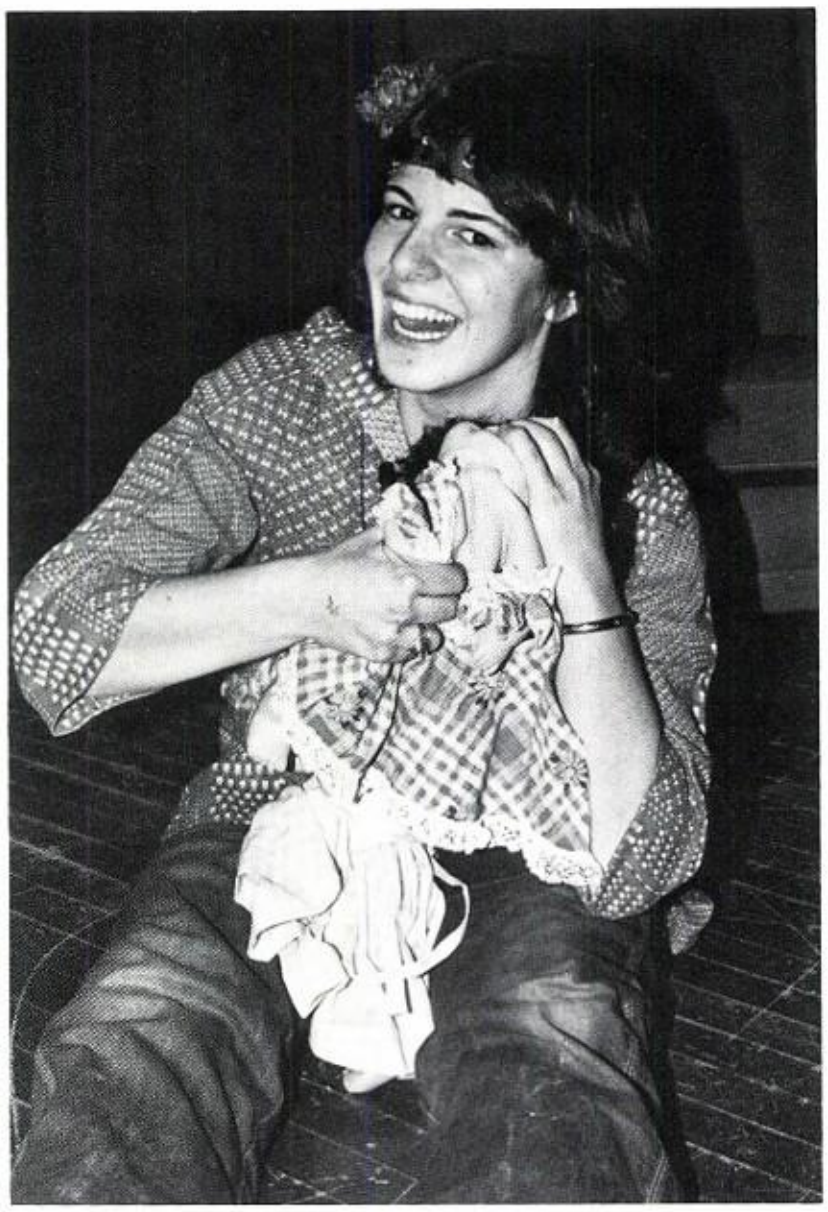
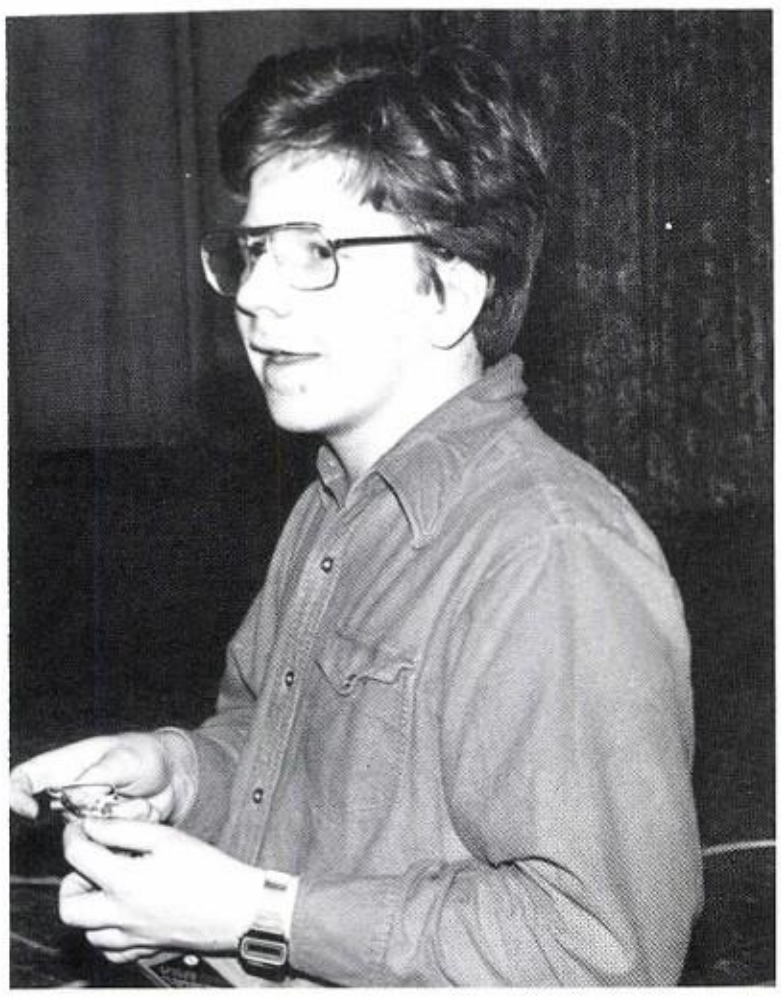
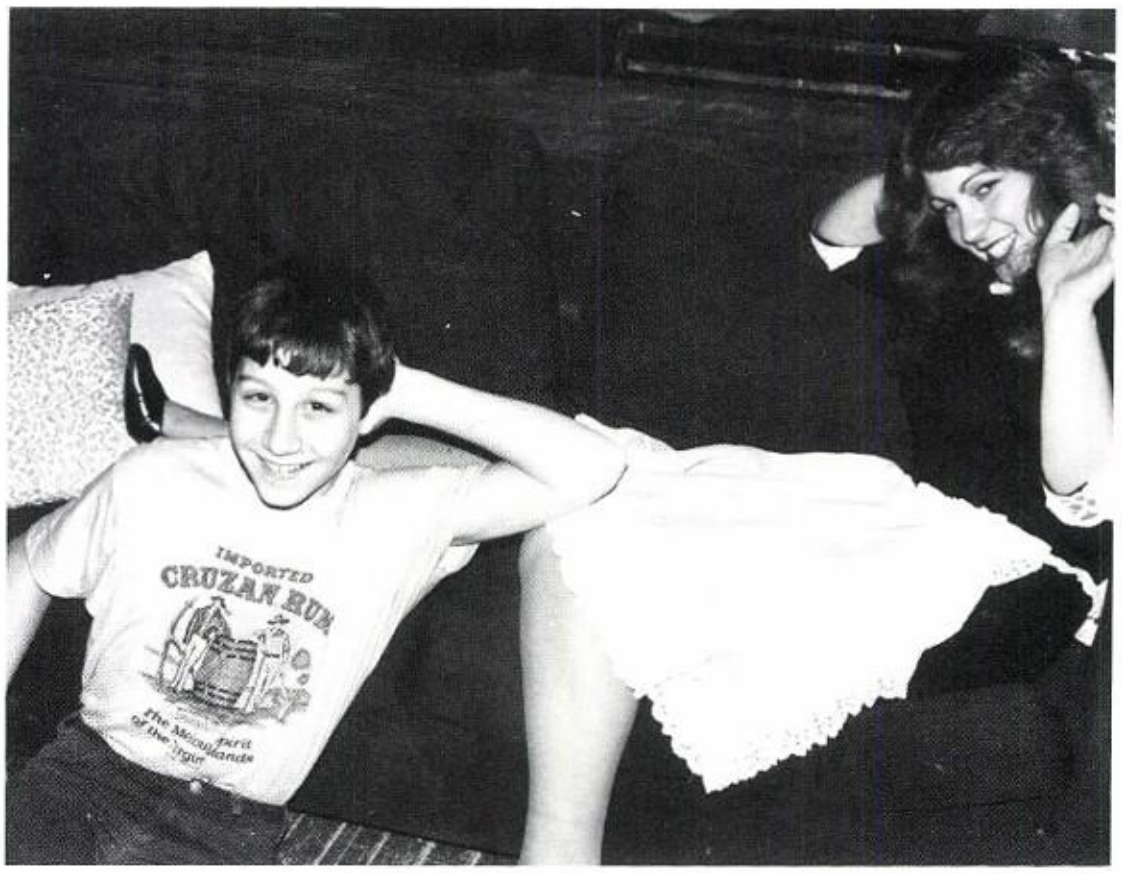
HOME AT SIX: Festival Play

Director Mucica feeling pressured.

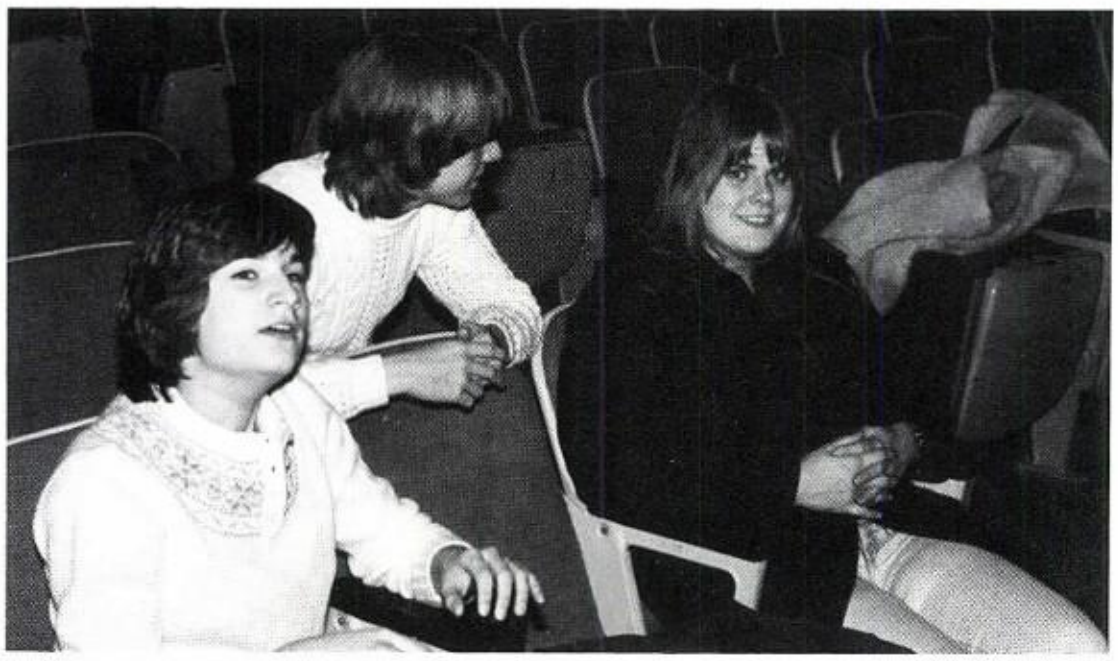


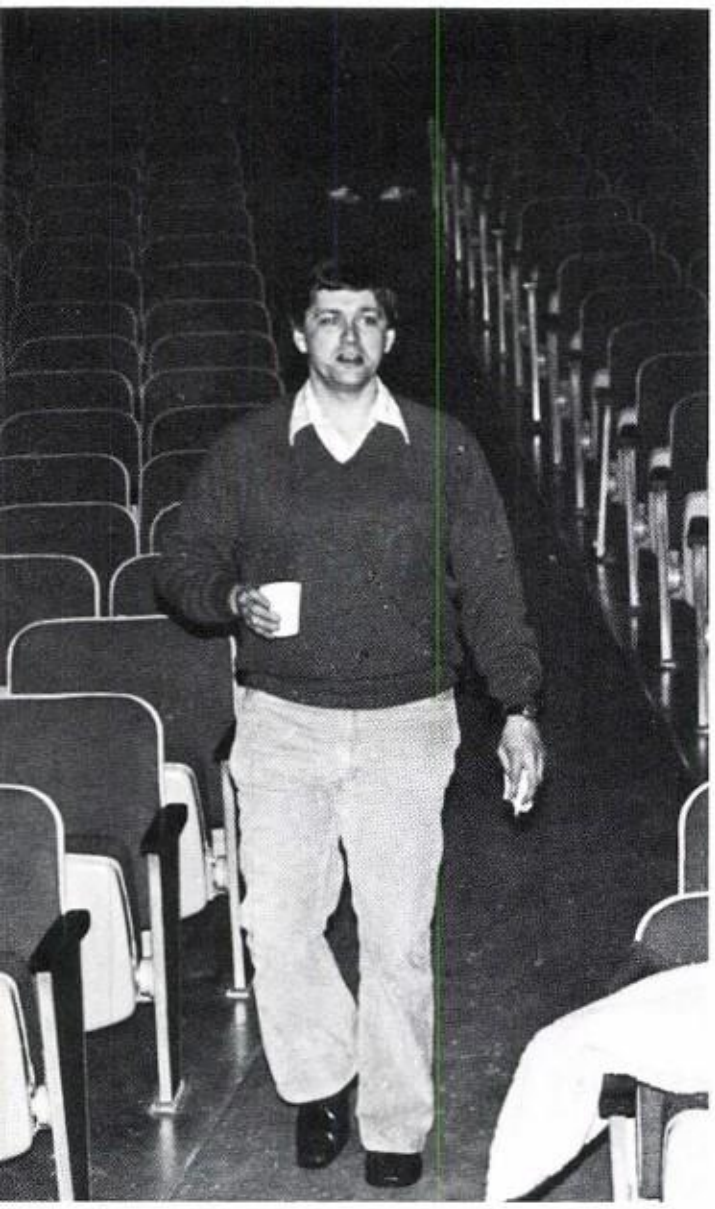
Marge in a distructive moment.





Tim, the teenage alchoholic, cavorts with Maude the maid





Home at Six, Stoneham High's entry into the 1982 Boston Globe Drama Festival, was as bizarre as any other one-act play directed by Mr. Paul Mucica, who has staged plays dealing with subjects as diverse and strange as men falling in love with monkeys and the sordid affairs of salivating deaf-mutes. Home at Six penetrates to the rotten core of life in suburban America and testifies to the moral and ethical bankruptcy of our times. When Dad (Richard Luti) comes home early one afternoon, he catches his family unawares and is shocked by what he witnesses in his own livingroom. His beloved son Tim (Charles Rizzo) is a pre-pubescent alcoholic; his cute daughter Marge (Hope Misail) plays with matches and burns wax dolls and old barns. His mother (Jeannie Ferullo) is an eighty-year-old coke fiend, his wife Kit (Robin Compton) has been sleeping with his best friend Bob (Michael Small) and his buxom housekeeper Maude (Jody Day) is a closet kleptomaniac. Dad cannot believe what he sees, what goes on at home each day while he works at the hardware store. Home at Six is at once a comic and tragic insight into the heart of darkness which beats beneath the innocent surface of life in the suburbs. Cast members Robin Compton and Charles Rizzo received awards at the festival for their superb performances.

STUDENT UNIONS . . .

DECA

The DECA students and club combined hard work and knowledge in the business world to open their own store right in the cafeteria this year. Led by Mr. Flanagan, with the helpful hard work of Mrs. Marks who was plucked from behind the desk at the head of a classroom, and cast behind a cashregister to become the official DECA woman, this business venture, the first one to most students involved, was very successful.

INTERACT CLUB

Students involved with the interact club are involved in community service efforts and are always striving to help out the community when it is in need. Mr. Steven Conroy is the advisor of this fine club, which has been actively involved in the Lynn fire tragedy, the earthquake in Italy, the assination attempt on Pope John Paul II, Toys for Tots, as well as much more.

SPARTANEWS

Every so often, the Journalism class, headed by Mr. Kevin Conroy, publishes an issue of SpartaNews, the school newspaper that is one of the main methods of student expression. When published, SpartaNews is a very interesting, informative, and entertaining collection of the current news, students' editorials, and the latest gossip.

TRAVEL CLUB

It's "Off to Bermuda" every spring for the lucky students involved in the Travel Club. The Travel Club offers a unique learning experience for students who wish to see the world, and also a low cost opportunity for students to go abroad on such a venture with the supervision of school administrators and the company of friends.

SEEDS

Stoneham High School's Literary Art Magazine is an opportunity for creative students to express themselves, and for other students to publish their artwork, photography, and essays. Miss Norelli leads in the publication of Seeds, which is something to look forward to every spring.

SKI CLUB

For many students, Mr. Howard Dimmick and the Ski Club have been a very important aspect of their High School years. Students involved in the Ski Club go on week-end ski trips, hold dances, banquets, and even go on week long ski trips.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year, the Student council has become more actively involved in student government than ever, and it's members are dedicated to making school life much more interesting and educational. Student Council members have become involved in activities such as Globe Santacollections, Carnation Day, student elections, and many others. Thanks to Mr. Mulvihill, the Student Council advisor, the Student Council has helped school life to run much more smoothly.

DRAMA CLUB-The Drama Club, led by Mr. Paul Mucica, is a way for students to reveal acting ability, as well as a way to get involved in what goes on behind the scenes. The Senior Class Play, the Drama Festival, set designs, and stage make-up are just some of the aspects in theatre life which Drama Club students become involved.

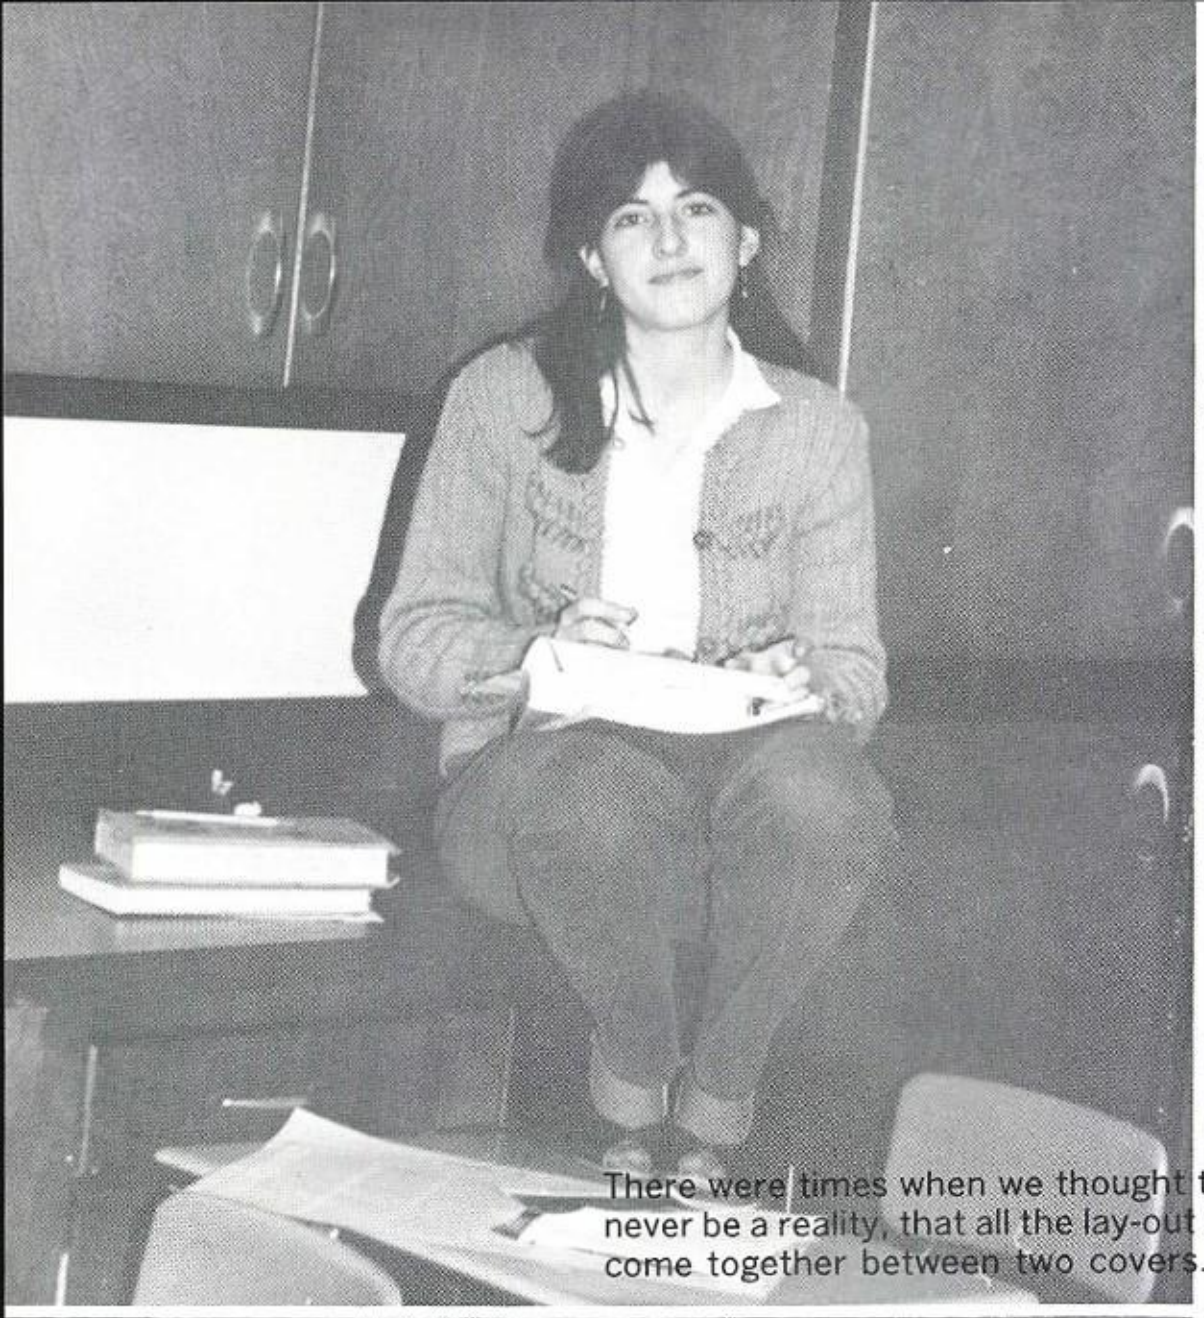
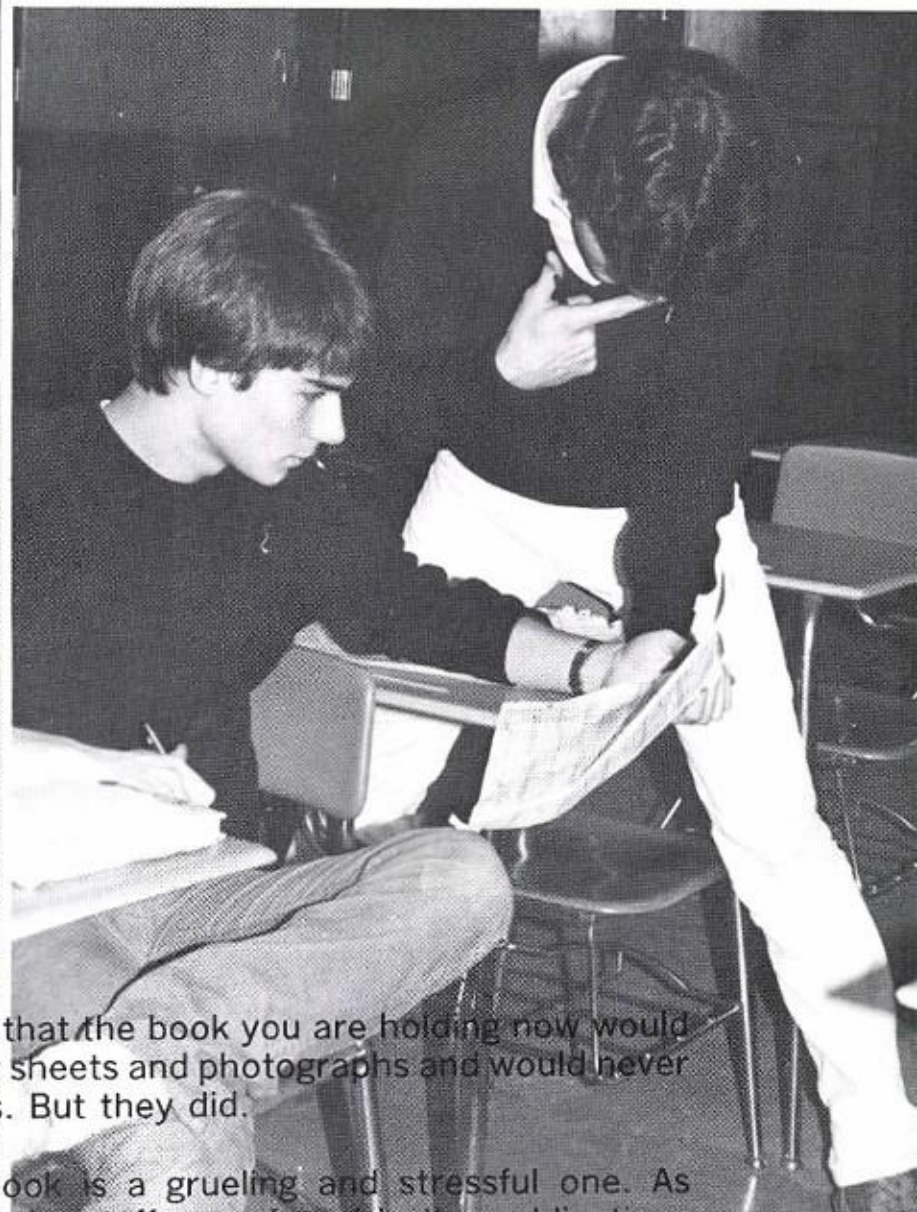
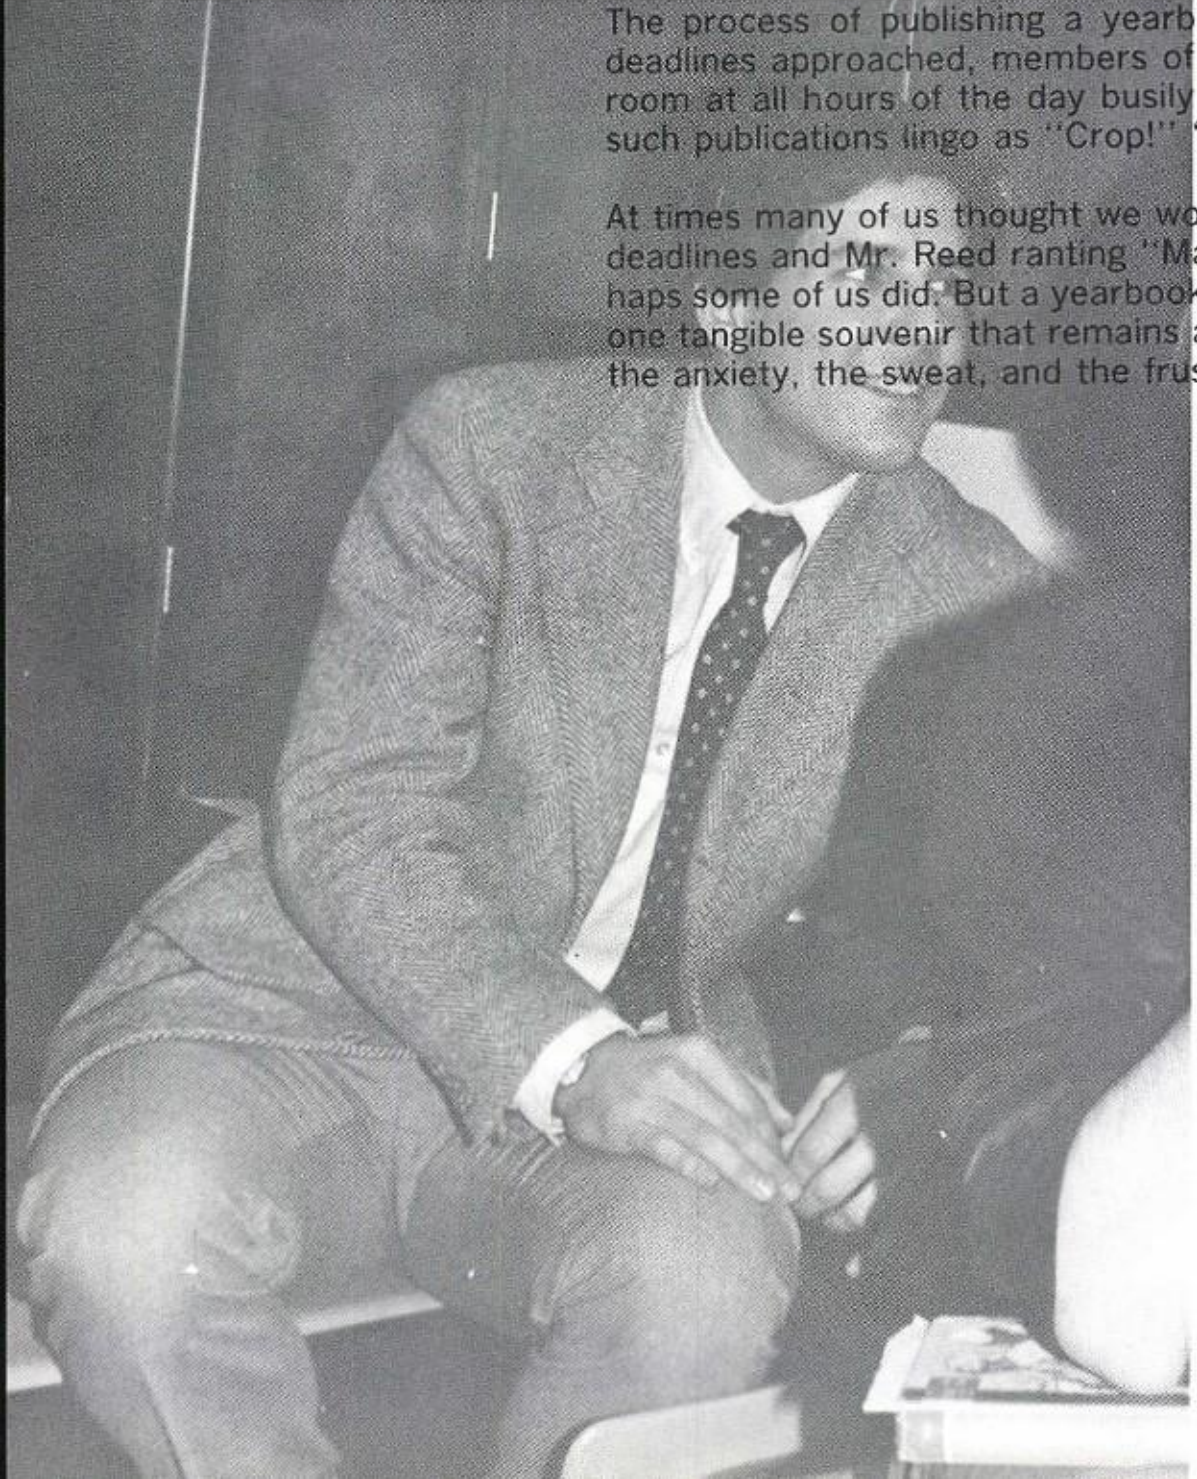
WHERE CREDIT



There were times when we thought that the book you are holding now would never be a reality, that all the lay-out sheets and photographs and would never come together between two covers. But they did.



The process of publishing a yearbook is a grueling and stressful one. As deadlines approached, members of the staff were found in the publications room at all hours of the day busily cropping pictures, editing, and babbling such publications lingo as "Crop!" "Ghost!", "Mortice!", and "Hickey!".



At times many of us thought we would crack under the pressure of pending deadlines and Mr. Reed ranting "Maintain equal interior margins!", and perhaps some of us did. But a yearbook is an enduring piece of work, usually the one tangible souvenir that remains as the years pass, and is therefore worth the anxiety, the sweat, and the frustration.

SINGING FOR THEIR SUPPER

In the wake of Proposition 2 ½, many school organizations scrambled to raise funds which normally would have been provided for them in the school budget. Jewelry drives, candy sales, raffles, and carnation days were but a few of the methods used to raise money. The Spartan Chorale raised cash for their spring exchange trip by holding a spaghetti dinner and serenading the mobs of people who descended on the Marconi Club one night to eat ziti and meatballs.

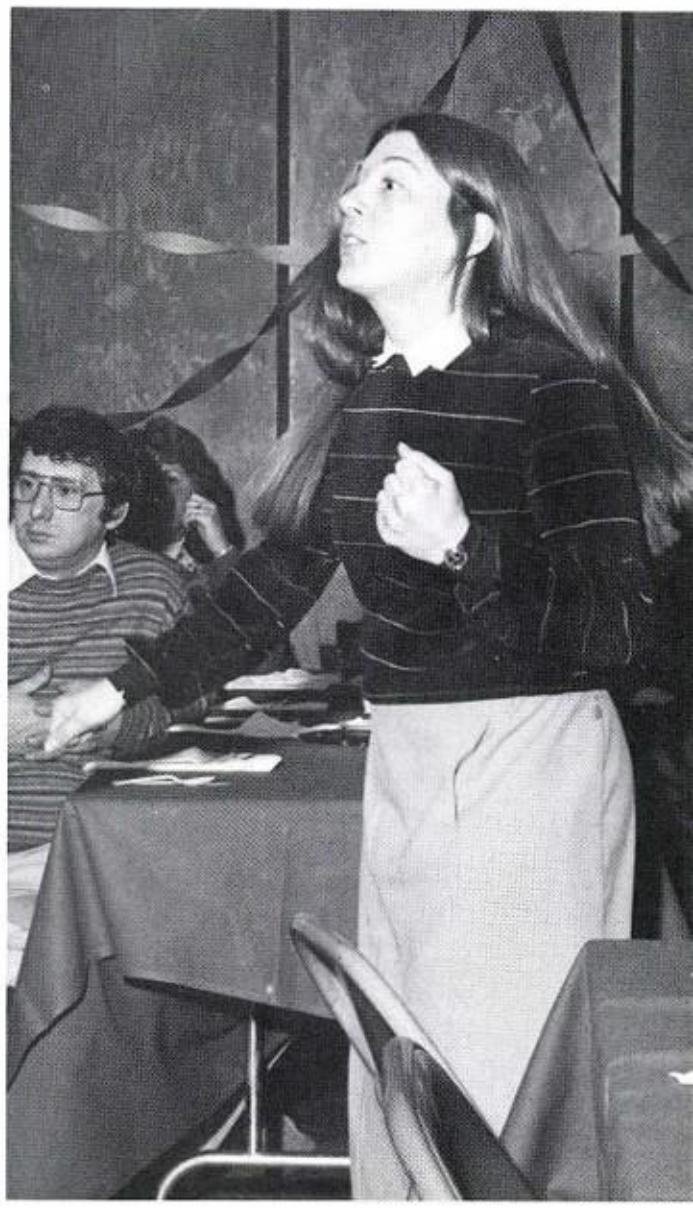
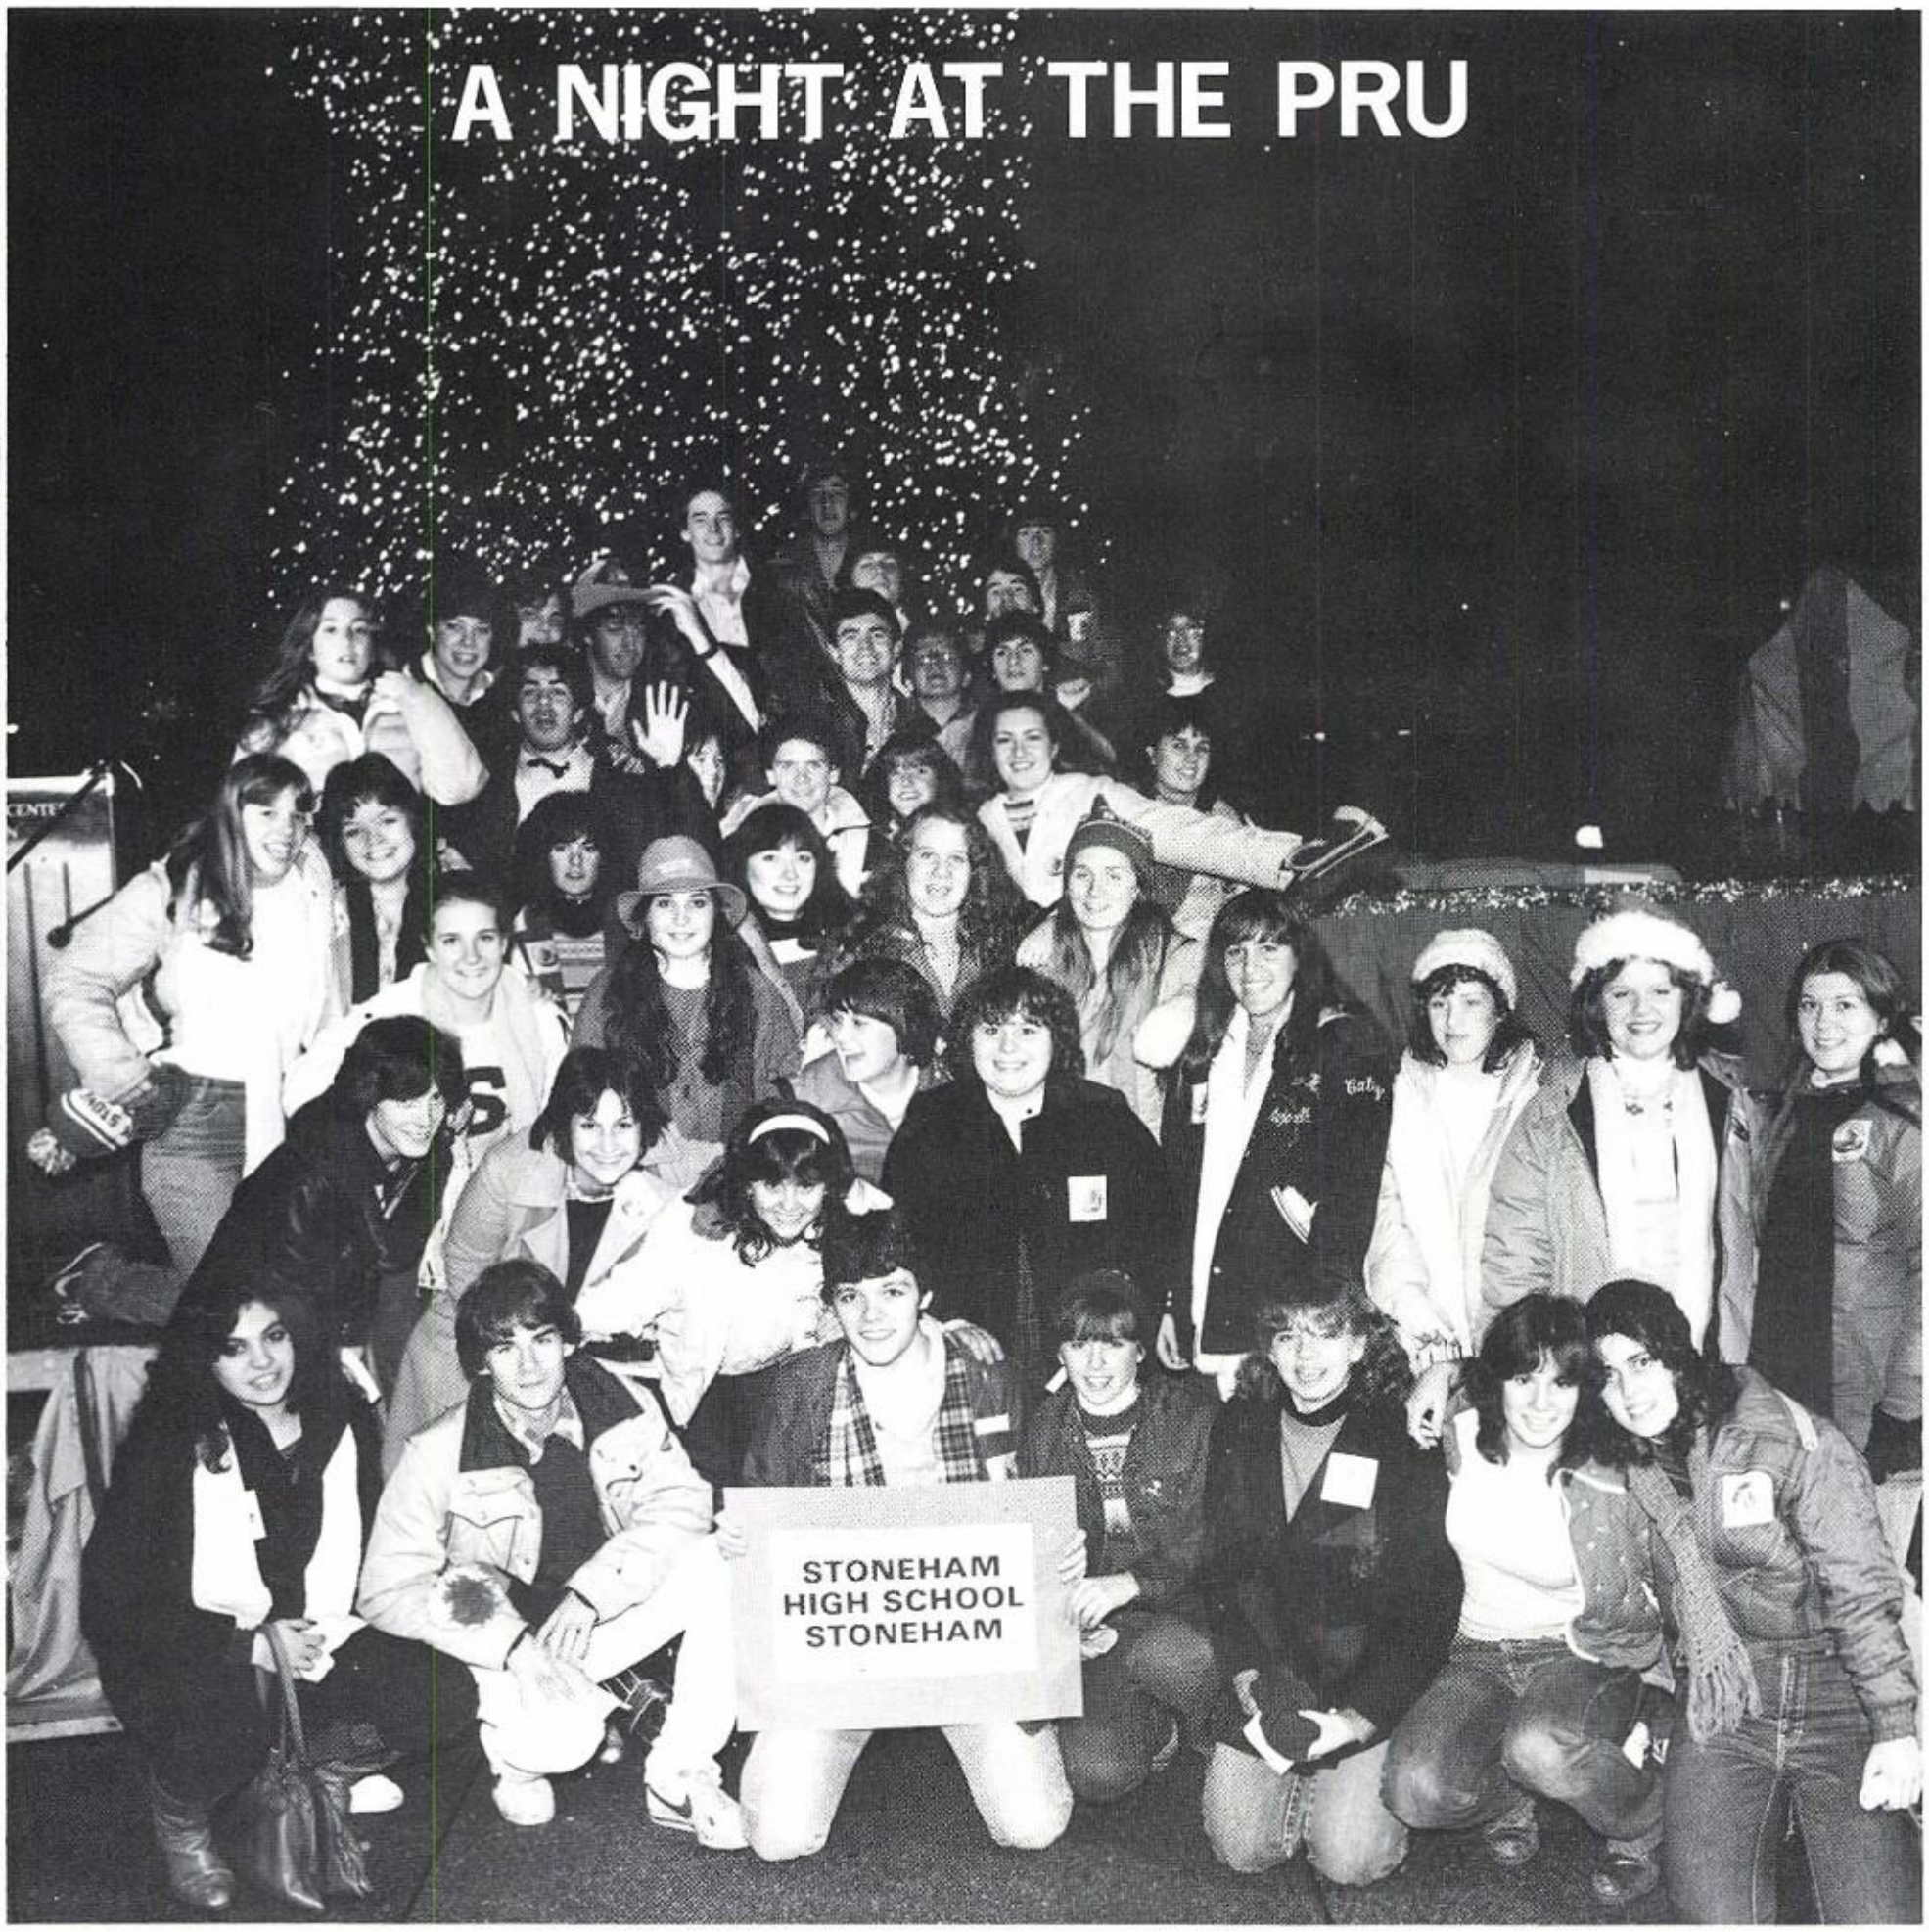
MOVING ON

Mrs. Karen Livingston, a talented and dynamic musician as well as a warm and sensitive person, left Stoneham High School at the middle of the year to begin a new life in Texas. Students of music in Stoneham were lucky to have the opportunity to learn from Mrs. Livingston, who made many valuable contributions to the arts at Stoneham High School.



A NIGHT AT THE PRU



On December 13 the Stoneham High School Spartan Chorale joined hundreds of others at the Prudential Center to welcome the holiday season. Spartan Chorale started the tradition of singing Christmas carols at the lighting of the tree ceremony many years ago and it has become one of the most enjoyed events of the year. Here the Spartan Chorale under the direction of Karen Livingston is pictured under the illuminated tree.

FOOTBALL "Pride"

PRIDE

The 1981 Stoneham High football season was a great disappointment. The Spartans came extremely close in many games, losing to opponents by only a few points- often due to bad breaks.

Although the team's hard work has not seemed to pay off, the Stoneham High Football Team will never quit. They have discovered pride in themselves. The Spartans held their heads high and firmly persevered in their hard work, during the most difficult of times. And finally, even though the Stoneham Spartans did not have a winning record, they can be proud of the loyalty, respect, and friendship that they showed for one another. In the final analysis, this contributes more to the values of life than wins and losses.

VOLLEYBALL

Goes To The States . . . .

The 1981 Volleyball Team had it's best season ever, with a 10-6 record and a second place finish in their league. The teams consistent defensive and offensive strength even earned them a state tournament position.

Captain Chris Capone, Kathy Cargill, and Jeanne Smallcomb provided the middle blocks, while Patty Bryant, Cindi Smith, Judy Walles, and Meg Gebhard added powerful hits.

The agility of setters Robin Lusardi, Diana Doucette, and Jean Fallon was also a great asset to the team, and Pam Gagliardi and Diana Covino supplied the extra energy to keep the Spartans alive.

Thanks to Coach Richard Burton, Nadine Reinold, and the perseverence of the players, the 1981 Volleyball season was a tri-

FIELD HOCKEY: "Yaaa Ba!"

The 1981 Field Hockey Team consisted of a dedicated and hardworking group of girls who thought "field hockey" at all times. The team generated the desire to win, and played as a close-nit unit; which attributed to many successful moments.

The team's "Regina Power" carried them to a 5-7-5 season a season sparked by many accomplishments and achievements of which they should be immensely proud.

Sue Powers, Anne Gillespie, and Marie Maffeo sparkled on the field, and were the team's top scorers. Liz Wood had an outstanding season in the net, saving 93% of the shots on goal. And, as a result of this exceptional teamwork, the team collected six shutouts throughout the season.

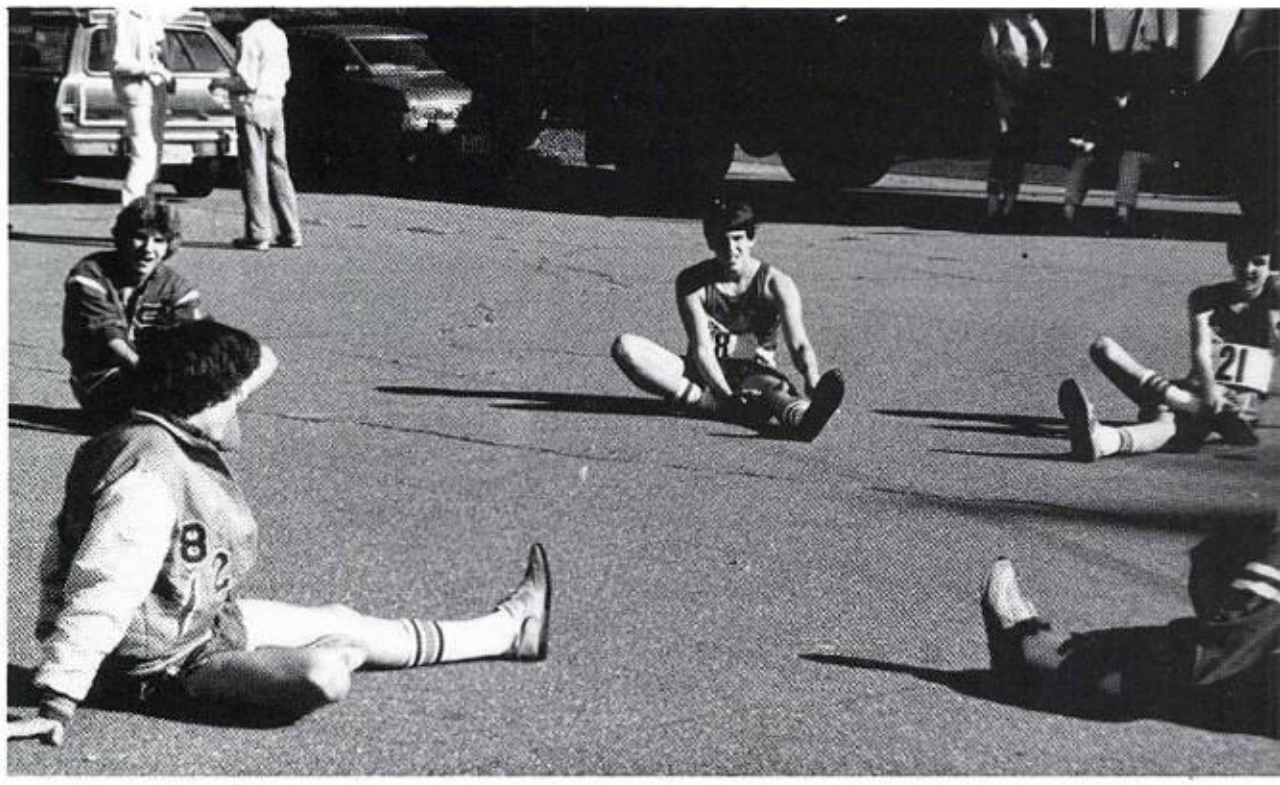
CROSS COUNTRY

Getting Better All The Time



The 1981 cross country team was the most successful one in two years with a record of 3-5-1. Considered the underdogs of the league, this dedicated group of atheletes astonished Lexington, Belmont, and Watertown. Despite their losing record, the Spartans represented their town with pride and dignity.

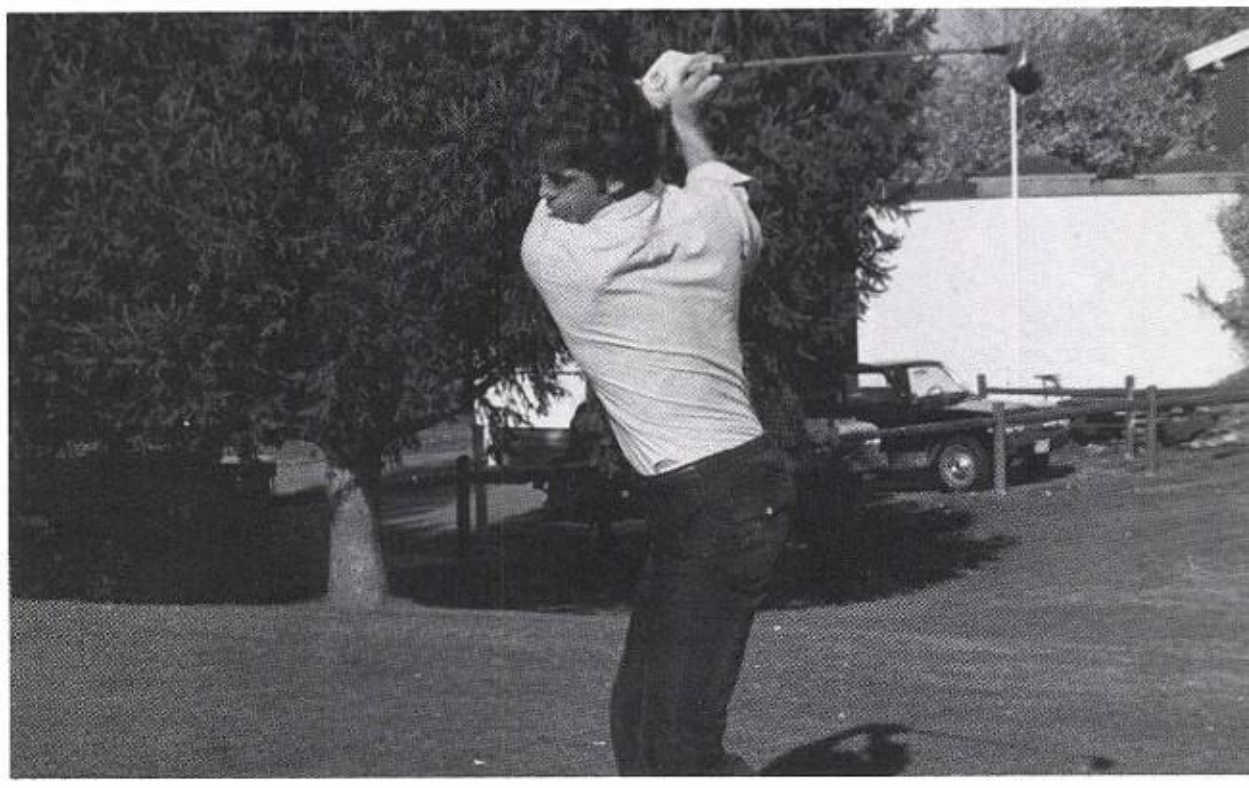
GOLF Tees Off



Despite the unpredicted record of 3-5-1 of the Stoneham High Golf Team, everyone put a valiant effort into playing the game of golf. This year, the golf team is one to remember since Andrea Howard was the first girl on the golf team ever.

SOCCER IS A Kick In The Grass . . .

The 1981 Varsity soccer team ended its season in fifth place with a record of 6-11-1. The record doesn't show the guts and determination displayed by this team. Under the coaching of Ed Russo the Spartans had a fine season of soccer. This is Mr. Russo's first year of coaching and he is already planning for next season. Seniors that were on the team include: Tri-captains Lonnie Davis, Stephen Long, and Steve Drew, Rick Armato, Matt Yardumium, Bob Tambourino, Wayne O'Keefe, David Galante, Bob Morris, Martin Tierney, and Bob Shannon. The team ended up on a four game winning streak that will carry on into next season. The 1981 varsity soccer team would like to wish the class of "82" Good Luck In The Future!

MAJORETTES

Keep'n In Step . . . . .

This year's majorette squad provided both support for the football team, and entertainment for the cheering spectators. With the leadership of Capt. Pam Stoddard, Lt. Michele Nottebart, and Lt. Chris DiMeco, the squad was able to perfect many difficult routines. The highlight of the majorette's season was the twirling of flaming batons at the Thanksgiving Day game, by Pam, Michele, and Chris. Other seniors who have concluded their second season on the squad are Mary Bears, Cathy Danico, and MaryJane Seaburg. Juniors on the squad include Tricia Carta and Jean Lundy; the one sophomore member is Doreen Ward. The success of the squad is credited to the dedication of its members.

CHEERLEADERS

A cheerleader is commonly characterized by her colorful uniform and always welcome smile. But there was more to the 1981 Fall cheerleading squad than shakers and saddle shoes. These girls displayed their Spartan pride with constant determination and support. The squad endured many long hours of practice to maintain rhythm and form. The girls also organized two very successful pep-rallys for the fall sports teams. Early Thanksgiving morning, the squad adorned the senior football players houses with streamers and vivid posters. All of the events, planned to raise the pep and spirit of the student body, represent long hours of work. Thank you girls for a job well done.

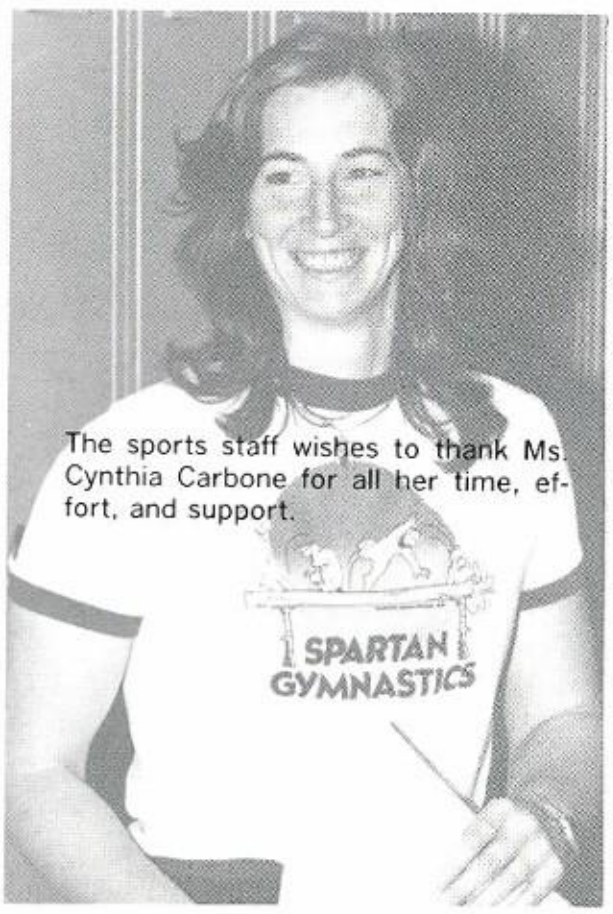
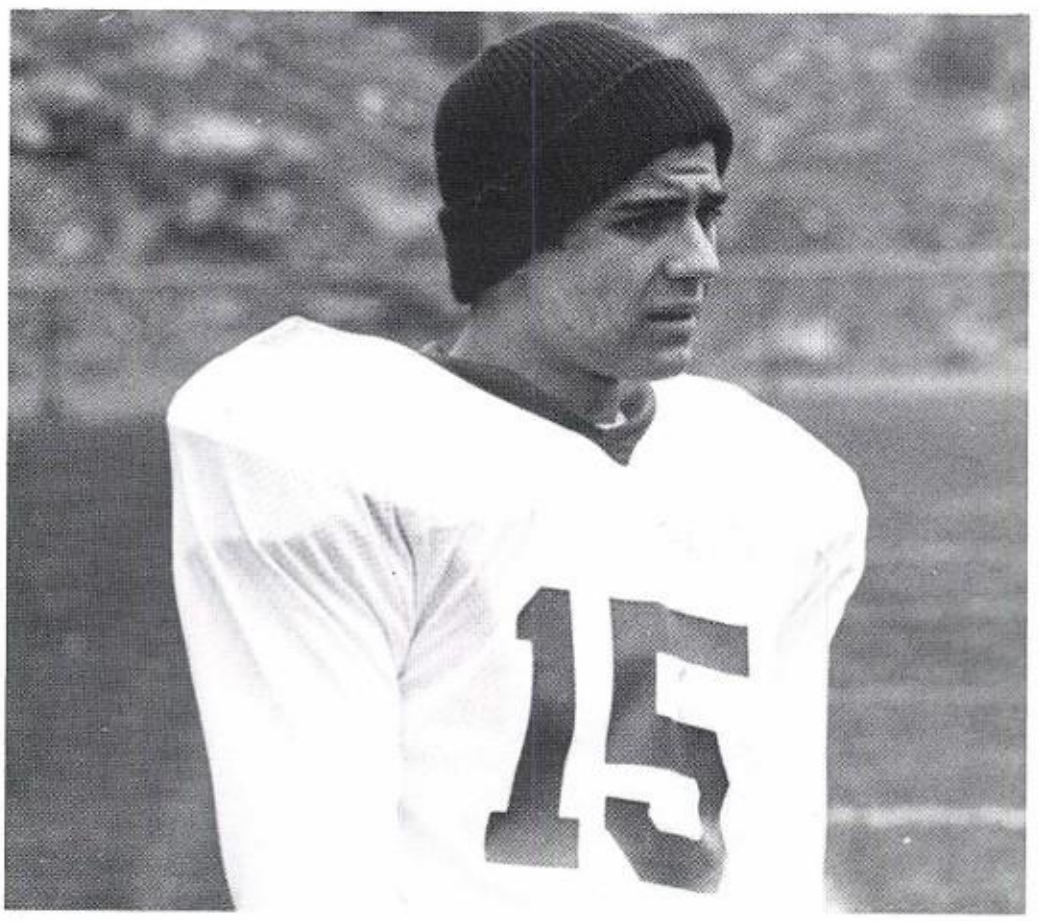
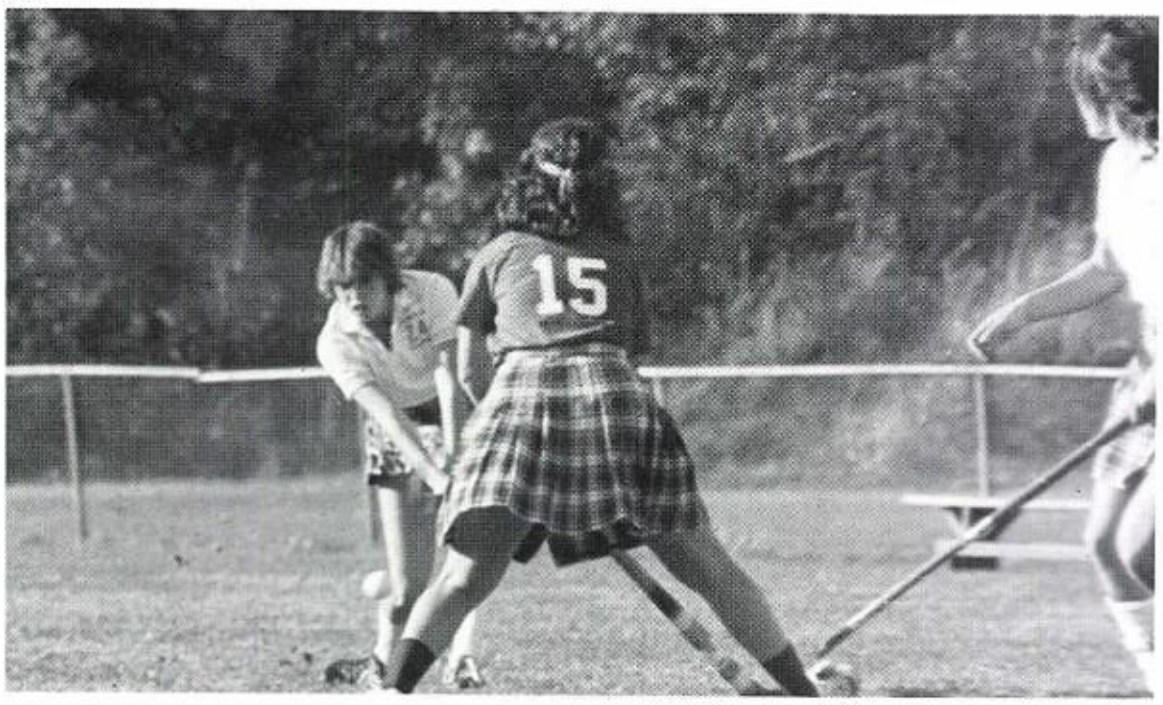
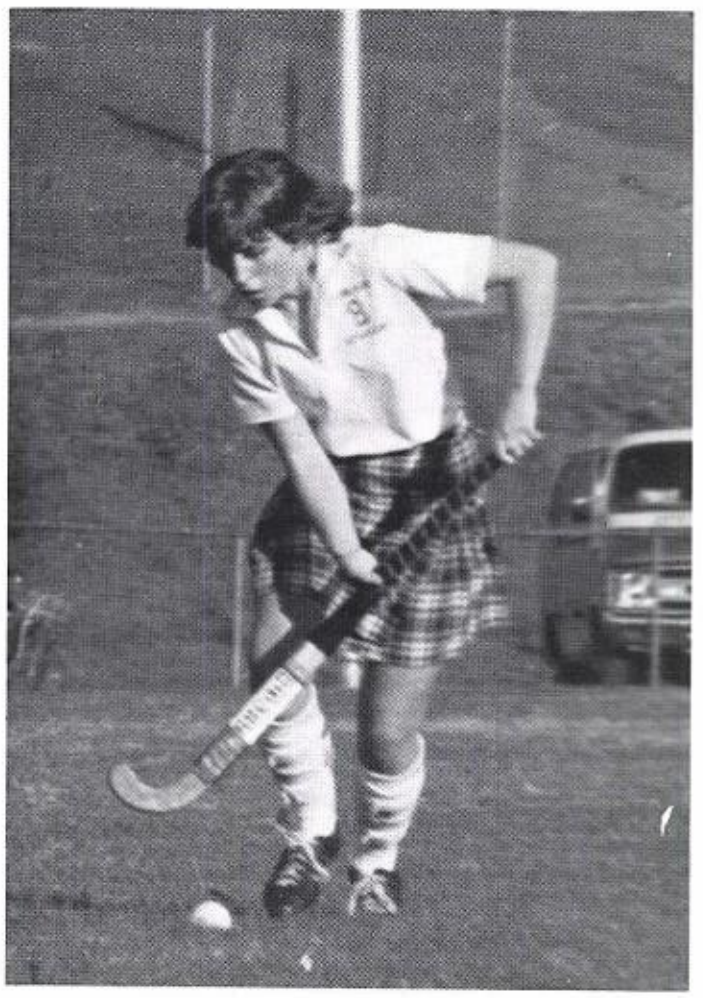
FALL



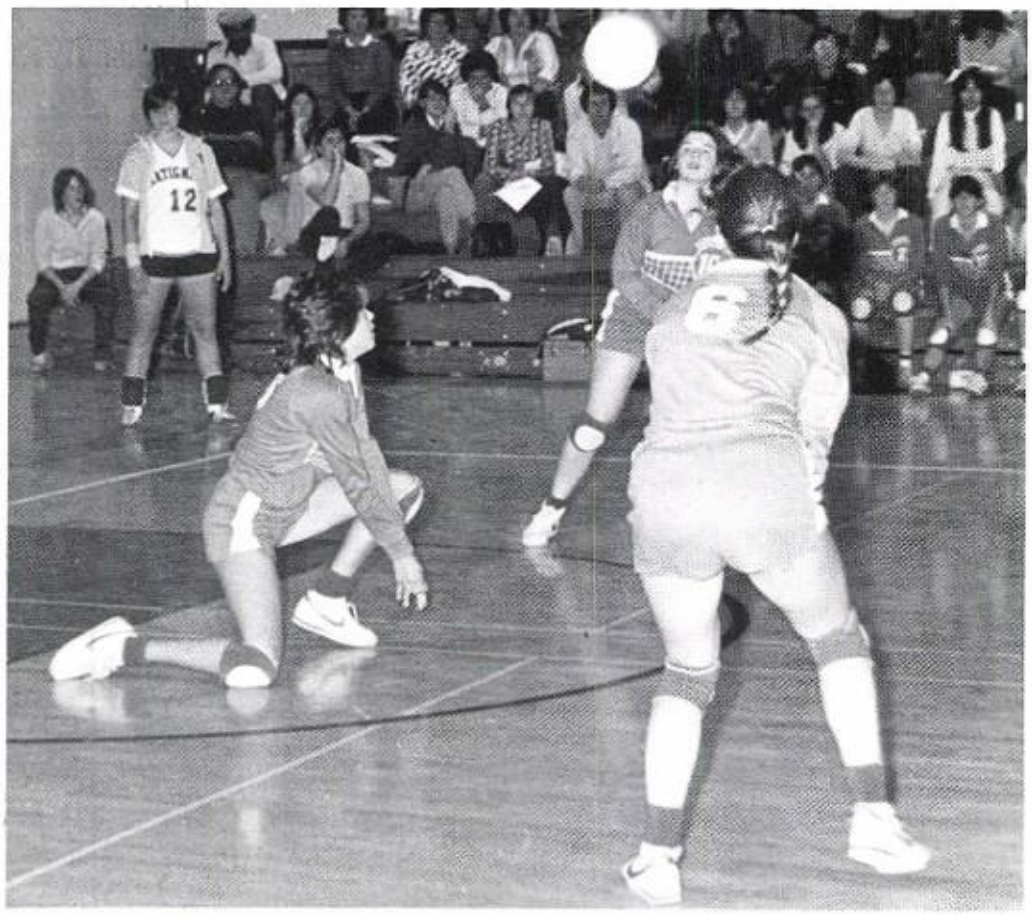
The sports staff wishes to thank Ms. Cynthia Carbone for all her time, effort, and support.

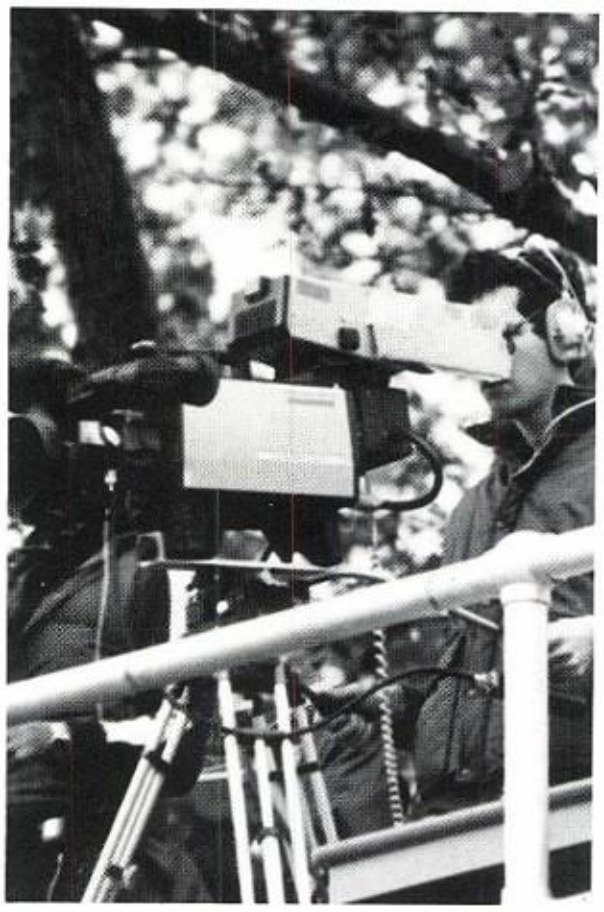






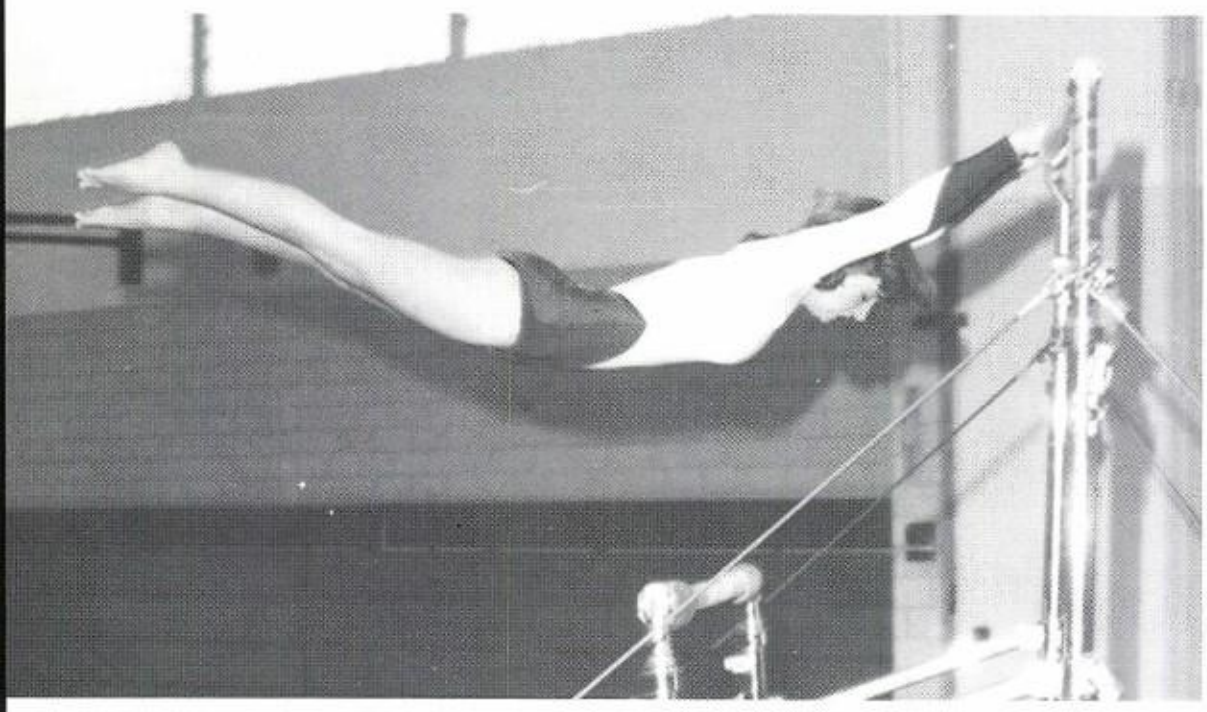
HIGHLIGHTS

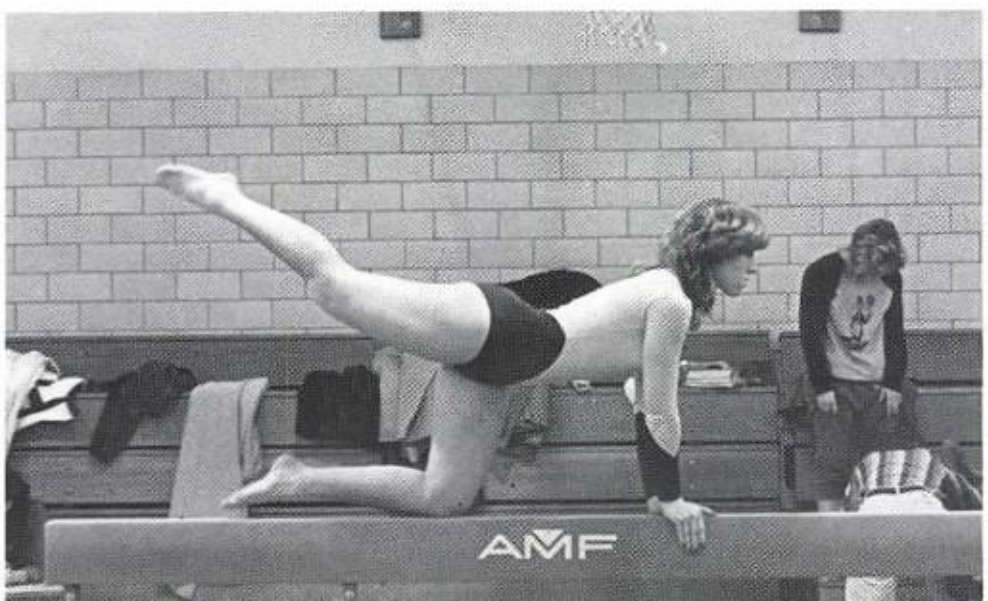


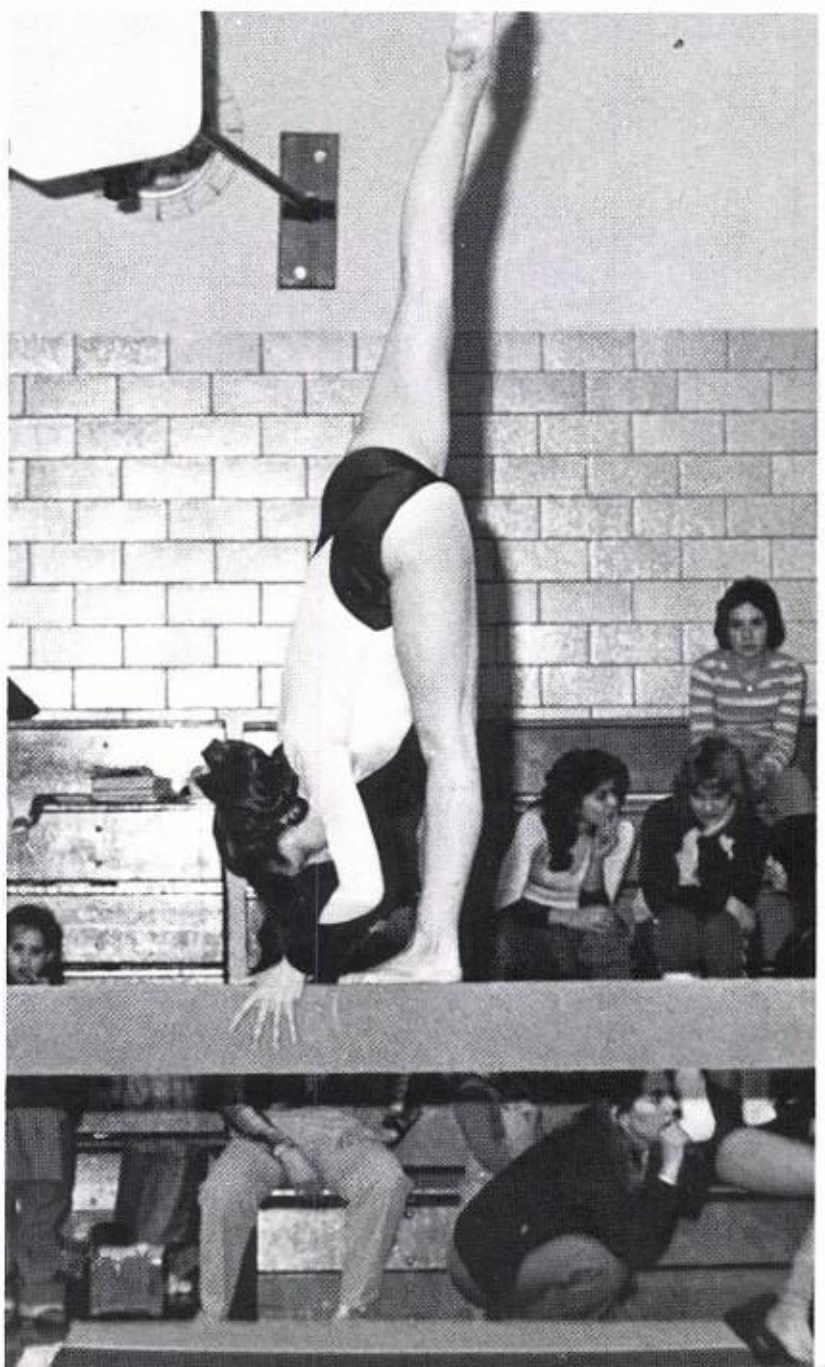


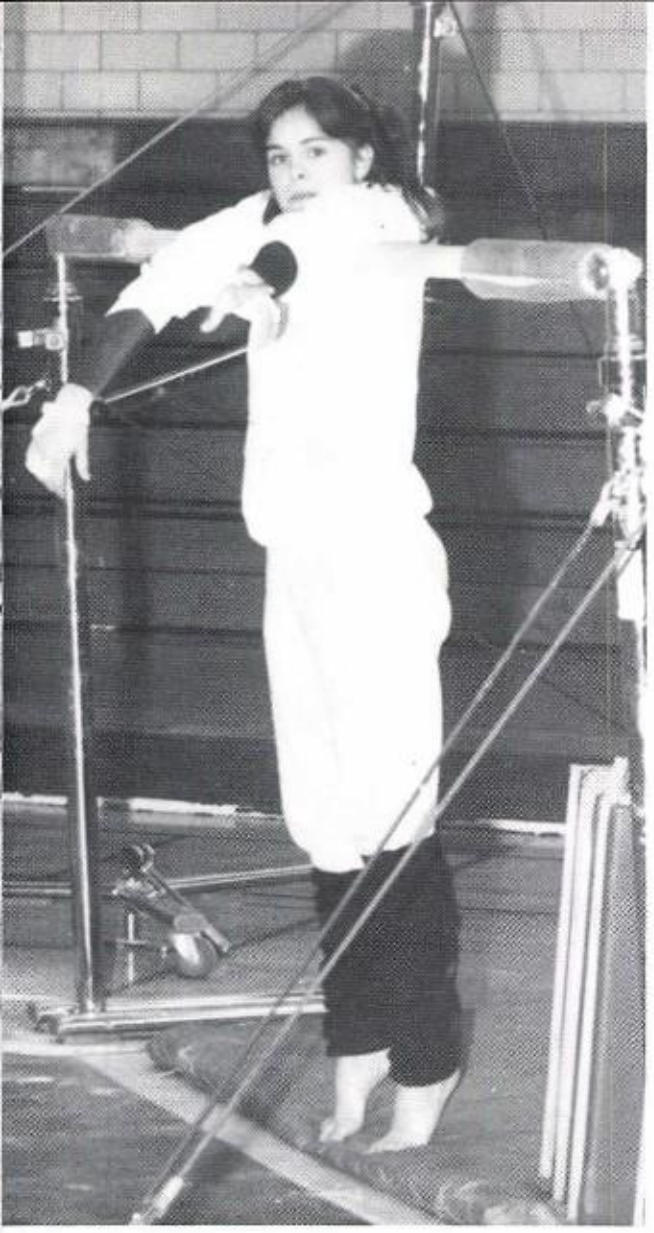
GYMNASTICS: IN PERFECT FORM

first row: Tri - Captains K Corso, M O'Grady, D Vitiello second row: Coach S Christofi, D Reid, C Aronofsky, W Nicklaus, Coach C Carbone third row: Managers C Gianelli, K Mohyde and K Haggerty, L Norman T Bornstein, M Carroll And the rest of the Spartan Team

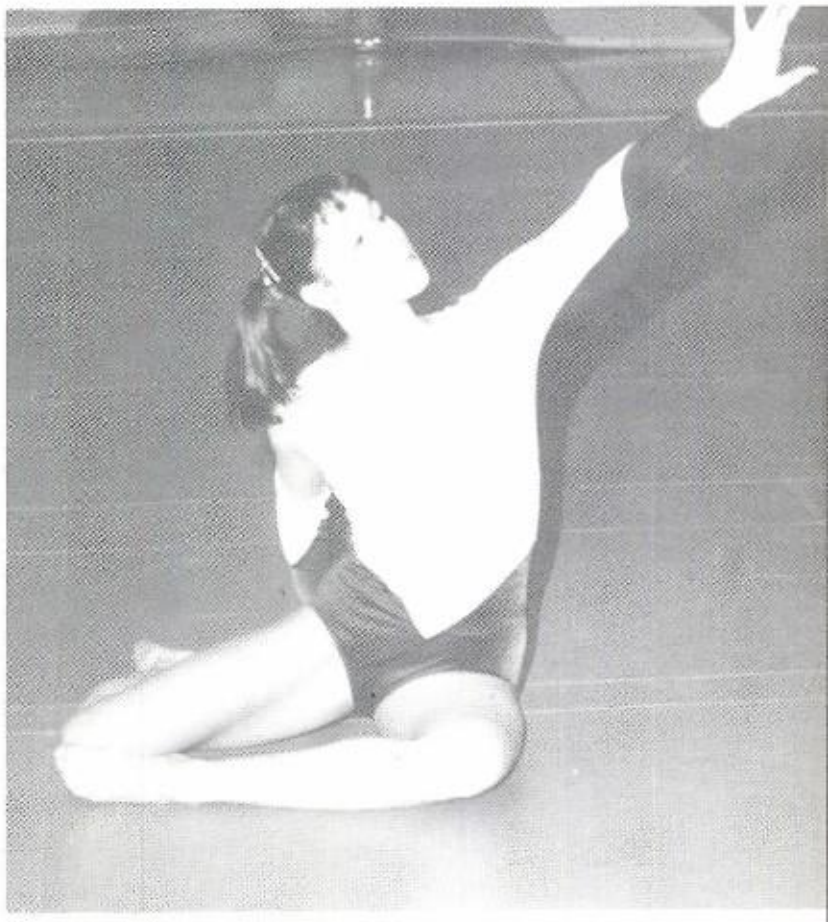


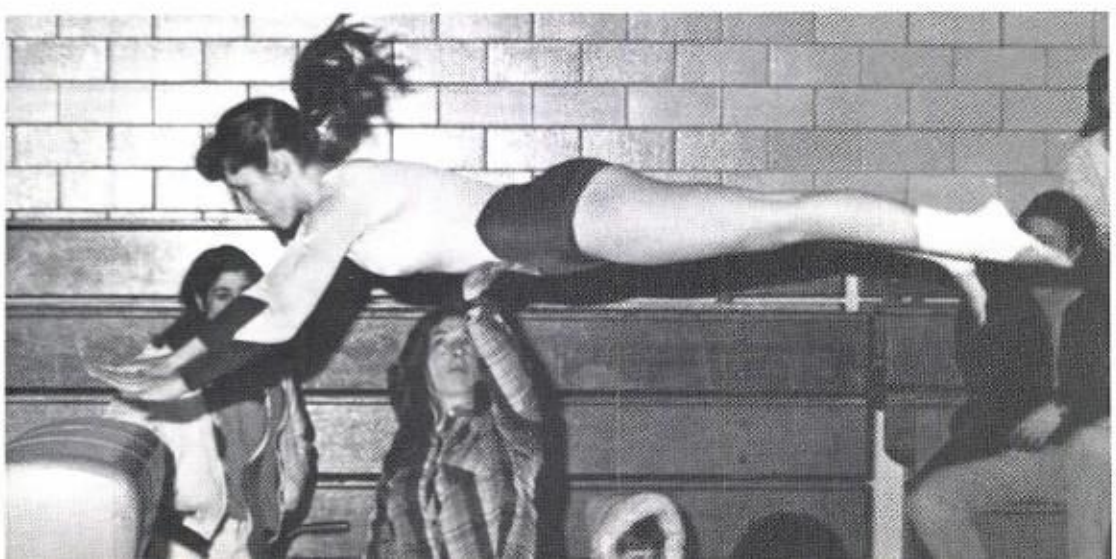






Coach C. Carbone, Tri-Captains D. Vitiello, M. O'Grady, K. Corso, Coach S. Christofi.





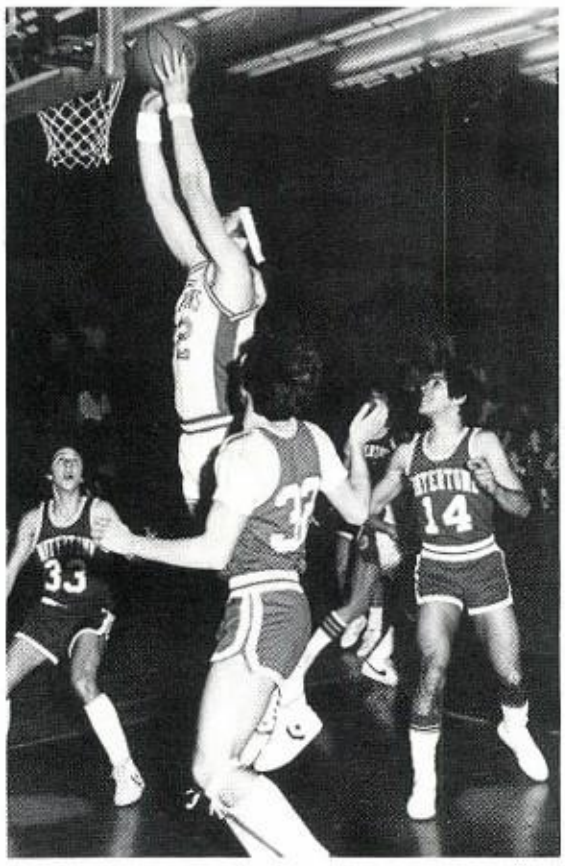
The 1982 gymnastics team was led by tri-captains Karen Corso, Maureen O'Grady, and Desiree Vitiello.

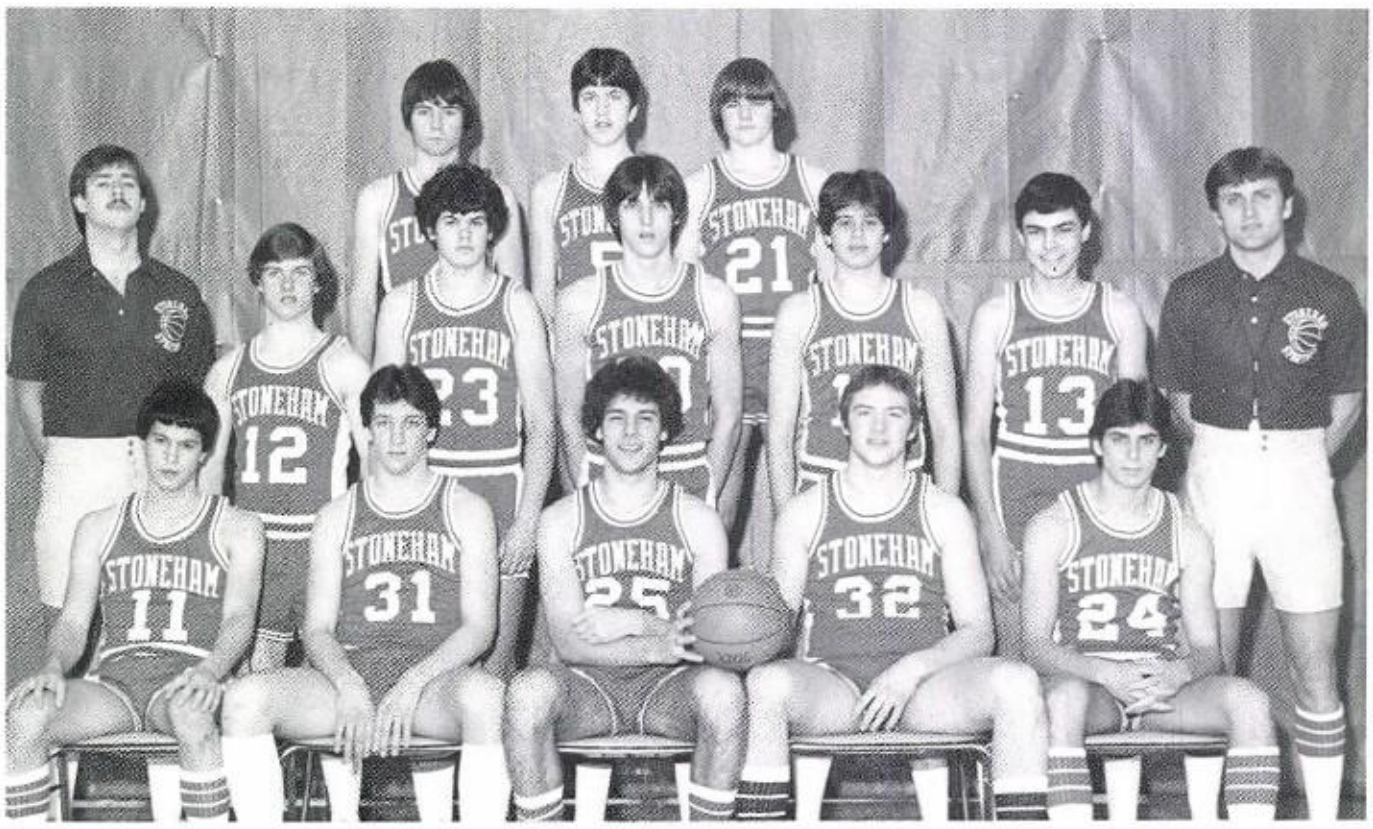
Although the team was young and inexperienced, coaches Cynthia Carbone and Susan Christofi felt that it was a successful season because the team reached their goal of averaging 91 points for the season.

Top scorers for the season were Soph Traci Bernstein, Sr. Karen Corso, Jr. Maureen O'Grady, and Fr. Natalie Greenwood.

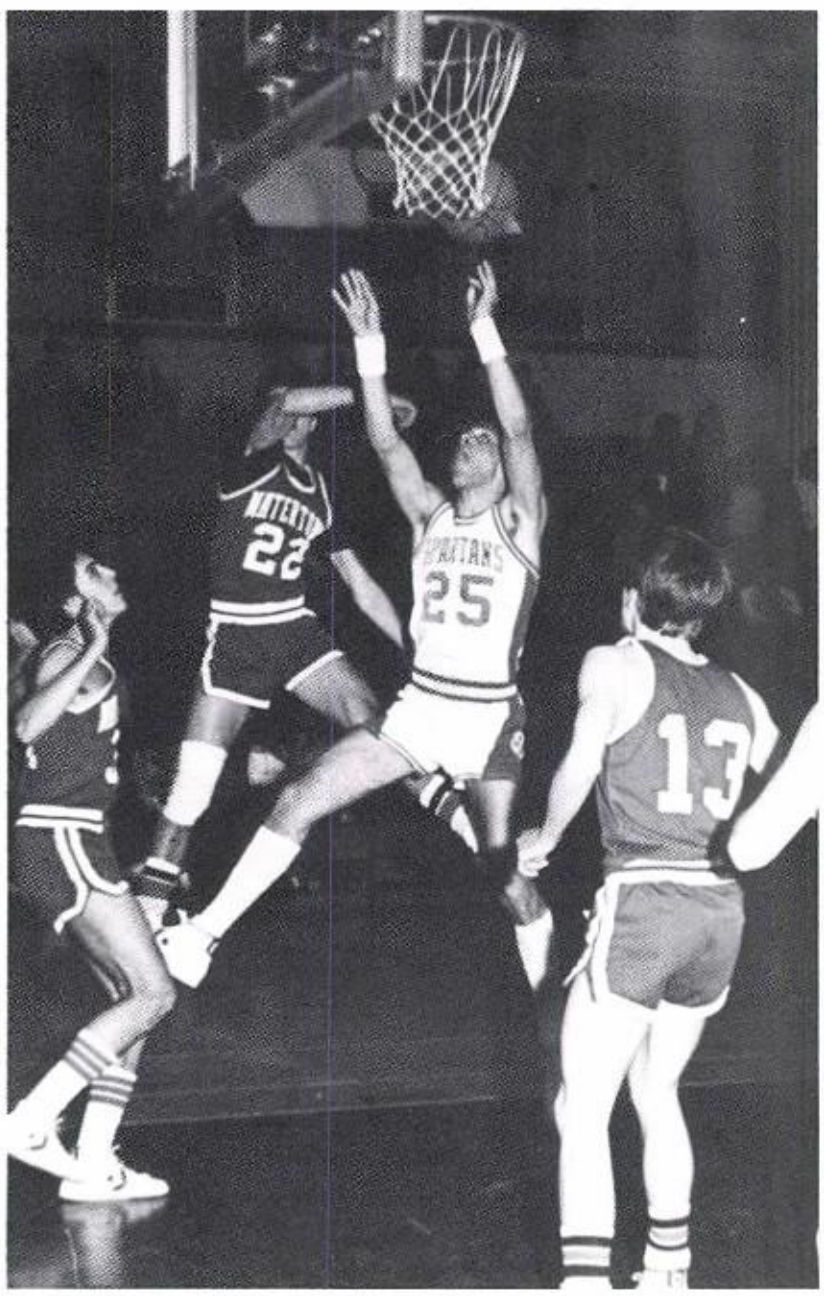
The future looks bright for the team with its many talented underclassmen. Success will be theirs with continued hard work and 100% participation and dedication.

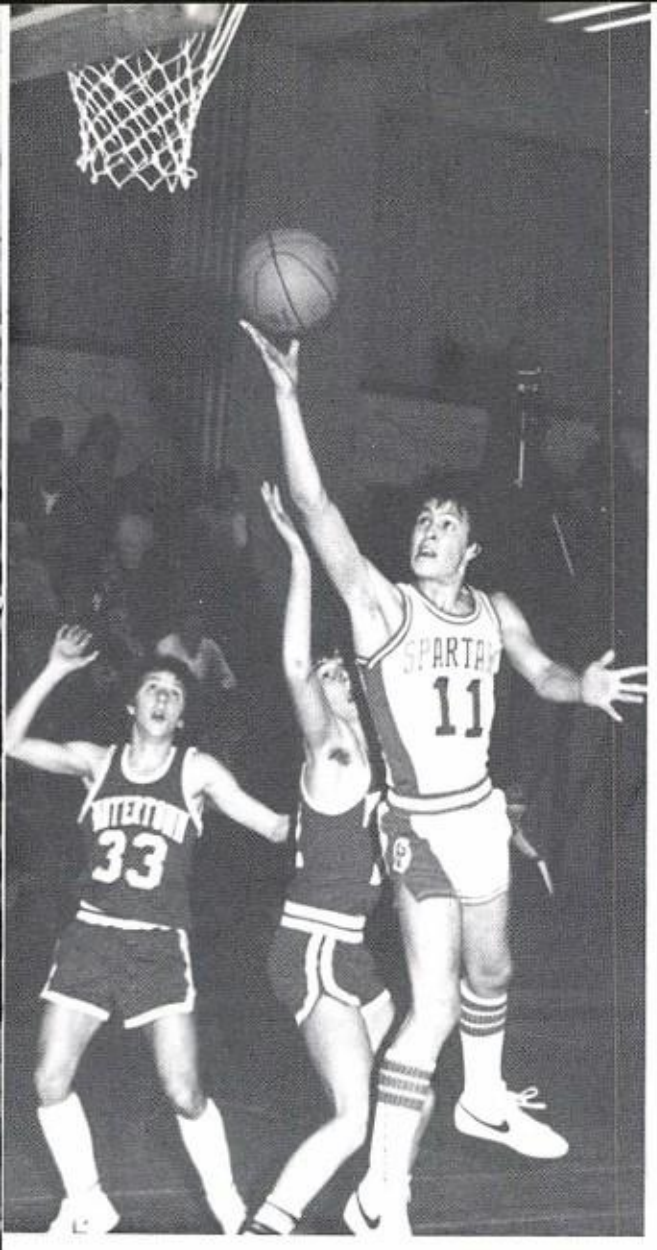
BOY'S BASKETBALL: GOES TO THE HOOP

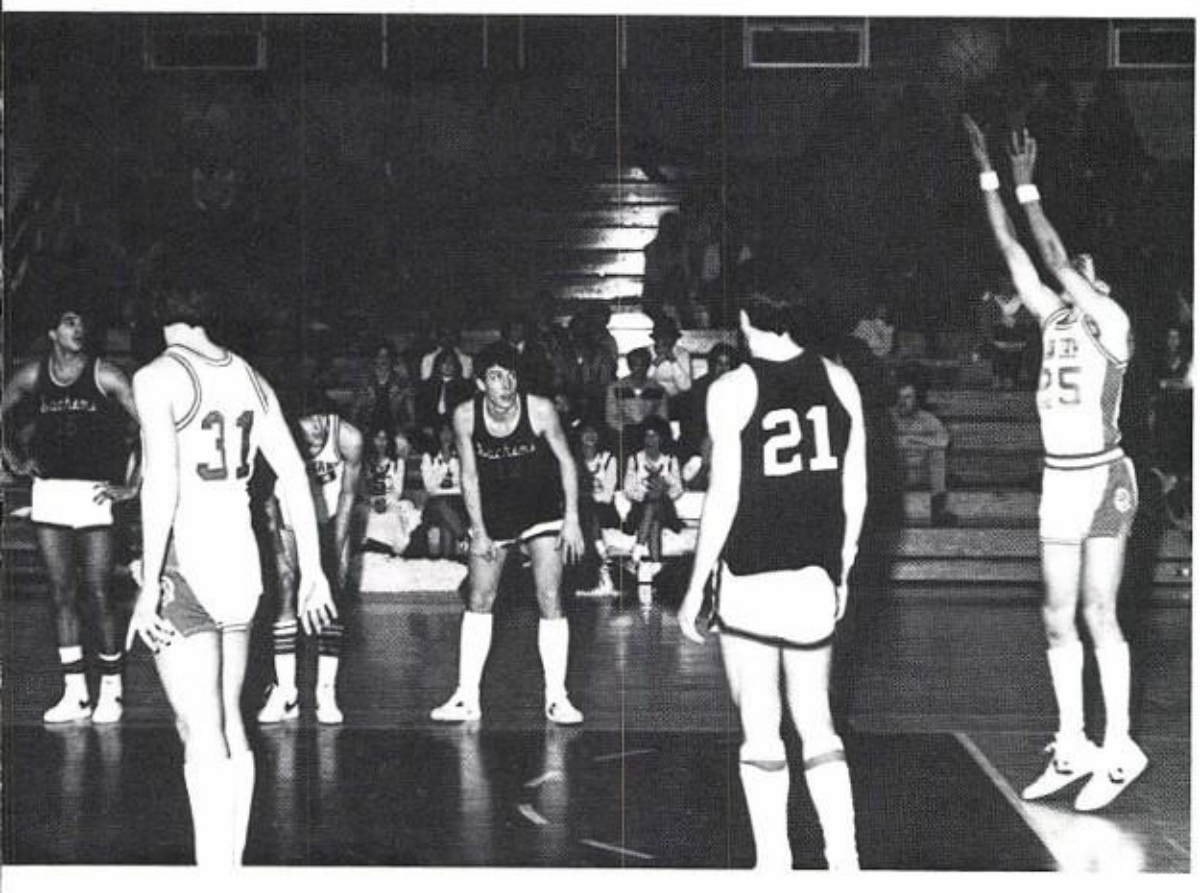


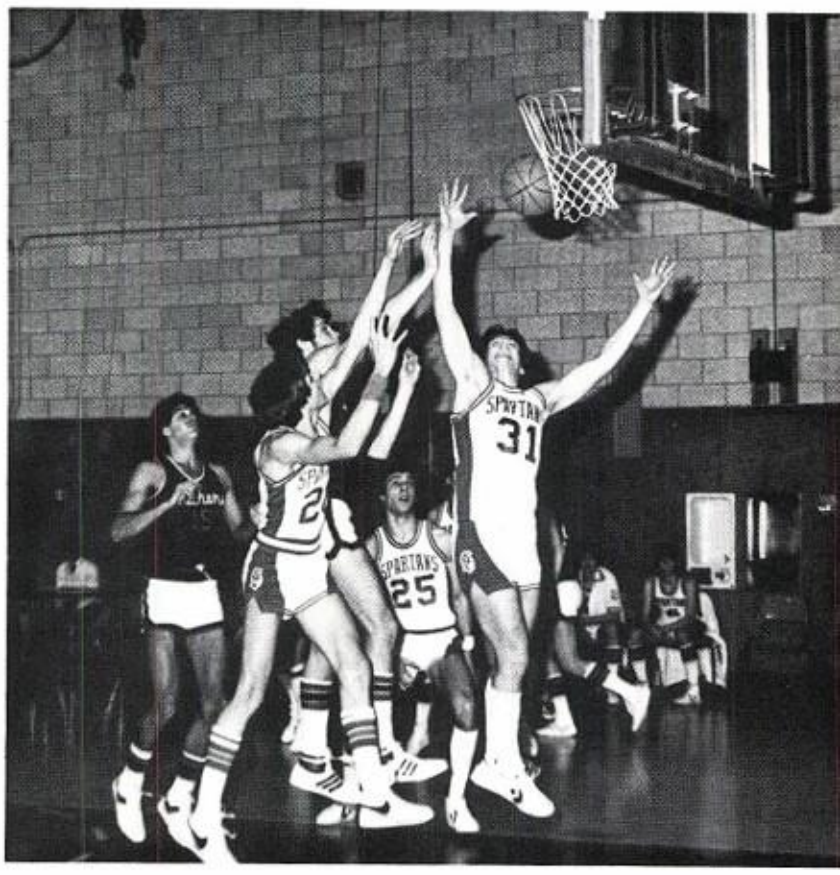


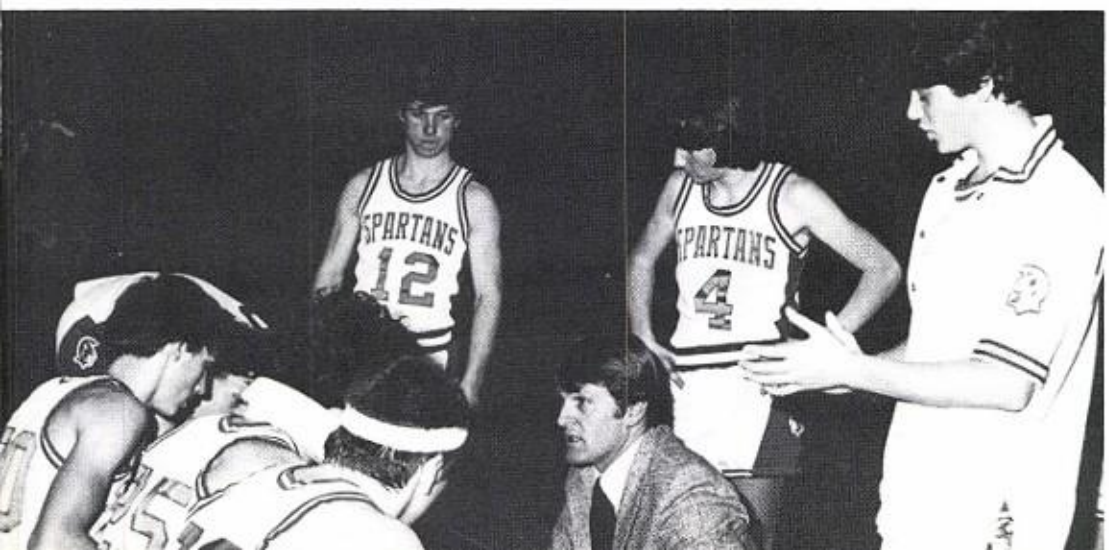
Front row: S. Sturgis, P Morse, M. Fiorillo, N. Palmer D. Cafasso. Second row: Coach M. Lahiff, D. Trant, R. Palumbo, N. Yiannacopolus, S. Deluca, M. Spezzaferro, Coach N. Nelson. Third row: D. Watson, P. Reis, D. Weiss







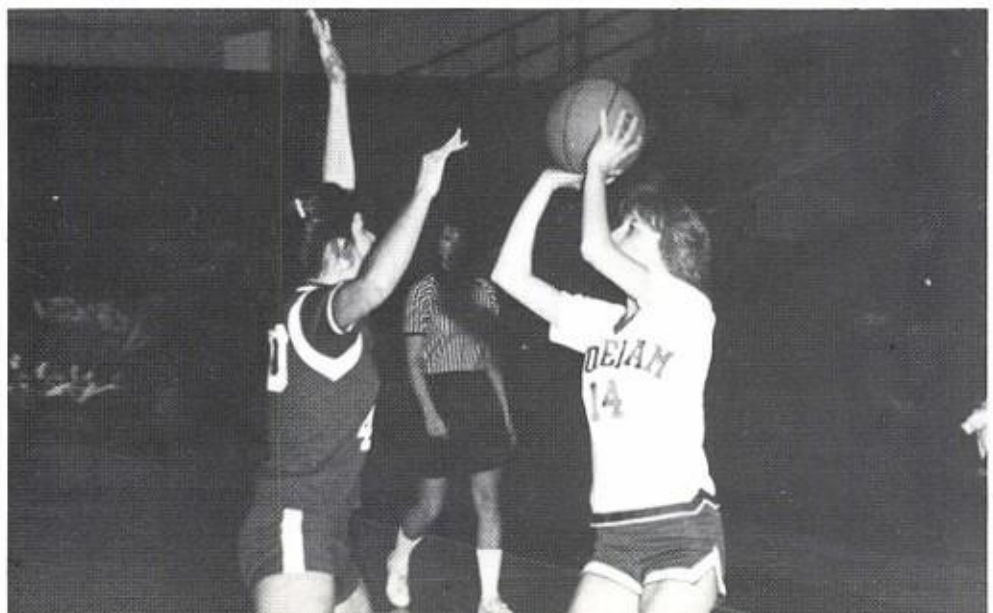


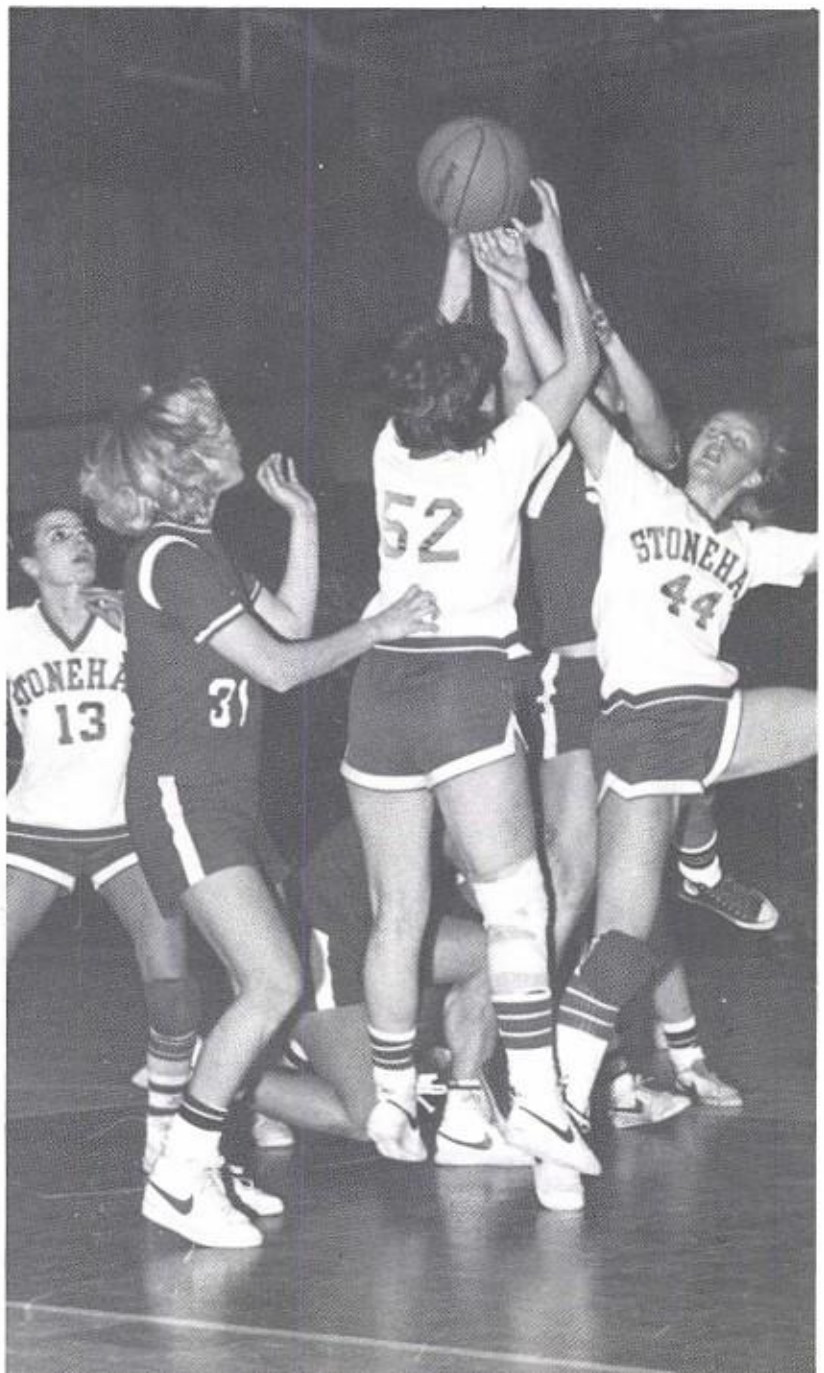


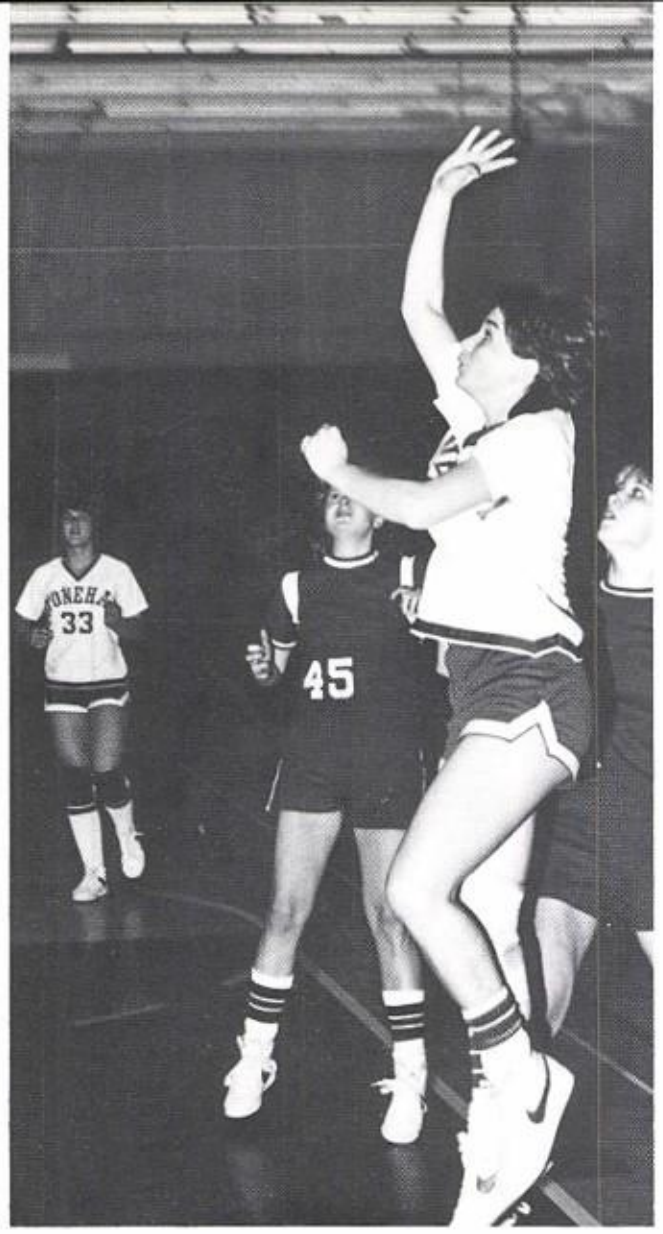
The 1981 - 1982 Varsity Basketball team looked promising at the beginning of the season. Plagued by bad luck and injuries, however, they suffered several losses, often losing to opponents by a few points. The team, lead by captains Norman Palmer and two year Middlesex League All-star Michael Fiorillo, had great spirit and never quit. Their hard work and dedication shined through as they played some very respectable games and won several of them in the last half of the season.

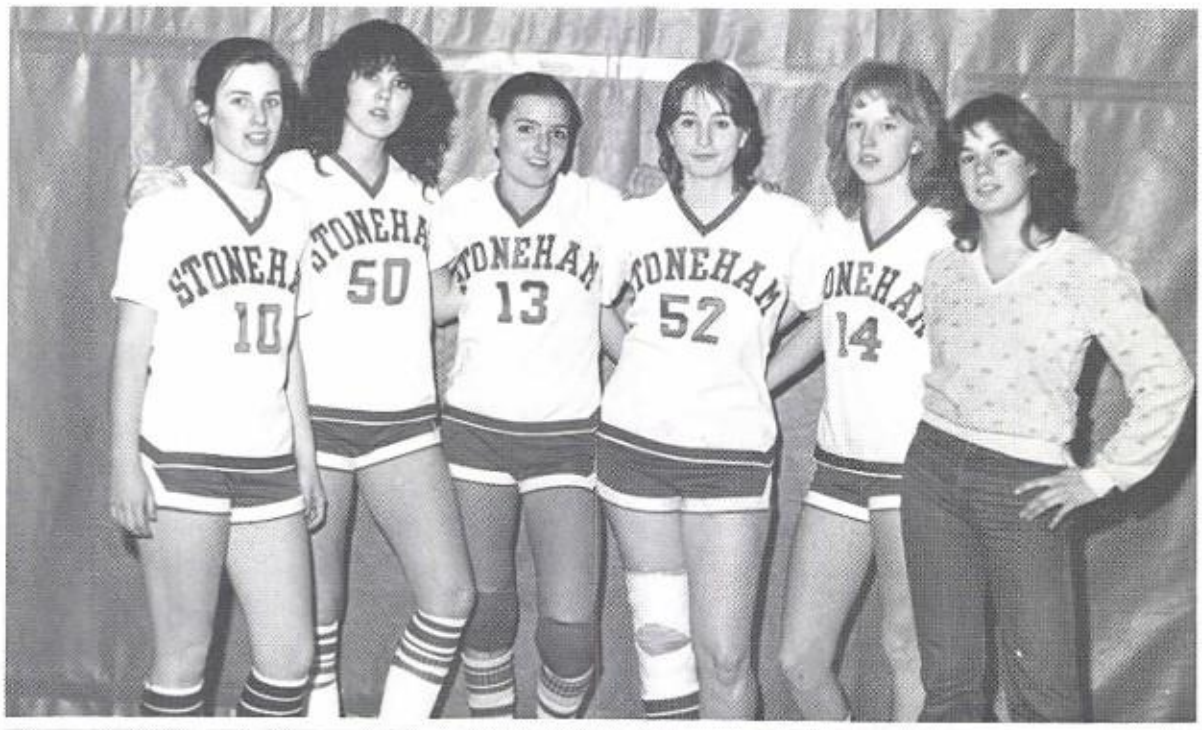
GIRL'S BASKETBALL: ON THE REBOUND

first row . . . P. Bryant, P. Maher, Co-Captains S. Powers and N. Reinold, A. Palumbo, C. Simpson, A. Gillespie. second row . . . J. Fallon, D. O'Reilly, J. Smallcomb, S. Reilly, J. Hugo, M. Gebhard.

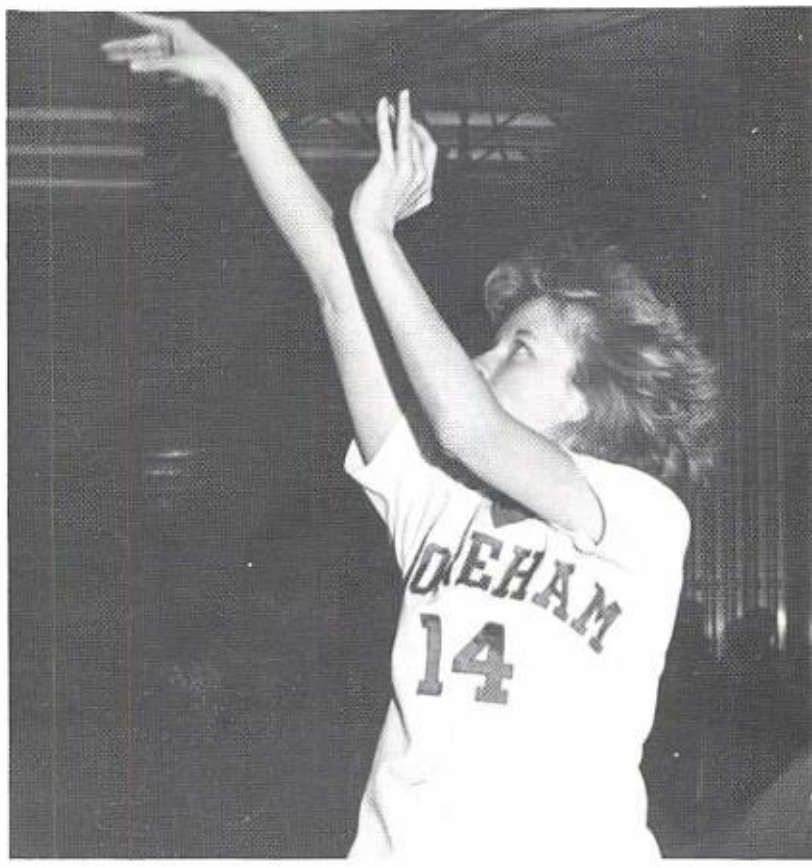








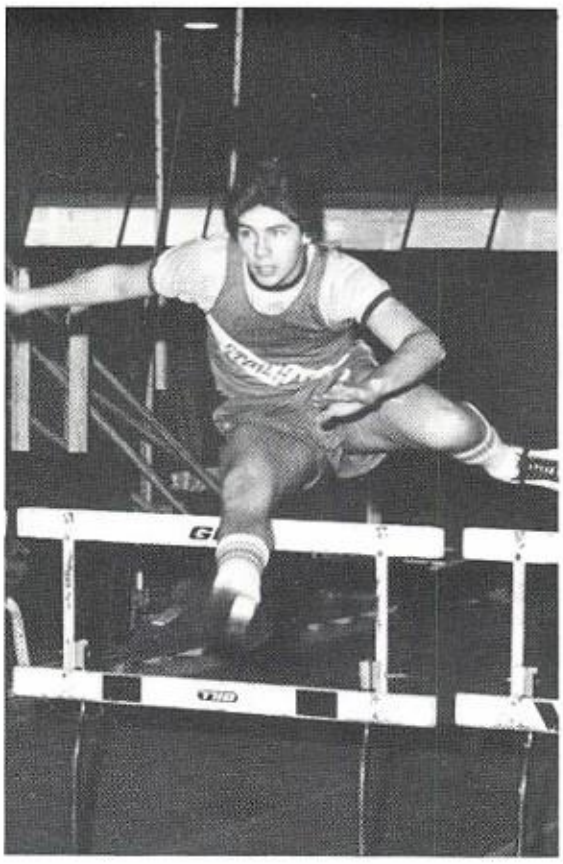
Seniors: P Maher, A Palumbo, Co-Captains S Powers and N Reinold, P Bryant, A Gillespie

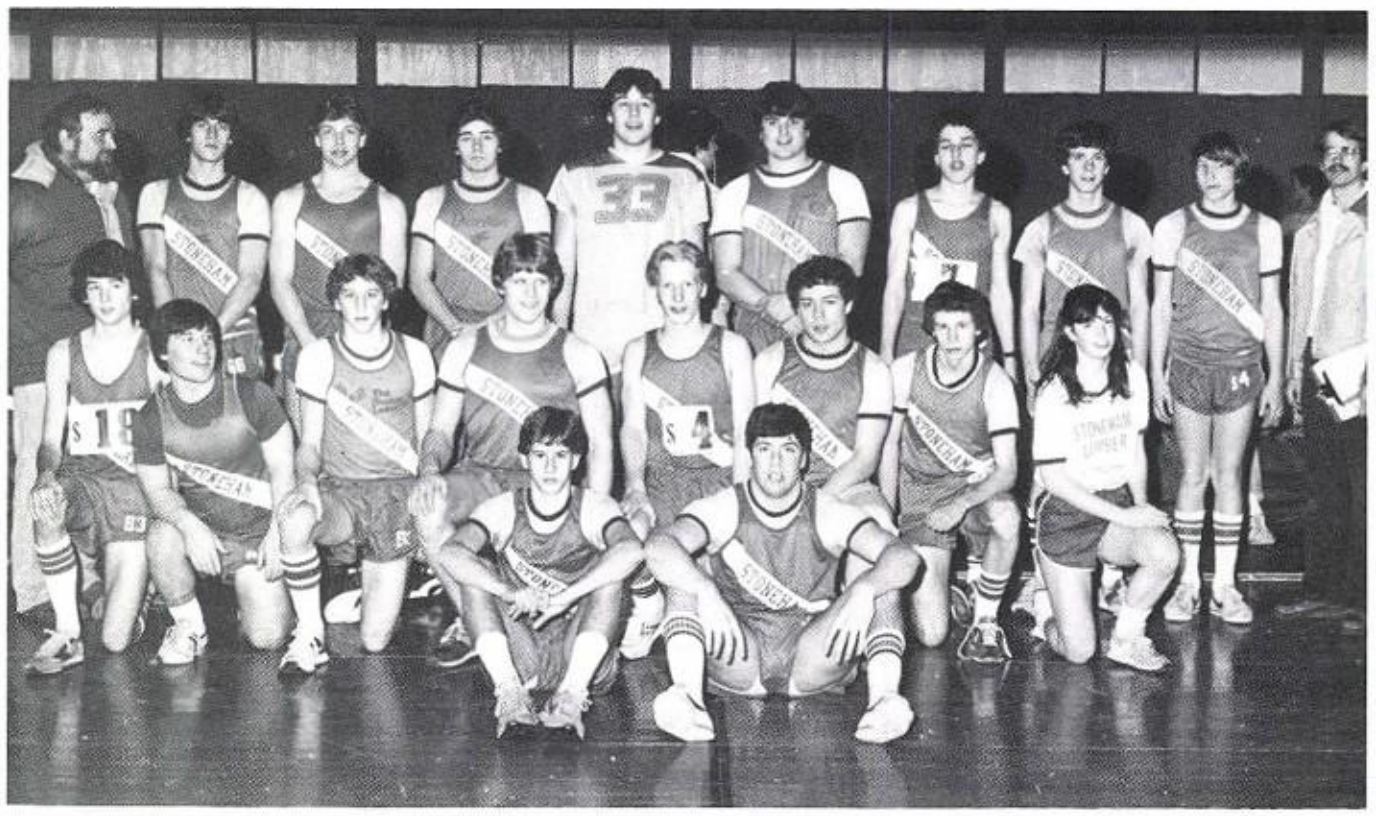


The 1981-1982 season was a rebuilding year for the Spastans. Co-Captains Susan Powers and Nadine Reinold led the team to a 6-12 record. The turnaround was sparked by Coach Jack Feraco who taught the girls agressive and competitive basketball. The players had the desire to win and they soon obtained the skills to attain their goal.

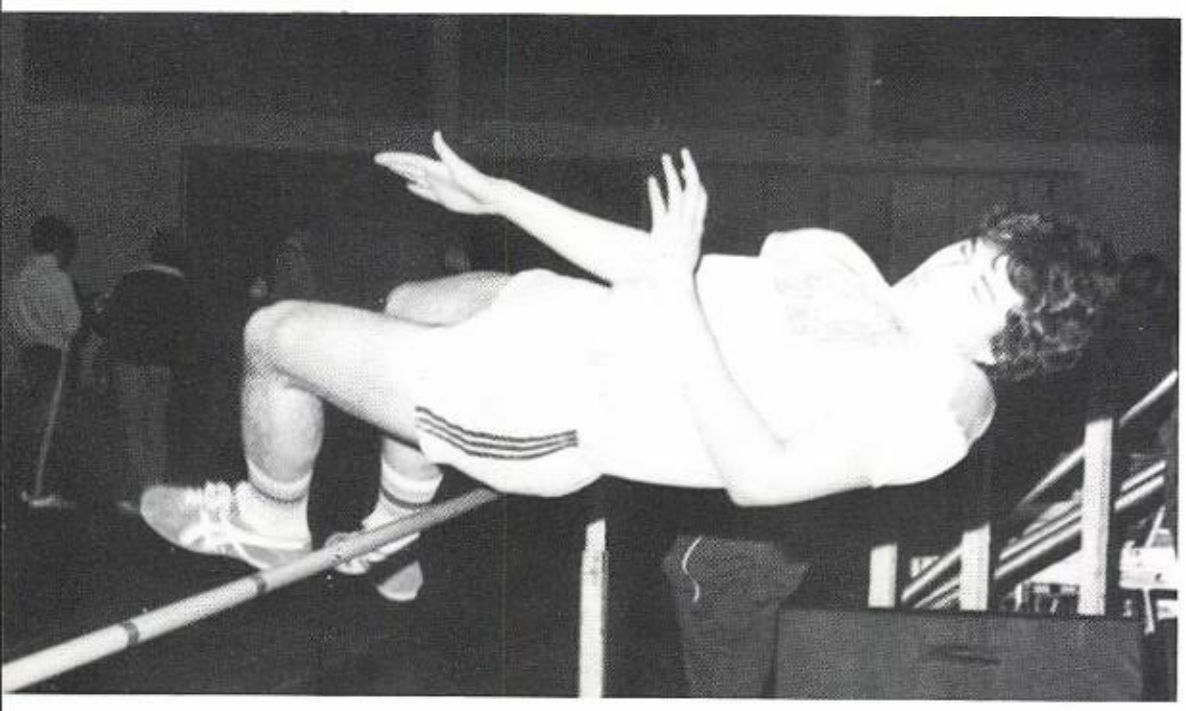
This year's seniors wish the underclassmen continued success in the years to follow.

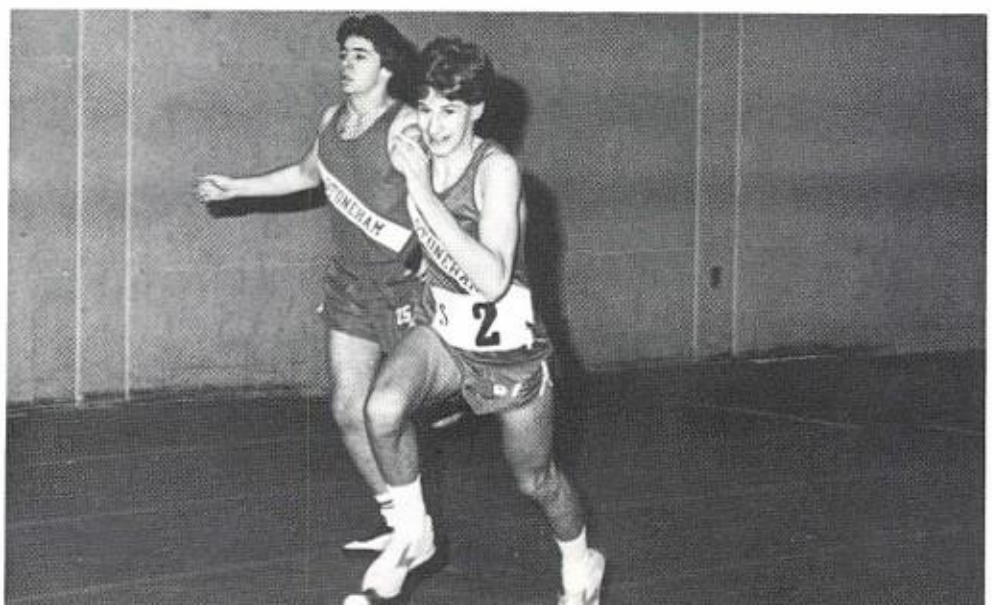
WINTER TRACK: THE ENDLESS RUN

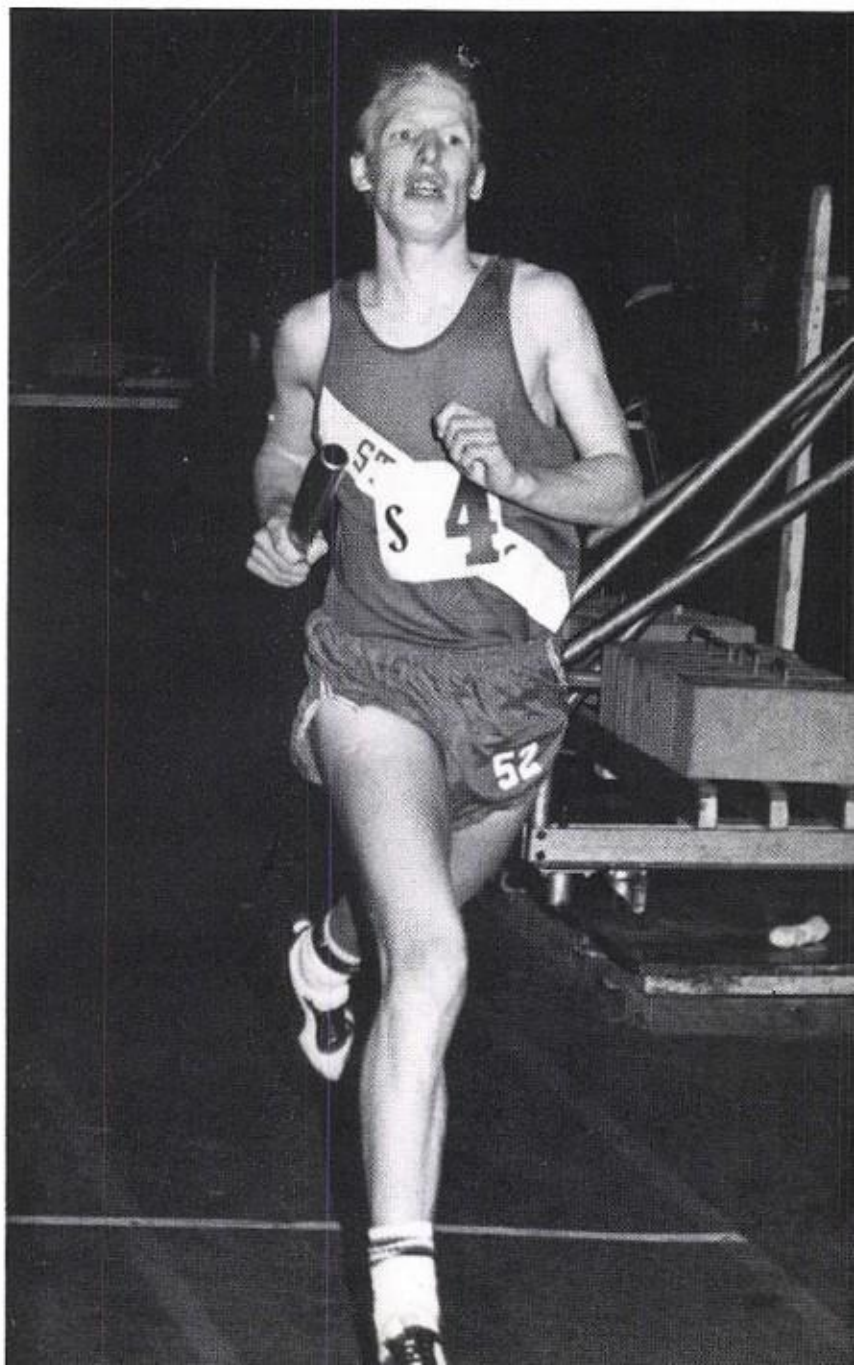


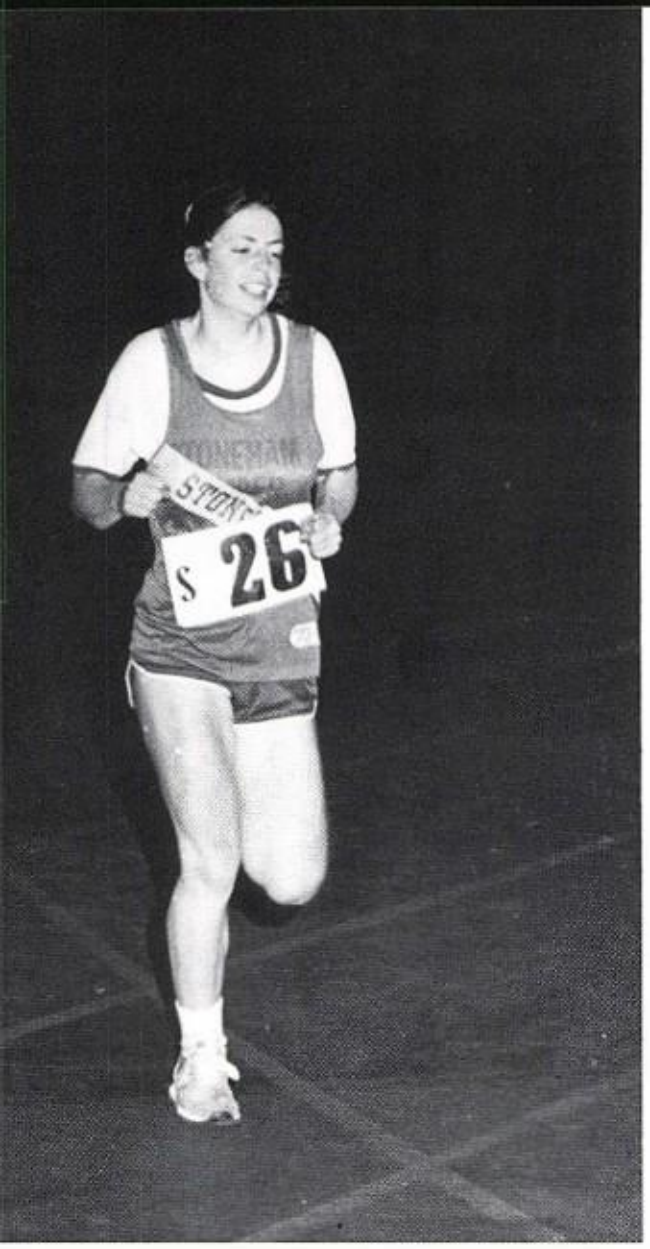


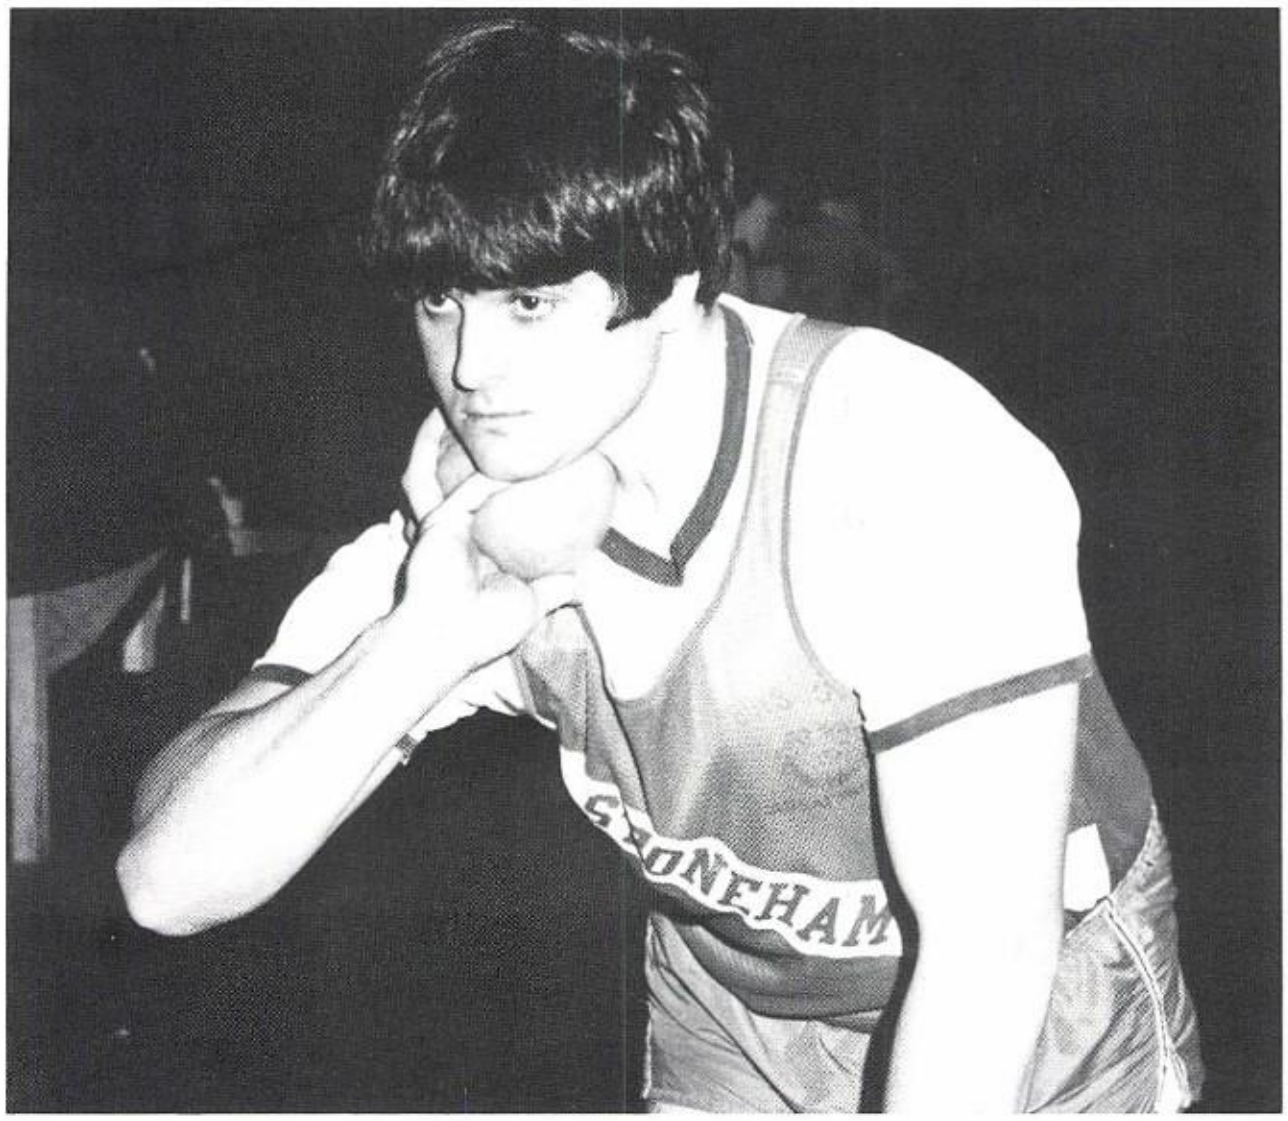
First Row: Co-Captains S. Boyle and R. O'Melia. Second Row: M. Treavor, J. McDonough, J. Halley, E. Cappucci, C. Carroll, J. Danzig, M. Doe, M. Doyle. Third Row: Coach A. Rocher, G. Carlson, S. Drew, T. Auffrey, S. Howell, T. Giulla, C. DeCosta, J. Doyle, A. Duff, and Coach Viola.

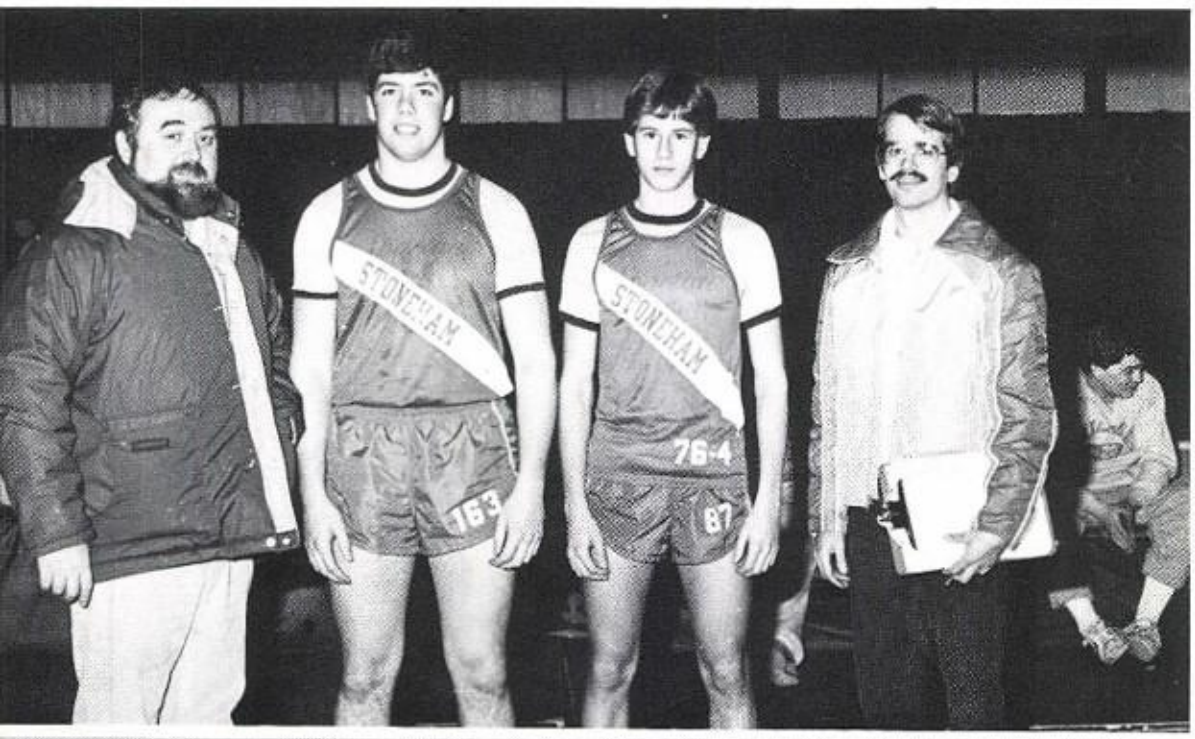




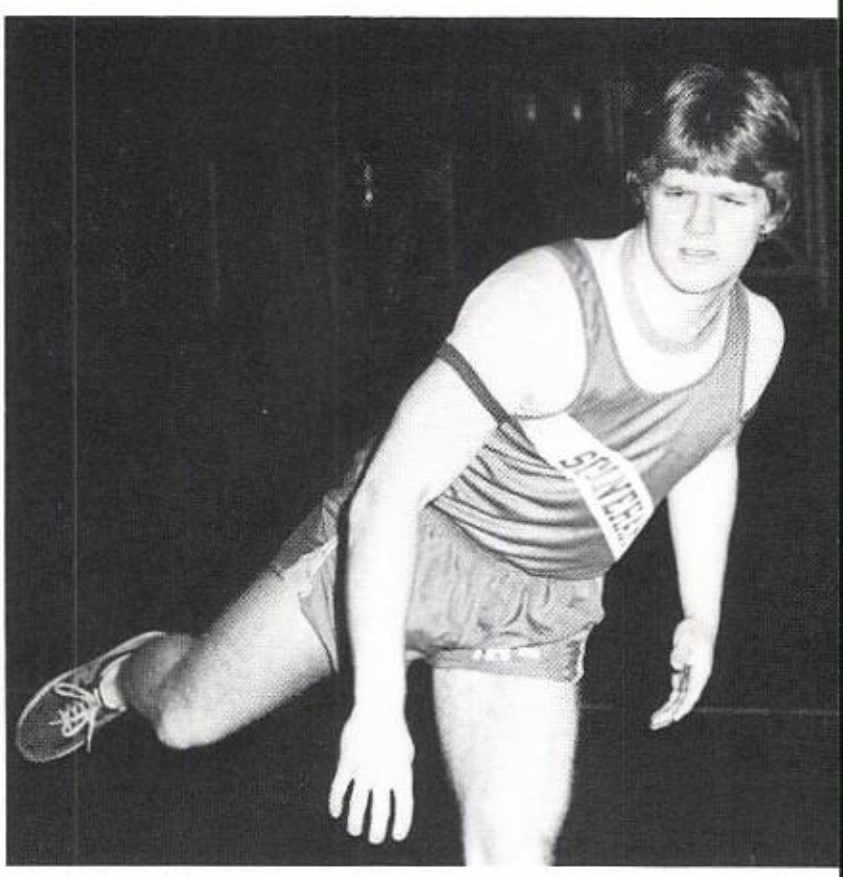


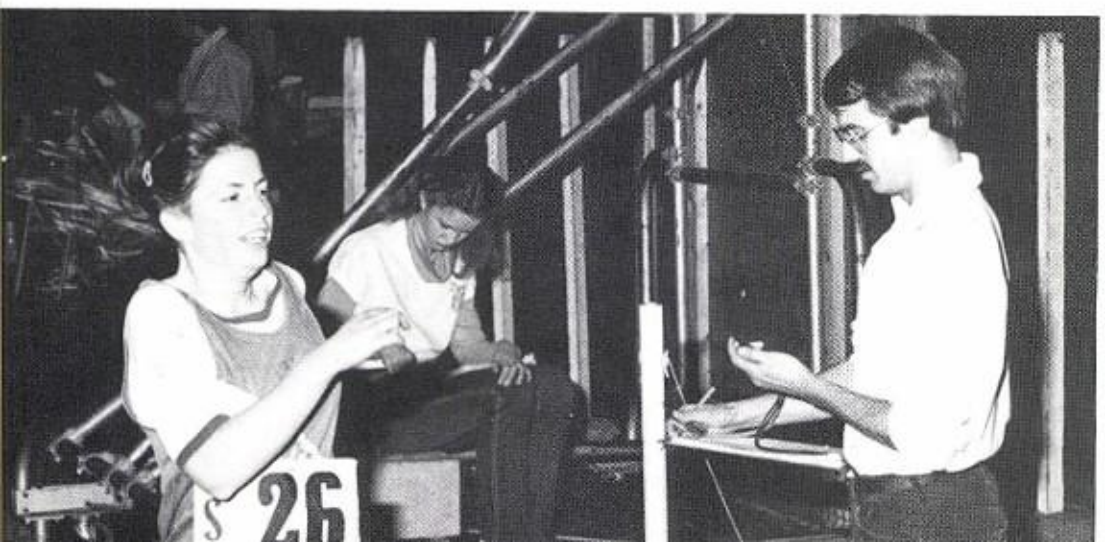






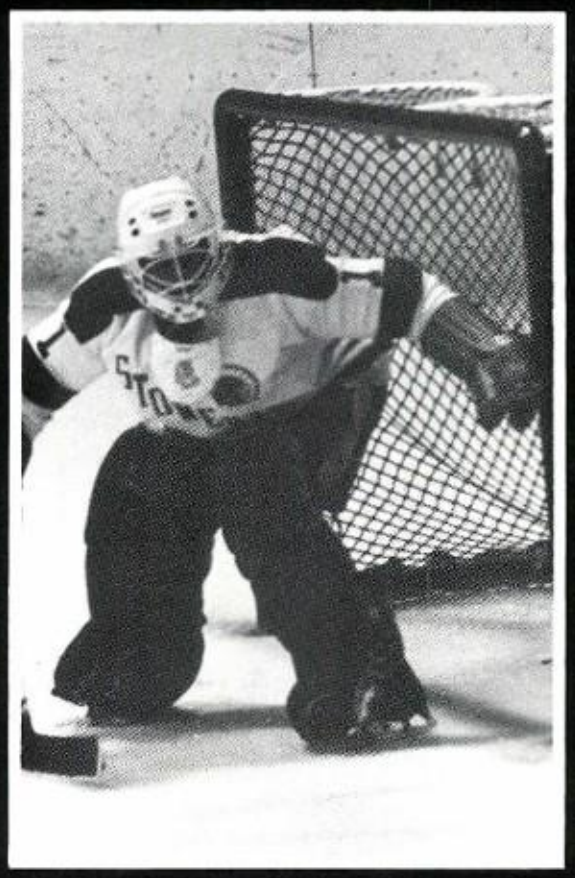
Coach A. Rocher, Co-captains R. O'Melia, Steve Boyle, Coach Viola

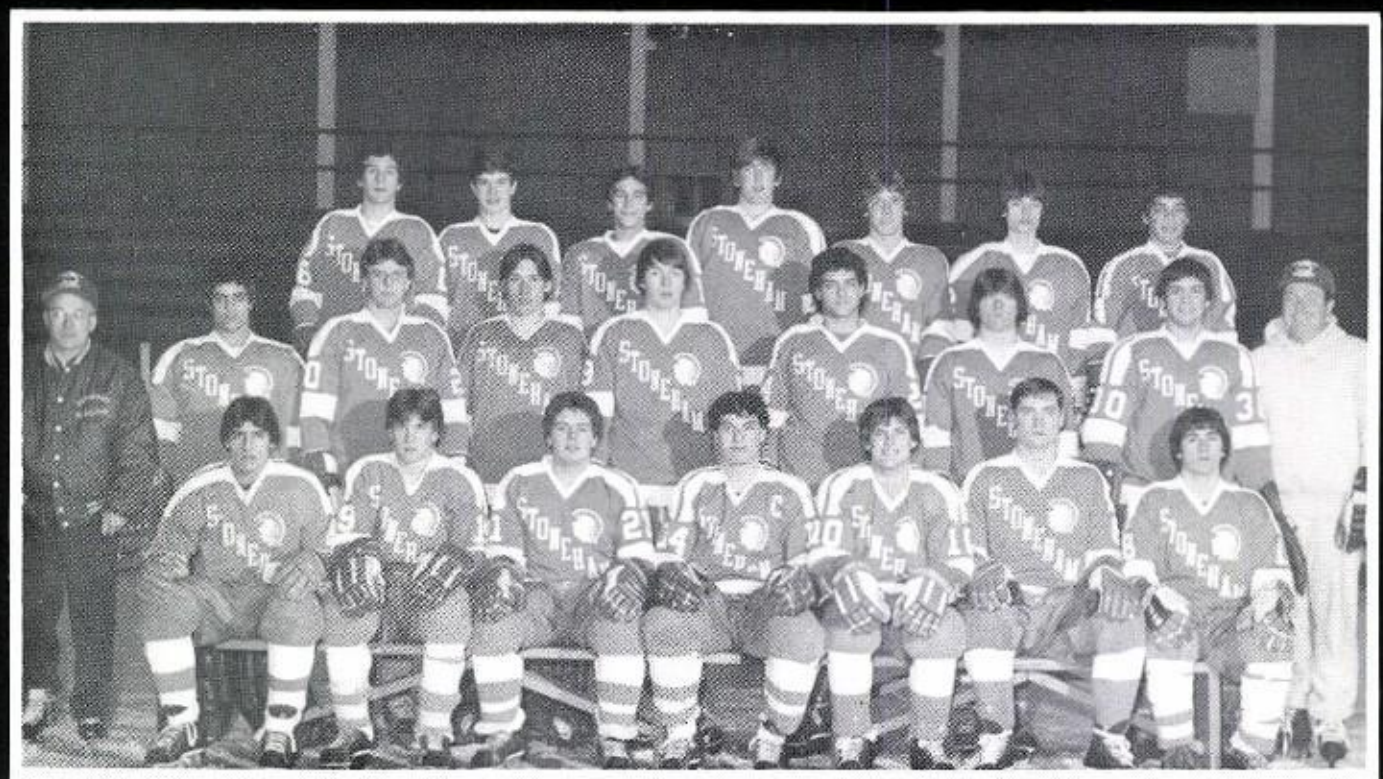




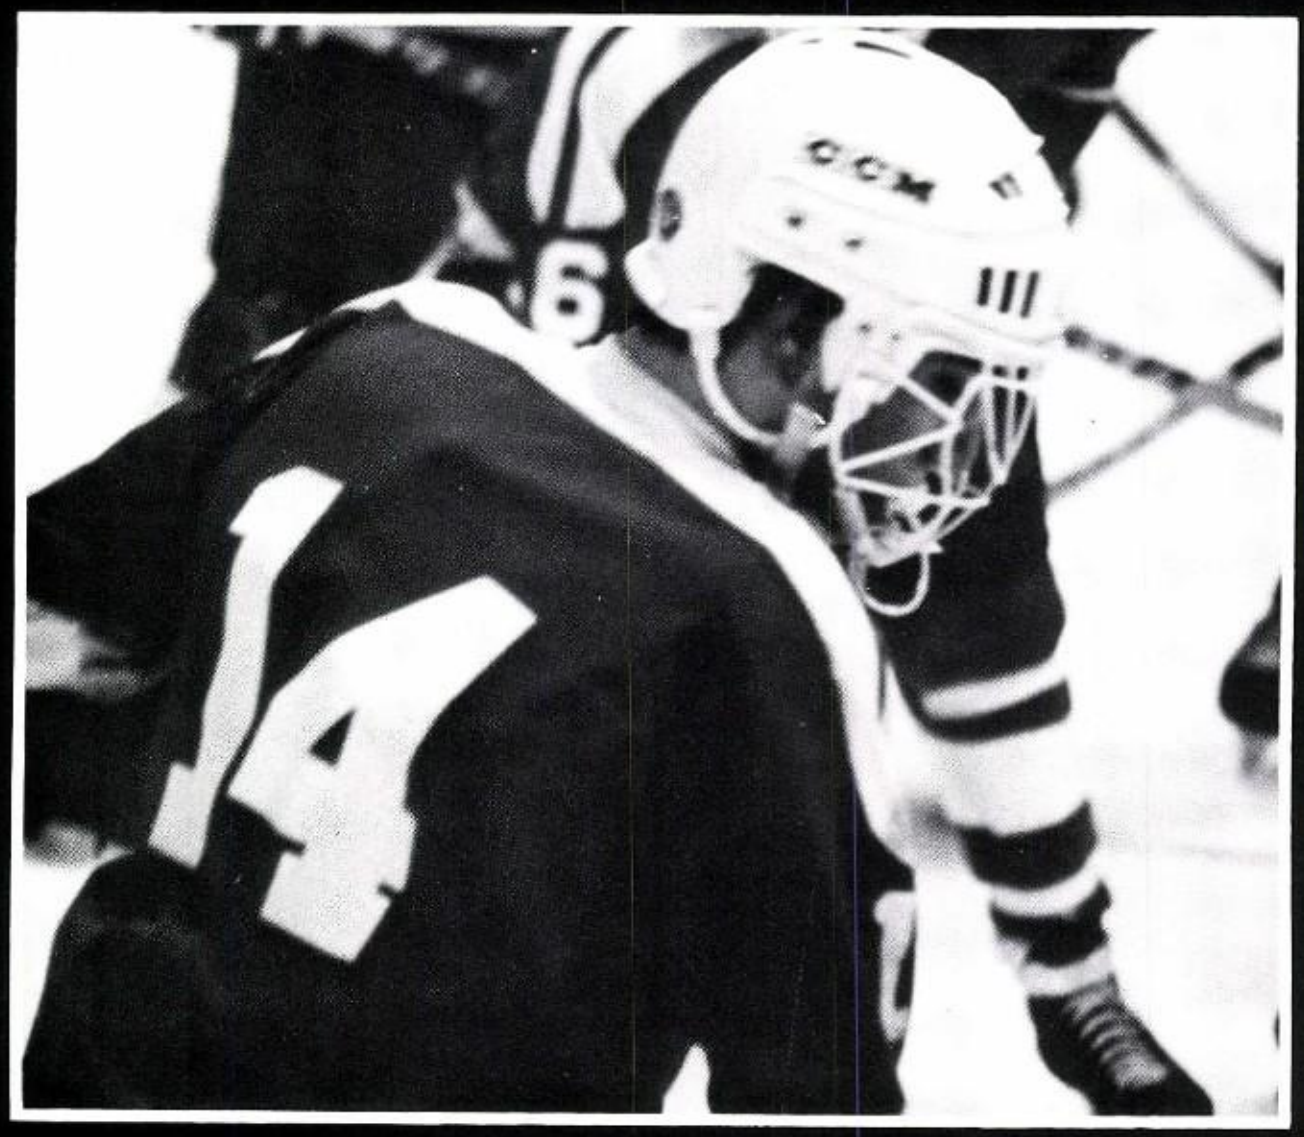
The 1981-1982 Winter Track team looked promising early in the season, but due to the lack of participants, did not achieve a winning record. Nevertheless, the team was strong in spirit. Co-captains Bob O'melia and Steve Boyle provided firm leadership, forcing their team mates to perform to the best of their abilities. Chip Carrol once again ran a very successful season, proving, to the rest of the league, to be a true contender. The Freshmen and Sophomores were the bulk of the team. One Junior Tommy Auffrey surprised the coaches and the league by entering the State Competition in hurdles. Coaches Bob Viola and Alain Rocher, although a little disappointed by the lack of numbers, were quite pleased with the Spartans' performance.

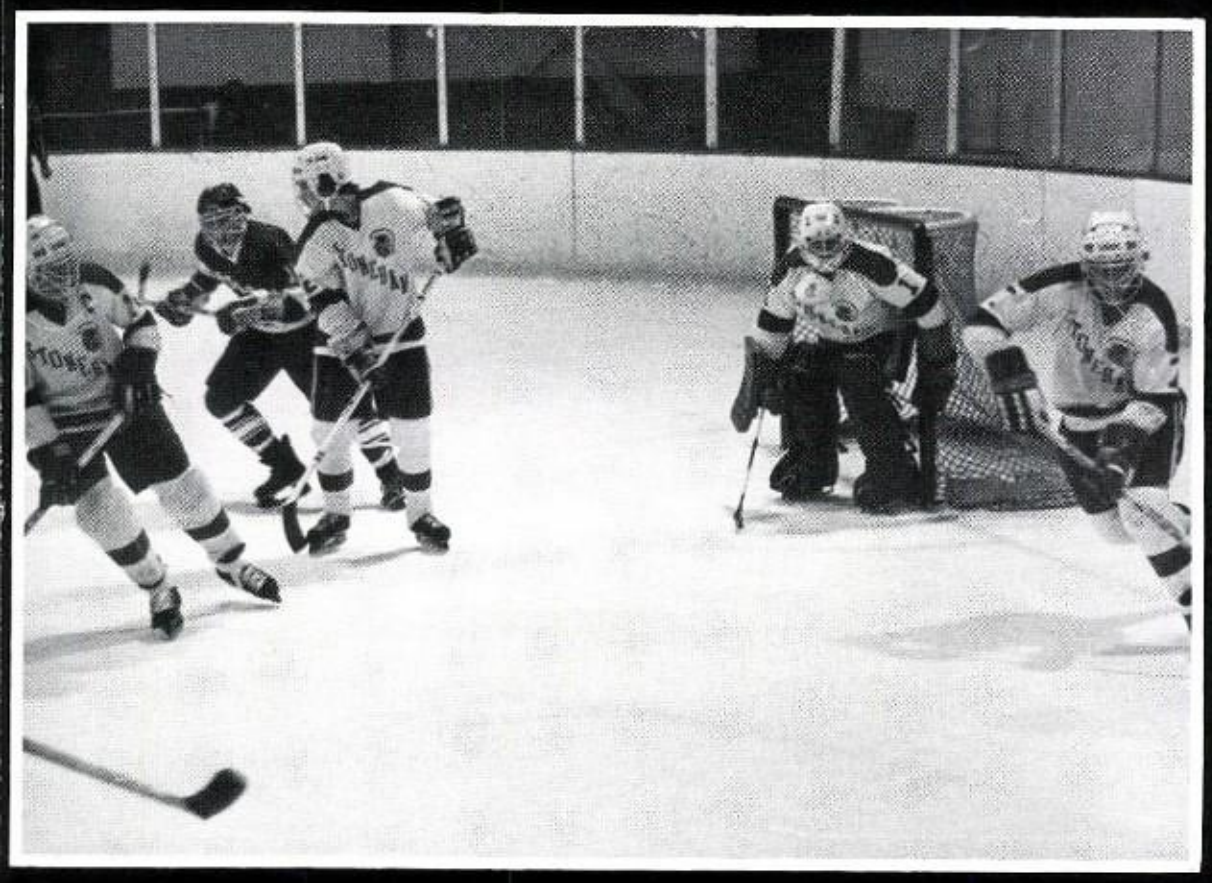
HOCKEY RETURNS TO THE TOURNEY!

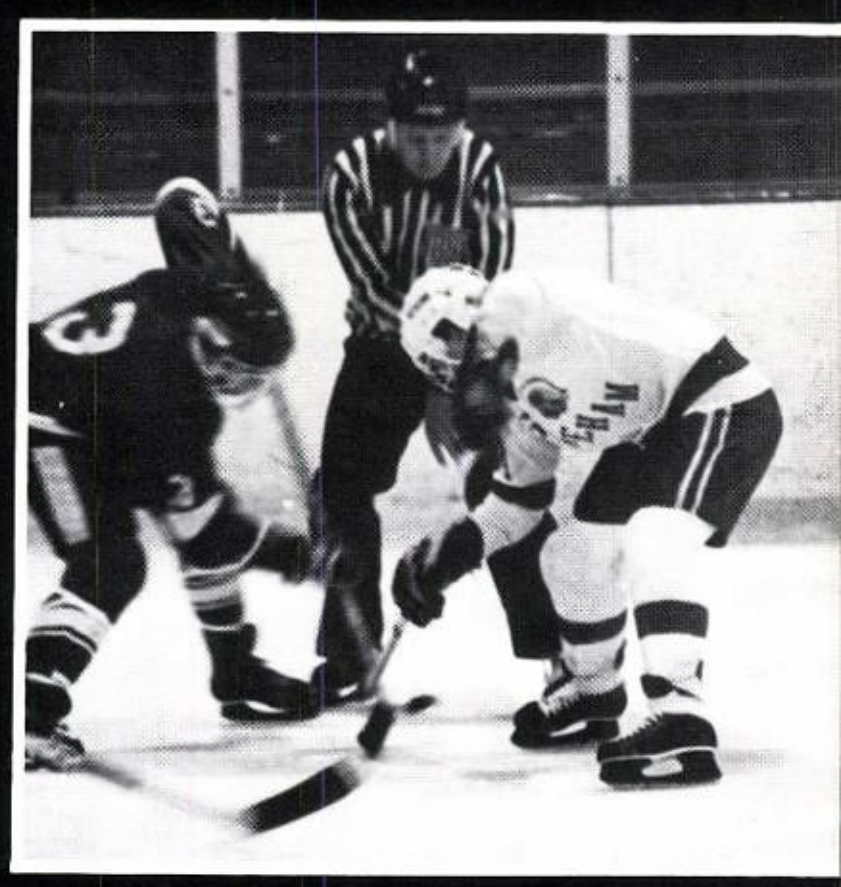




first row: J. Romano, D Leydon, F Muolo, Captain R Santoro, W Connell, T MacDonald, P Healey second row: Coach R Burnham, J Maffeo, J Duplin, S Long, C Langille, F Rivera, J O'Rourke, J Tarantino, Coach W Seabury third row: M Veno G Maxwell, G Shepis, J Connell, S McKenna D Titcomb, D Minghella







The 1981 - 1982 Varsity Hockey team finished a very successful season, placing second in the league, behind the powerhouse Woburn Tanners. Stoneham could have easily won the championship had it not been for a few mistakes during several close games. Nevertheless, the Spartans participated in the State Tournament. A controversial call nullified a Spartan goal during the Stoneham-Brookline tournament game and shattered their hopes of going to the finals. The Spartans, led by captain Rich Santoro, were honored to have six players named to the 1981-1982 Middlesex League All-Star team and have made the student body very proud of their school.

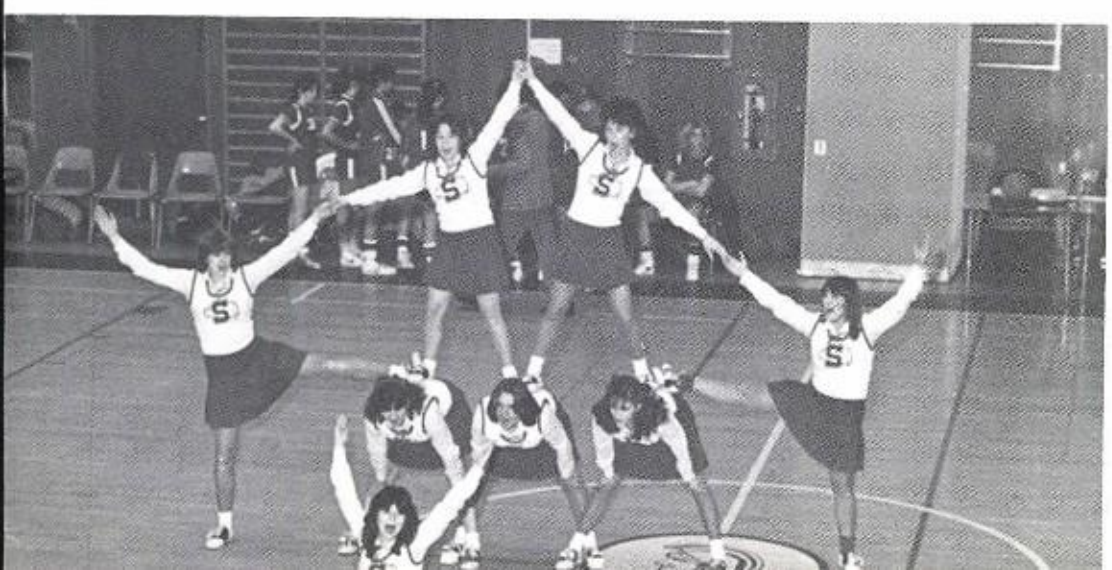
Front Row: Co-Capt D. Young, Co-Capt R. Lusardi, Back Row: A. Wesley, L. Razzaboni, S. Biagioni, M. Farren, L. Mulligan, M. Seaburg, K. Young, L. Sacco, and M. Nottebart.



This year's winter cheering squad provided support for both the girl's and the boy's basketball teams and the varsity hochey team. With the leadership of Co-Captains Robin Lusardi and Debbie Young, the squad was able to perform at near perfection. The seniors who also just completed their second year on the squad are Mary farren, Lisa Mulligan, and Lisa Razzaboni. Other seniors include: Michele Nottebart, Lauran Sacco, Mary Jane Seaburg, Kelli Young, and Alyson Wesley. The juniors were Jean Marie Mangano, Cheri O'neil, Sarino Sylvestro, Maureen Twoig, and Leslie Young.

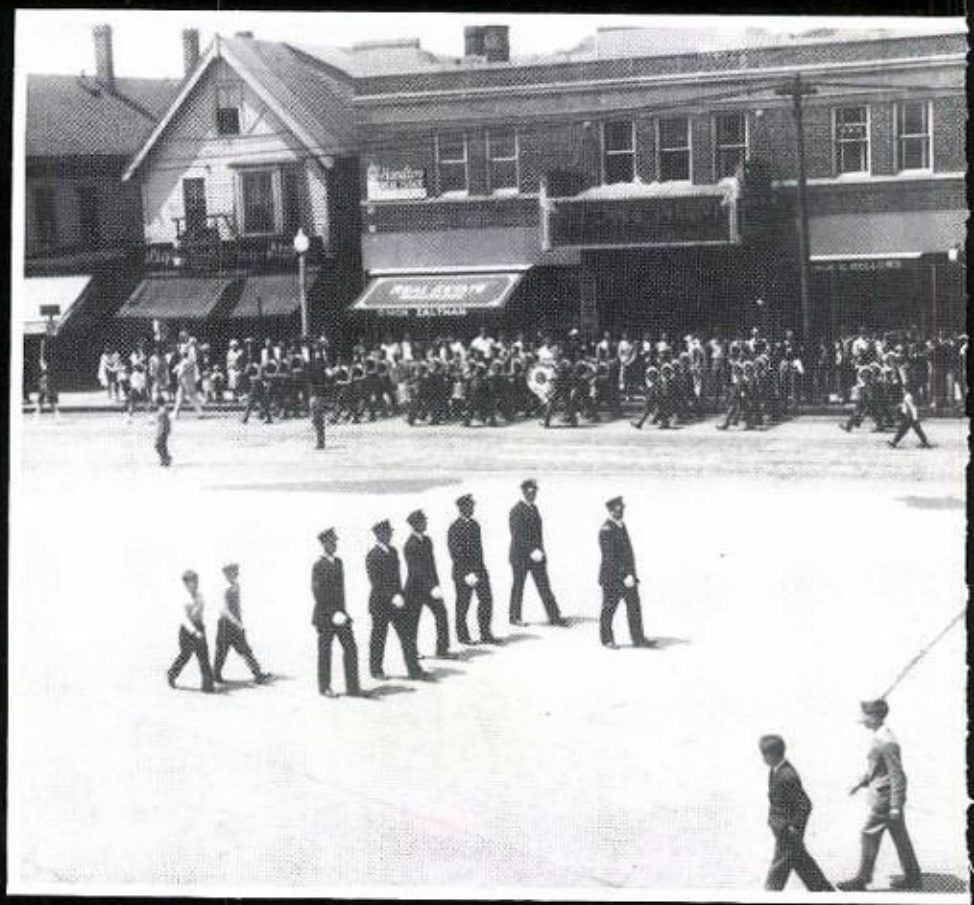
THE LAST



. . . I will refer to the old Stoneham Theatre as a Grande Dame. She is the only such theatre still standing, still displaying marquee, in any town in the vicinity . . . she kept us up to date on world affairs. Brought the outside world to us, made the halves a whole. She reflected kings, gave us insight to countries and cultures . . . she was our community television set. She was our newspaper headlines, our transatlantic telephone circa 1900.

Because she was, we were witness to eras . . . silent films, talkies, double features, and live vaudeville shows . . . She kept us abreast of the latest fads in travel, eating, fashion. And she was our therapy. She gave us vent to expressions that were considered acceptable.

Thousands of words have been written and spoken about her. She's been fought over, fought against, battled for. She's been used, abused and rejected . . . Dust in her entrails is composed of decayed popcorn kernels, jellied gums, bits of molded chocolate, and God only knows what other matter. LF it is true that everything has a consciousnesson its individual level, hers must vibrate with teenage secrets, gossipy whisperings, adult exclamations, clandestine love affairs in her balcony, tears of joy and sorrow, belly laughs . . .

from "Salute to the last of the Grande Dames"

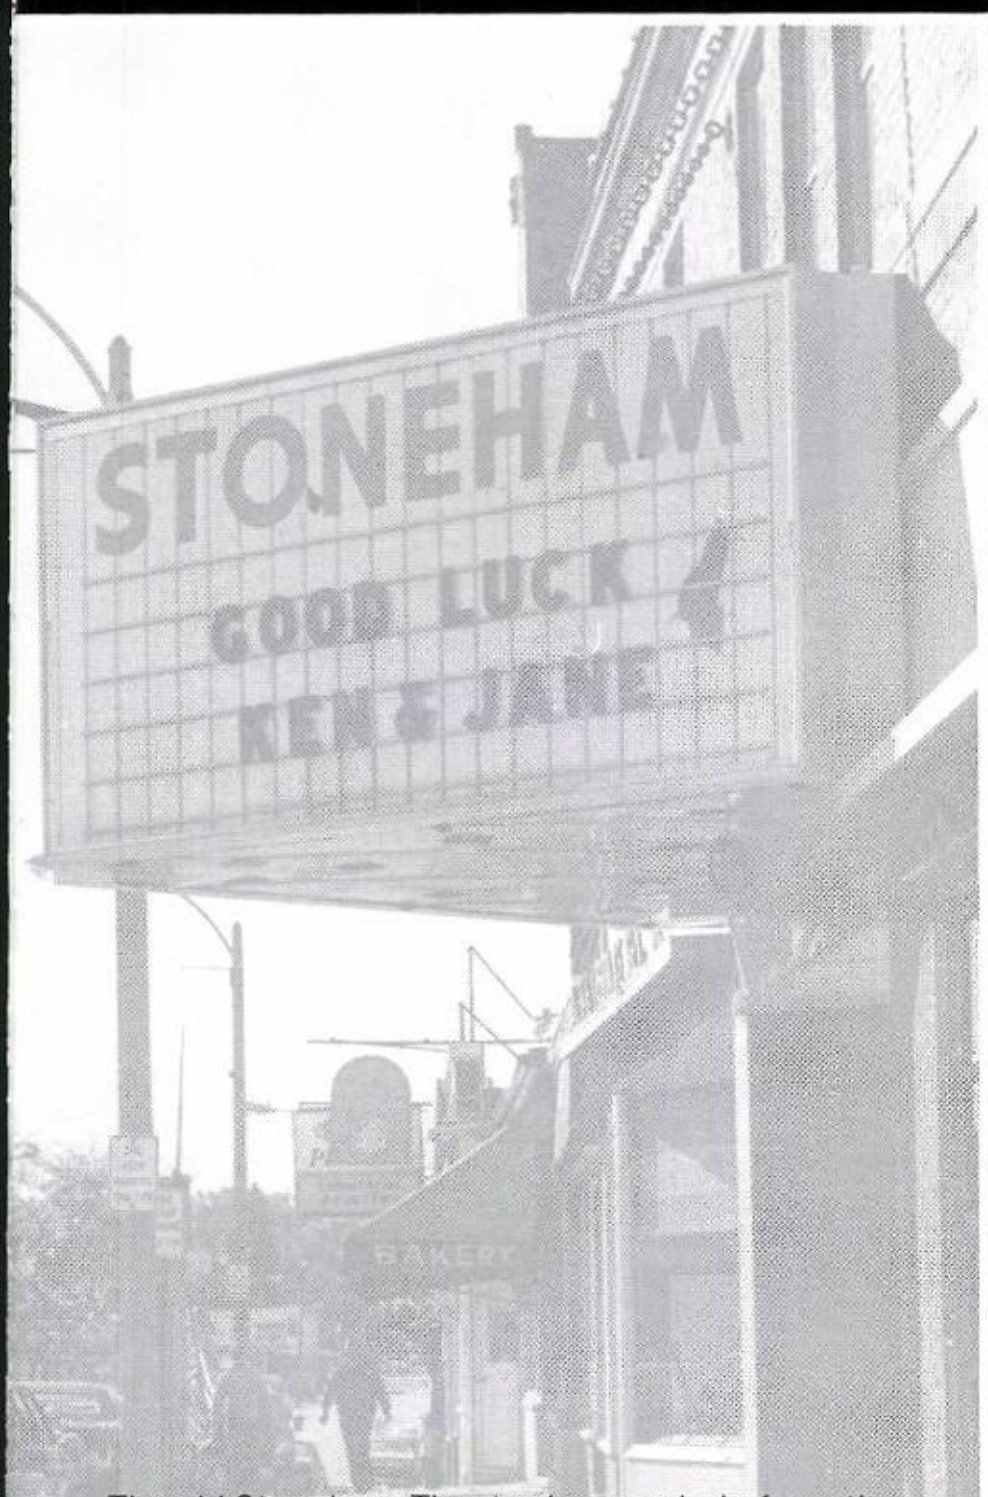
PICTURE SHOW



The old Stoneham Theatre is a symbol of our times, almost a metaphor for our lives. Her history, extending back to the early years of this century, is an illustrious one. Her screen has been illuminated with newsreels of war and depression, has displayed the famous faces of Valentino, Monroe, and Reagan. She was a gathering place for the residents of Stoneham, a center of our town.

The screen is dark now, the doors boarded up with plywood. Her marquee is no longer hung with great names, but instead serves as a sort of public bulletin board. She has fallen on hard times.

But in spite of her present state of disrepair, the old Stoneham Theatre is a symbol of hope, of potential not yet realized, of a cultural regeneration that could transform the decaying center of our town into a bustling business district. Her decrepit condition, like our own futures, is a standing challenge to each one of us. She is the raw material, the stuff that dreams are made of . . .

Arguments Against Sunday Movies

1. They are not necessary to the health, happiness or the good citizenship of the people.

2. One day in seven should be kept free from that which has been felt in some quarters to be a national peril, instead of adding to the increased millions who are attending Movies during the week, a still greater crowd on Sunday.

3. They are a commercial scheme from beginning to end.

4. Again and again they have stimulated children in wrong directions, interfered with the family life, and with the church which is the great moral and religious safeguard of the community.

5. They require labor seven days in the week, with long hours on the part of a large number of people who have charge of them, and of state officials who watch them, and of policemen who guard them.

6. Whatever may be the development of the Sunday Movies, their educational value at the present time, which is the great argument of those who favor them, is directly opposed to the best interests of the Lord's Day. In some places they are undoing what the ministers, Sunday School, Teachers, Courts and moral interests are trying to promote.

THE MYSTERY OF THE RESURRECTION is the topic announced for the Third Bible Lecture in the

Stoneham Theatre

Sunday, November 14, 3 P.M.

Speaker:

Pastor Gilbert E. Kemp

of Arlington

With what bodies do they come? Does the moment of death mean an instantaneous resurrection? Is there any sleep in the grave? Into what condition of life and environment do they attain to? Verily it is a "mystery" unless well understood and harmonized from the Word of God. Plan to hear this lecture.
